Lisa Miller named Pennsylvania dairy princess

By JOYCE BUYP
Staff Correspondent
HARRISBURG - Shortly after presenting her crowd-pleasing dairy promotional magician act, Lisa Miller pulled off the best trick of all: the coveted crown and banner of the Pennsylvania Dairy Princess appeared and magically transformed the lovely blonde young lady into the state's new leading lady of the dairy industry. Lisa is the 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Miller, dairy farmers from Armstrong Drive, Washington. The current Washington County Dairy Princess, Lisa won her crown as the highlight of an intensive two days of interviews and presentations for the 43 talented and personable county competitors. A senior at Trinity High School, Lisa serves as the senior class treasurer, and is a member of the school's drill team, concert choir, (Turn to Page 24)

First of a kind Holstein sale averages $4162

By DIETER KRIEG
MIDDLETOWN - The Pennsylvania Holstein Association's all-new show, sale, and export facilities opened to the public for the first time on Thursday night when the first All-American Sale was held there. Hundreds of visitors were on hand to bid and browse. The top-selling animal of the sale was Woodbine Astro Molly-OC, a 5-month old calf sired by Paclamar Astronaut out of Woodbine Rockman Millie, a cow which is classified Excellent-91 and produced

25,939 pounds of milk and 899 of butterfat as a 5-year old. Buyer of the young calf was Robert Morris of Fawn Grove. The sale price was listed as $19,000, with seller George Knight, Jr. of Woodbine retaining part interest. (Turn to Page 19)

Eastern Milk Producers will build $10 million cheese plant

SYRACUSE, N.Y. - One of the world's largest mozzarella cheese manufacturing plants has found a home in Wysox, Pa. Arden Tewksbury, Meshoppen, Pa. dairy farmer and president of Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative, made the announcement last week, following a special board of directors meeting of the cooperative in Towanda, Pa. Eastern's site selection committee, which had been studying several locations over the past few months, decided on the Pennsylvania location because of availability of needed milk supplies. Cortland, N.Y. was the other site which was being seriously considered recently. Tewksbury hailed the decision as, "Another positive step in the realization of stable marketing conditions for Eastern members throughout the Northeast." (Turn to Page 38)

Hess shows champion steer at Lampeter for third time

By KENDACE BORRY
LAMPETER - Robert Hess, a Lancaster County 4-H'er in his final year of club work, captured the grand championship in the Lampeter Fair Steer Show for the third year. The show, which was held Wednesday, found Hess' steer placed in the light heavyweight class, where it was taken to the top of the placings. Then it was named 4-H champion, and finally competing against the best of the FFA steers, it was declared best of the show. Hess, 19, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald and Martha Hess, Lancaster R2. He showed a Chianina Angus crossbred as his winning entry. The steer had been purchased at a Maryland sale. The reserve grand champion steer was a Maine Anjou-Shorthorn crossbred that was shown by FFA'er James Frey, Willow Street. This was Frey's first year (Turn to Page 28)

Huyard wins championship at Ephrata Fair steer show

By JOAN LIESAU
EPHRATA - Darlene Huyard, a 14 year old member of the Red Rose Baby Beef and Sheep 4-H Club, exhibited the grand champion steer of the show at the Ephrata Fair 4-H and FFA steer show, September 28. Show judge Ronald Bolz, a beef breeder from Perry County, described Darlene's winning Angus as being the most complete steer of the show. "A steer that has a lot of potential" he said "just as smooth as you'd ever want him to be." Darlene, daughter of Naomi and Mel Huyard, Lancaster, was also selected as having the best fitted steer of the show. This was Darlene's fifth year showing a 4-H project. She keeps her steers at a friends farm and goes "over every night to feed and work on them" she said. Reserve champion of the show went to 11 year old Jay (Turn to Page 25)

Lisa Miller is the new Pennsylvania Dairy Princess. She was selected Wednesday evening during the recognition banquet of the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show. She is the former Washington County Dairy Princess.

N. Alan Bair joining ABC

LANCASTER - N. Alan Bair has been named director of member relations for Atlantic Breeders Cooperative at Lancaster, Pa., effective October 1, by general manager David Yoder. Bair's duties include the full coordination of educational programs and functions involving Atlantic's member services and the agricultural and livestock breeding industries. A native of York County,

Bair has served seven years as county agricultural agent for dairy with the Cooperative Extension Service in Lancaster County, one of the major dairy counties in the nation. He was responsible for conducting educational dairy programs, the county's dairy herd improvement program, and coached several winning state 4-H dairy judging teams - including the 1978 team. Bair graduated from Penn

State in 1967 with a bachelor of science degree in dairy science and earned his master of science degree from Penn State in 1971, with emphasis on animal breeding. While a student, he was a member of the dairy judging team and received the William R. Davey award for outstanding judging ability. He was also active in the Dairy Science Club and a member of the American (Turn to Page 18)

From calf to cow, we formulate feeds and feeding programs with your profit in mind.

Are you in the dairy business to stay?

Are you ready to devote an hour or so of your time planning for a more profitable future?

If your answer to both questions is yes, you owe it to yourself to read what we have to say.

Unlike many other feed companies, we develop custom feeding programs for each individual dairy.

It all starts with a Pennfield man reviewing your total operation with you. Your goals. Your records. The health and overall condition of your milking cows and young stock. Your management practices. Your roughage feeding program. And other factors that have an effect on your profit potential.

We also conduct laboratory analysis of the roughages you feed to determine their nutrient content.

With the aid of computers, we then design a balanced feeding program specifically tailored to your operation and goals—a program that can improve your profits by reducing expenses, increasing production, or both.

For example, while using a

Pennfield customized feeding program, 30 herds this past year averaged 1,688 lbs. more milk and 64 lbs. more fat per cow than the previous year.

There is no cost—or obligation—for this unique service. But you must take the first step by writing or phoning us. Do it today.

Milk Replacer No. 22.

Trying to figure a way to get calves off to a healthy start at less cost?

You're money ahead when you feed Milk Replacer No. 22. This high-energy product contains 20% fat and extra levels of milk sugar along with just the right balance of vitamins, minerals, and milk proteins — plus antibiotic.

For every 50 lb. bag of No. 22 you feed, you sell an extra 600 pounds of milk.

That's extra money in the bank, and your figures will prove it.

Build your own starter for less.

After two or three days on Milk Replacer No. 22, your calves will be ready for an 18% protein starter.

By using your own grain, soybean meal, and Vigortone's Kalf Ayl No. 23, you grind and mix your own starter for a lot less than commercial products.

Not only will your 18% starter ration be fresher because it's homebuilt, but it'll be highly fortified with vitamins, minerals, trace elements, and antibiotics — thanks to Kalf Ayl No. 23.

Your calves will do better, and your farm record book will, too.

Now is the time to compare.

See your Vigortone dealer soon. He's ready to compare the performance of Vigortone's low-cost dairy feeding programs with any other you name.

Best wishes to the dairy co-op

Best wishes are due to the dairy cooperatives which serve Pennsylvania and neighboring states. Some of them have faced some rough times in recent years, and none were spared the unusual marketing pressures which arose two years ago and peaked last Winter. Managers of the co-ops, as well as dairymen themselves, scrambled to meet the challenges. For some, the challenges haven't been totally met. But the quest goes on.

Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative is attempting to find greater stability in milk marketing through the recently signed pact between its board of directors and Aldovin Dairy of Tunkhannock, which, like Eastern, has had its share of financial burdens in recent years. Despite the fact that the two milk marketers have been competitors, Aldovin and Eastern have agreed to work together for the common good of the dairy industry. Another phase of Eastern's program involves a new cheese plant which will be located in Bradford County. In essence, it is expected to be the "relief valve" for surplus milk, one of the major concerns of every dairy. We wish them well with those plans as the profit realizations of thousands of dairy farmers are involved.

Inter-State Milk Producers Cooperative and Maryland Cooperative Milk Producers, Inc. are putting their hopes for a brighter future in a powder and butter plant near Carlisle which was constructed at a cost of $8.2 million. Both cooperatives look to their Holly Milk Cooperative as playing a most important role in coming years. It is expected to reduce excess marketing costs and generate additional profits. We wish them well.

Other cooperatives, such as LeHi Valley Cooperative Farmers and Dairy, are also looking for improvements in their respective situations. May they be successful with their plans to create bright marketing prospects for their member dairy farmers.

The central problem has been, and still is, that the marketing of agricultural products isn't like buying and selling automobiles or boots. The marketing of agricultural products is much more complex and subject to such highly unknown and unpredictable variables as the production of individual farms and animals, the weather, and the whims of individual producers, to name a few. Also farm products are subject to spoilage and a high degree of government inspection. Marketing milk - or most any agricultural product - isn't easy. It's more than most farmers could handle on their own. The efforts of those involved in marketing deserve our sincere best wishes.

Applause for the efforts of many

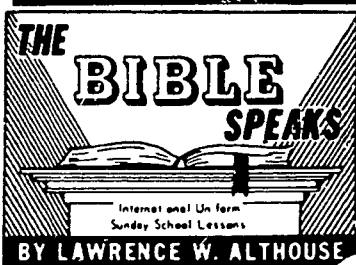

"That just goes to show you what people can accomplish if they just get together and aim for common goals," a friend of mine commented recently after having viewed a television documentary about the much publicized Project Clearwater. That was the effort by some 500 volunteers in Frederick County, Md. to turn a severely run-down farm into a national showplace for conservation practices. It was done in just a day.

While that gigantic display of human cooperation was unique and noteworthy, it does not stand by itself.

The barn-raising is another community effort which deserves applause. Workers come by the score to help a friend and neighbor, turning ruins into glory.

Another massive project, and one which I'm happy to have been personally involved with for a day, was the clean-up of Johnstown after it was struck by a devastating flood last Summer. Seeing entire neighborhoods wiped out completely, with homes shattered and partially buried in mud is enough to deflate any individual's spirit. But the combined efforts of thousands got the impossible job accomplished.

Whether it's a time of disaster, or a time for rejoicing, such as the feast following a barn raising, and the local chicken barbecue or pork roast, or farmers' picnic, it's the efforts of a group of people - not just one - which are noteworthy. As my friend said, it's remarkable what people can do if they get together and all pull in the same direction.

BEHIND THE LAW

Lesson for October 1, 1978

Background Scripture:

Deuteronomy 5:1-5;
Jeremiah 31:31-34;

Matthew 5:17-20; 7:28, 29.

Devotional Reading:
John 5:43-47.

In Israel today one finds a continuing controversy of gigantic proportions over the Jewish religious law. A minority of ultra-conservative Israelis would make the state of Israel a theocracy, a nation strictly and uncompromisingly governed by its ancient laws as interpreted by its legalistic rabbis. The majority, however, believe that these religious laws would make it virtually impossible for Israel to exist as a nation.

A Stone Or A Tree?

The problem is not with religious laws, but with the ways in which these laws are regarded and interpreted by men. These divergences might be depicted in symbolic terms in the difference between a stone monument and a living growing tree. For some, the religious laws constitute an unchanging, inflexible once-given reality. For others, the laws of God are a living, growing entity that is as vital and contemporary as the God who created them.

The approach of Jesus to God's laws was certainly the latter view. His dynamic rather than static approach brought him into conflict with some segments of the religious establishment. He was accused by some as seeking to abolish the law because Jesus intended to put people ahead of legalistic principles.

Yet, instead of abolishing the law, said Jesus, his God-given mission was instead to fulfill "the law and the prophets." His approach was to accomplish the purpose behind the laws. The purpose of the sabbath, for example, said Jesus, was to help people, not hurt them. To interpret any law or commandment in such a way as to deny love to anyone would be a denial of the purpose for which the law had come into being.

A New Covenant

Jesus' approach to the law was not as radically new as it may have seemed. Other Jewish leaders had regarded the commandments in much the same manner. As far back as Jeremiah (7th century BC), there was anticipated a new approach to the covenant: "Behold, the days are coming, says the Lord, when I will make a new covenant with the house of Israel and the house of Judah...I will put my law within the, and I will write it upon their hearts" (Jeremiah 31:31, 33).

What both Jeremiah and Jesus recognized was the dangerous tendency to allow the law to become a substitute for God himself. As William Temple once put it, "...no law, apart from a Lawgiver, is a proper object of reverence." Jesus did not come to abolish the law, but to point people to the Lawgiver and his purpose. His approach to the law was not less than but more than: "...unless your righteousness exceeds that of the scribes and Pharisees, you will never enter the kingdom of heaven" (Matthew 5:20).

One must always look behind and beyond the law to the Lawgiver.

NOW IS THE TIME

TO BEWARE OF ACORNS

Dairymen who are grazing their milking herd in woodlots, or in pastures with oak trees, should be on the alert for fallen acorns. Our Veterinary Science folks tell us that acorns are somewhat toxic to cattle and will dry up most cows for the rest of their lactation. We are aware of many oak trees in pastures, and in most years there will be a pretty big acorn crop.

If the cows start eating these acorns, then the milk flow will be reduced drastically. Either the cows should be removed from the area, or someone should pick up the acorns before the cows are turned out daily.

To Evaluate Ventilating Systems

Colder weather is approaching when barns will be filled with livestock and foul air will be a problem. In confinement barns, we urge the use of exhaust fans along with inlets and air ducts. Penn State publications are available that should be of help.

Insulation is also a part of good ventilation in order to prevent condensation. Dripping walls and ceilings are hard on both animals and the structure. Open-fronted buildings may still need some panels that can be regulated and some roof slots to permit the escape of foul air.

To Prepare for Frost

When it comes the first of October in this part of the country we can expect frost at any time. Also, when it does arrive in early October there should be very little damage, because it is on schedule and we should be ready for the freeze. Most garden crops can be salvaged on short notice, while others will not be injured by old Jack Frost.

Late corn headed for the silo will stop growing after a killing frost but still can be safely put into the silo; this operation should be done within a few days following the frost in order to keep the stalks from getting too dry. Fields of sudan grass or one of the sudan-sorghum hybrids should not be grazed for at least a week after a killing frost; the crop may be ensiled or made into hay, and after a 30-day curing period, will be safe to use. Get ready for colder weather; it will surely come.

To Store Pesticides Safely

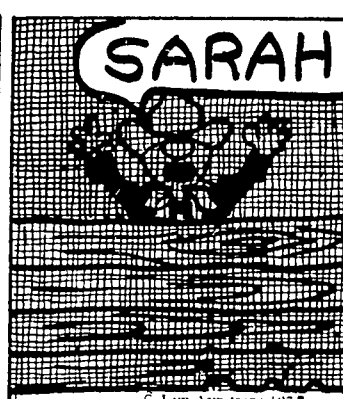

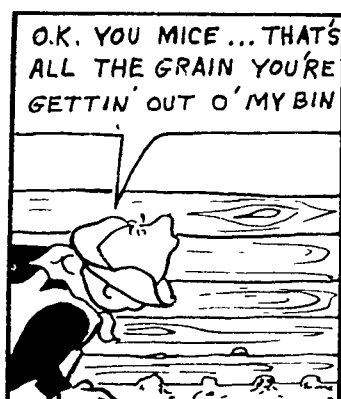

Many farmers and gardeners are about finished with their spraying for this season. The materials may be stored and used next year in most cases. However, they should be safely stored away from children, pets, and livestock. Safety folks suggest they be put into a separate room or building and kept under lock and key.

When leftover pesticides are left lying around in the barn, machinery shed, or garage, they are a definite hazard. Animals can get out of their pens and eat some of the chemicals. If there is a chance this can happen, it will happen sooner or later. Don't take chances. Practice pesticide safety the same as highway or farm and home safety.

TENDERFOOT™ ... The Ultimate in hog flooring for hog comfort.

- Self-Cleaning ... no holes or crevices to harbor bacteria.
- Durable "Komfy-Kote" Construction.

• When placed over existing slats or on risers, sections of Tenderfoot make a self cleaning floor by providing smooth rounded openings for manure to pass through before it can build up, but without the danger of trapping a piglet's foot

• It gives pigs a toe hold so they can dig in to massage udders vigorously, and makes the sow more surefooted to avoid placing piglets in jeopardy. Her udder never touches a rough or cold surface, greatly reducing injuries and infection

COMPARE the advantages of Tenderfoot pads with concrete, metal and wood flooring.

Here's why TENDERFOOT helps you keep more baby pigs alive and well:

• Since all edges and surfaces of Tenderfoot's expanded metal core are covered with plastisol, the floor is cushioned and insulated to help prevent sore knees and leg abrasions

Omaha Cattle

September 28, 1978
Compared with the previous week's close: Closing prices on slaughter steers were unevenly weak to .50 lower. Heifers were mostly steady, instances weak to .25 lower. Cows were

.50-1.00 higher and bulls firm to 1.00 higher.

Four day receipts 12,700 as compared 13,800 previous week and 13,200 a year ago. The fed cattle trade followed a rather irregular pattern during the week under review. Prices were forced downward on the initial session in reflection of a dull carcass trade carrying over from the previous week and fairly liberal marketings. However, stiff seller resistance curtailed marketings sharply and prices again pointed upward to regain much of the early downturn. In addition, carcass trading showed moderate improvement at midweek, and most slaughterers were in need of cattle for immediate requirements as live inventories became depleted. The run included a fairly large percentage of choice steers and heifers and a modest volume choice and prime. Slaughter steers made up approximately 38 per cent of the week's total and heifers 30 per cent and feeders 20 per cent.

STEERS: Three loads choice with end prime predominately 3 1098-1171 lbs. 56.00. During the week, several loads same grade 3-4 1032-1275 lbs. 55.50-55.75. Choice 2-4 1000-1300 lb. 54.50-55.75. Mixed good and choice 2-3 950-1250 lbs. 54.00-54.75, short two loads 1568 lbs. holsteins 51.00. Good 2-3 48.50-53.75. Standard and good 2-3 47.50-48.50.

Average of LS-214, detailed quotations, for choice 900-1100 lb. steers this week 54.95; choice 1100-1300 lbs. 55.10. Average weight steers first three days 1140 lbs. as compared 1134 lbs. Previous week. Average weight heifers first three days 979 lbs. as compared 974 lbs. previous week.

HEIFERS: Load choice and prime 3-4 1066 lbs. 54.00 at midweek. Moderate volume choice and prime 3-4 925-1061 lbs. 53.10; 53.35. Choice 2-4 875-1100 lbs. 52.00-53.25. Mixed good and choice 2-3 850-1050 lbs. 50.00-52.00. Good 2-3 46.50-49.00.

COWS: Utility and commercial 2-4 39.50-42.50, few 43.00. Cutter 38.50-40.50. Canner and low-cutter 36.00-38.50. HEIFERETTES 43.00-46.50.

BULLS: 1-2 1300-2000 lbs. 43.00-48.00, individual 1 49.00-50.00.

AGRISPON WORKS

AGRISPON is a biological soil inoculant that stimulates the natural processes in the soil. It helps increase organic matter, build humus and accelerate the nitrogen cycle vital to plant growth.

AGRISPON is not derived from petroleum products. It is totally naturally, totally safe, and is designed to help protect and conserve our natural resources.

AGRISPON stimulates the nitrogen cycle which takes nitrogen from the air (the air we breathe consists of 70 to 78% nitrogen), converts it to a usable form, and stores it in the soil until needed by the plant(s). Also, as billions of micro-organisms go through the process of living and dying, the accumulation of their bodies adds protein-derived nitrogen and contributes to humus buildup in the soil.

We do custom application to service the farmer better and to get these products on in early Fall for better results in the coming season.

Flaherty, Thornburgh to speak

HARRISBURG — Peter Flaherty and Richard L. Thornburgh, the Democratic and Republican candidates for governor, have tentatively accepted invitations to speak at the 106th annual convention of the Pennsylvania State Grange in Butler, Pa. October 23-26.

J. Luther Snyder, State Grange Master, said that the two candidates were invited to express their views to the delegates and Grange members who will attend the convention.

Snyder, who heads the 50,000-member State Grange, said "we feel it is particularly important at this time to hear the opinions and proposals of both candidates for the office of chief executive of Pennsylvania."

This is the third time that gubernatorial candidates of the major parties have been invited to speak at a State Grange convention.

In 1973, Milton J. Shapp and Drew Lewis addressed the State Grange Convention in Washington, Pa., and in 1962, William W. Scranton and Richardson Dillworth spoke in Reading.

"THE DIESEL WITH A DIFFERENCE"

Cuts your power costs because it's way ahead of its time on all points.

AVCO-VM diesel engines are world-proven money-savers. They deliver maximum power efficiency immediately. under any sudden load or climate variation. Their higher power to weight ratios mean NO REDUCTION IN HORSEPOWER to qualify for pollution standards.

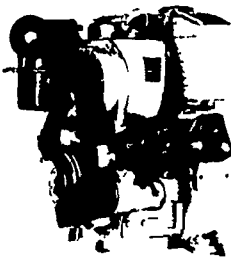

They're stingy on fuel, too. Many users report fuel consumption CUT IN HALF — and more — compared with gasoline engines. In some installations, our diesels are delivering more than TWICE the hours of operation per gallon of fuel.

Faultless performance is the norm, rather than the exception. A choice of 27 premium quality air-cooled Avco-VM's (5 to 670-hp) means there's one that's right for your application.

Modular, unitized construction means fewer specialized parts, lower weight per hp, lower maintenance costs, 70% parts interchangeability — and they'll fit the tightest space.

A rough, rocky off-road ride through the foothills for a weekend of backpacking. A quick trip to the lumber yard for a load of wood. A big family picnic at the beach. No matter what the task—or pleasure—Jeep Cherokee is ready and raring to tackle the assignment. For the free-wheeling spirit who wants 4-wheeling fun, Cherokee is the only way to travel!

Cherokee is available in three tough and sturdy models: a 2-door, 4-door and wide-wheel 2-door. All three are loaded with the kind of rugged standard features that have made Cherokee one of the most reliable vehicles and best values in Jeep Country. Like dependable 4-wheel drive, a fully synchronized 3-speed transmission, solid-state electronic ignition and power front disc brakes. And for '79, Cherokee has plenty of great standard features going for it, too. Including a 258-2V 6-cylinder engine, stylish one-piece chrome-plated aluminum bumpers, distinctive new grille and rectangular headlamps, custom 4-spoke steering wheel and many more.

A total of 47 registered black-and-whites were auctioned off in the new facilities, which are conveniently located near the Harrisburg International Airport, the former Olmstead Air Force Base. Many of the nation's export cattle leave for their overseas destinations from the Harrisburg airport.

The All-American Sale was the first public event at the PHA-owned farm, and Pennsylvania Holstein breeders were obviously proud of the brand-new facilities.

All American Dairy Show

This champion Ayrshire cow, owned by Ralph Shank of Hagerstown R3, Md., has records of over 18,000 pounds of milk and 700 pounds of butterfat. A 9-year old, she was the top female of the breed and was also given the first prize for production. With her are Ralph Shank, Jr., Michael Creek, and owner Shank.

Neat displays and pretty cows are perennially a part of the All-American, one of the finest dairy shows in the world. More than 2000 head of dairy cattle were entered in the shows, which began Monday and ended yesterday.

Oley Fair show champions named

By LAUREL SCHAEFFER
Staff Correspondent

OLEY - Seventeen year old Scott Miller, Hamburg, proved to be unmatched in the Holstein Show held September 21 at the Oley Fair, here. Scott, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Miller, showed his three year old Mil-Joy Elevation Starry-Eye to grand champion honors and later went on to prove his skills in showmanship by also being named the grand champion, earning the Warren B. Levengood Trophy in the dairy division. Showing the grand champion Brown Swiss was fifteen year old Scott Hauseman of Oley. Scott's champion proved to be an aged cow. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Hauseman and the proud owner of eight Brown Swiss cattle. Scott also placed first in dairy fitting, 15 and over class. Other dairy fitting and showmanship results were as follows: First place showmanship - 9-11 year olds Ann Kopfer, Fleetwood; 12-14 year olds Gary Hauseman, Oley; 15 years old and over Scott Miller. First place in fitting: 9-11 year olds Ginger Dietrich, Virginville; 12-14 year olds Mike Mertz, Fleetwood; 15 years old and over Scott Hauseman. Grand champion fitter was awarded to Mike Mertz.

Gary Kurtz of Fleetwood exhibited the grand champion Jersey, a two year old.

In the sheep show Andrew Haas, Douglasville walked away with the Champion market lamb, a Hampshire wether which placed first in the medium heavyweight class. This was the first year this nine year old has shown sheep. In the showmanship and fitting contests first place ribbon was awarded to the following: Showmanship - 9-11 - Valerie Ernst, Sinking Spring; 12-14 - Ann Berger, Reading; 15 and older - Charles Hopkins, Reading. Grand champion showman was Ann Berger. Fitting 9-11 - Glenn Heffner, Fleetwood; 12-14 - David Ernst, Sinking Spring; 15 and older - Joseph Crisafuli, Mohrsville. Blocking and Grooming - Andy MacKay, Boyertown. Andy was also named the recipient of the Warren B.

Levengood Trophy in the Sheep Division.

Cathleen Wissner, Alburtis received the same trophy in the Swine Division and Liane Haas, Douglasville was

Century farm certifies farm

HARRISBURG - The Century Farms Program, administered by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture will be continued through the coming year, according to State Agriculture Secretary Kent D. Shelhamer.

The Century Farms Program is aimed at recognizing the efforts of Pennsylvania's farm families which have preserved the traditions and the rural heritage of the pioneer farm.

Shelhamer noted that Pennsylvania's pioneer farmers persevered through all kinds of difficulties. "The hardships of farming and settlement were offset somewhat by compensations of farm life. Certain virtues and ideals were developed... thrift, close family and community life, cooperation, reverence for the Creator, self-reliance and a love of liberty."

Over 600 farms from 63 counties have been certified Century Farms in the first two years of the program, but

Mildred Seeds, Chester County Jersey breeder, showed the grand champion bull at the All-American Dairy Show in Harrisburg on Thursday. The bull was bred by the exhibitor, as was his dam, an excellent cow in the 20-cow herd owned by Miss Seeds. The grand champion, a senior yearling, is sired by Advancer Sleeping Milestone. A full brother to this bull stood second in the junior calf class. The next major contest for Miss Seeds, who was presented with the Herdsman's Award for Jerseys on Friday morning, is the National Jersey Show, to be held in Kentucky.

The grand champion Jersey cow, owned by Donald R. McKay and Family of Mount Sterling, Ohio, was exhibited in Harrisburg by Douglas McKay.

The grand champion Milking Shorthorn at the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show belonged to Weg Acres of Fort Atkinson, Wis. At the halter is Jeff Gerner.

FFA hog sale held at York

Hatfield Packing Company of Hatfield, N.J., put the final bid on the top-selling hog and then recapped the effort by paying 85 cents per pound for the 215-pound reserve champion winner, exhibited by David Lease of Southwestern High School.

Winner Day Boyle is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bankert of Lewisberry R1. He is in his second year of FFA project work in the Gifford-Pinchot chapter at Northern High School at Dillsburg.

Robert Sechrist, of Sechrist Sales, Stewartstown, represented Hatfield Packing during the sale, held in the York Fair's roofed livestock exhibition ring.

the Agriculture Department estimates at least 2,000 more farms which are eligible for certification.

To be eligible for certification as a Pennsylvania Century farm, a farm must have been owned by the same family for the last 100 consecutive years, and a family member must currently reside on the land. In addition, the farm must consist of ten or more acres of the original holdings or gross at least $1,000 a year from the sale of agricultural products.

The Century Farms Program was initiated as part of the nation's bicentennial observance in 1976, but is being continued for its value in promoting the ideals of the family farm and the importance of farming to Pennsylvania's economy. Completed application forms will be held in the State Archives for use by future historians.

The application forms are available by writing Century Farms Program, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, Room 201, 2301 North Cameron Street, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania 17120 or by calling 717-787-5085.

The Lancaster County Century Farm owners will be recognized at the annual Farm City Week banquet to be held on November 9.

Herrs dominate Ephrata Fair lamb show

By JOAN LIESAU

EPHRATA - Margaret Herr, Narvon RD2, along with her sister, Barbara, and brother Christian, took top honors at the Ephrata Fair lamb show, judged by William MacCauley III, Atglen on September 27.

Margaret, 11, exhibited the champion market lamb along with the reserve champion pen of three lambs. She also captured the on-foot carcass lamb class with her champion suffolk entry.

Barbara, 15, not to be out done, won the champion pen of three lambs with her Hampshire entries. She was later named grand champion sheep showman and grand champion sheep fitter.

Christian, 16, won reserve champion market lamb with his Dorset entry. He also took second place in the senior fitting and showmanship contests.

Gary Martin, East Earl captured champions in the first and second year fitting and showmanship contests.

Third and fourth year showmanship was won by Margaret Herr, while the fitting contest was won by Debbie Martin, East Earl.

Hans Groff, Ephrata, won reserve champion on-foot carcass with his Hampshire entry, at the Ephrata Fair lamb show.

Margaret Herr, 11, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Herr, Narvon, showed her champion on-foot carcass lamb at the Ephrata Fair lamb show held September 27. She also won the champion market lamb, and took reserve champion honors in the pen of three lamb class.

Herr wins carcass show

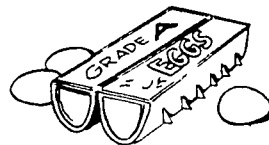

Margaret Herr, 11, Narvon RD2, won grand champion carcass lamb with her Suffolk entry, September 28 at the Ephrata Fair. Her entry was selected the day before as the champion on-foot carcass, and went on to win champion on-rail contest. Margaret's lamb had a 4.3 square inch loin eye. It's leg measured 20 inches and the carcass was 33 1/2 inches long with a back fat of 1/4 inch.

Christian Herr, 16, won reserve champion on-rail with his Dorset entry which had placed fourth in the on-foot competition. His entry had a 4.5 square inch loin eye, and a leg measurement of 18 1/4 inches. The carcass was 31 1/2 inches long with a back fat of 1/4 inch.

The carcass lambs will be auctioned at Ephrata Fair on September 29, 6:30 p.m. at the upper ball diamond, Ephrata Community Park.

The carcass lambs will be auctioned at Ephrata Fair on September 29, 6:30 p.m. at the upper ball diamond, Ephrata Community Park.

Grade and size are important when buying eggs. Grades A and AA are fresh top quality with thick whites and firm high yolks. Grade B have thinner whites and slightly flatter yolks. Minimum weight per dozen determines jumbo extra large medium classifications. Top quality eggs are preferable for poaching, frying and cooking in the shell.

Will this year's heavy corn crop get you bogged down?

Depend on Sperry New Holland forage harvesters to get you through the tough spots — and keep going!

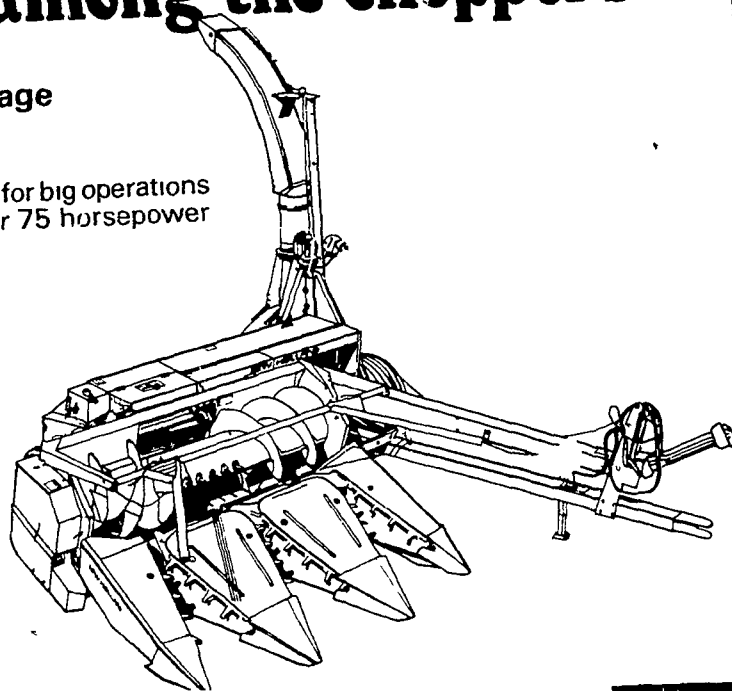

Heavyweight champ among the choppers.

The Sperry New Holland Model 890 forage harvester is built for the big crop.

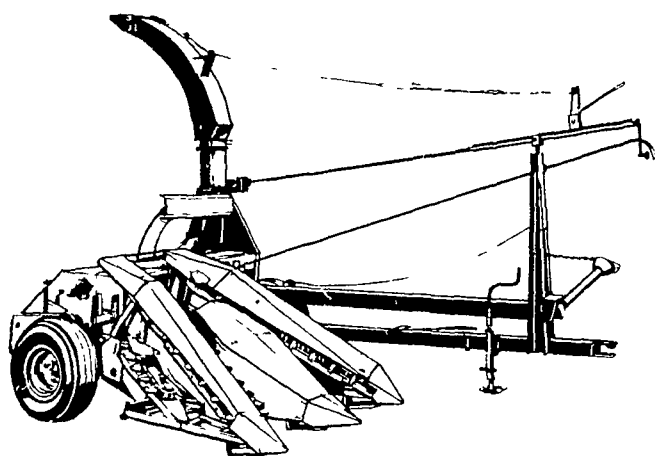

The Model 890 is an extra-heavy-duty harvester built for big operations. It easily handles today's big tractor power over 75 horsepower.

It's the only pull-type harvester with an optional electronic metal detector. It features the original 12-knife cutterhead and PTO power knife sharpener. Seven screen sizes are available. Ear corn snapper heads are also available.

The "890" can also be equipped with the exclusive new-concept interchangeable crop head.

Uniform silage with or without a screen.

The Sperry New Holland Model 770 forage harvester features a 12-knife cutterhead and PTO-driven power knife sharpener.

You also get

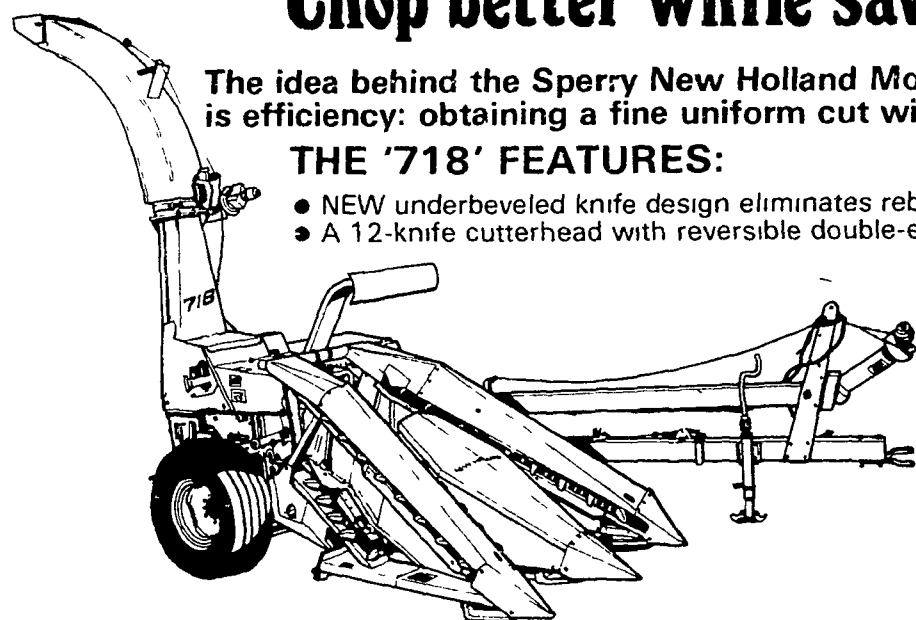

- Extra capacity and horsepower efficiency
- Built for tractors in the 60-90 hp range!
- Seven optional screen sizes available!
- Three corn heads, two windrow pickups and a sicklebar are available, plus the exclusive one-row, ear-corn snapping head!
- Flotation tires reduce soil compaction and increase maneuverability on soft ground!

Chop better while saving power!

THE '718' FEATURES:

- NEW underbeveled knife design eliminates rebeveling
- A 12-knife cutterhead with reversible double-edged knives!
- Flip-up feed roll for easy shearbar adjustment!
- Manual knife sharpener!

SPERRY  NEW HOLLAND

French and photography clubs and the yearbook advertising staff. She is a 4-H club member and teen leader and is active at the North Buffalo United Presbyterian Church.

Lisa is one of five children and the second of the family's daughters to represent Washington County's milk producers. Her older sister, Susan, won the county title in 1973-74.

"We're over whelmed!" admitted James Miller, shaking his head and grinning, when asked how he felt about having a new princess in the family. The Millers maintain a herd of 40 registered and grade Holsteins and are members of Milk Marketing, Inc., a cooperative that serves western Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia. Included in the farming enterprise are 450 acres in corn and hay.

As the final hurdle in her race for the crown, Lisa gracefully fielded an on-the-spot question that dealt with how she would handle a kindergartener who insisted that milk was "Yucciness, not happiness."

Kim Teets, representing Beaver-Lawrence Counties, was selected the first runner-up and earned the highly-prized Miss Congeniality vote from the contestants.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Teets, of Rochester R1, 16-year-old Kim is a senior at Freedom Area High School, where she holds the unique honor of playing the role of "school mascot." Kim's other school activities include membership in the National Honor Society and the French club.

Second runner-up is Bonnie Jeanne Snyder, Schuylkill County's pageant representative.

Bonnie is 16 and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph D. Snyder of Pitman. She is student council president at Tri-Valley High School, where she is a senior in the college preparatory course. In addition to serving as captain of the majorettes and a varsity cheerleader, Bonnie participates in several sports activities.

A crowd of several hundred dairy industry representatives filled the elegant ballroom at Camp Hill's Penn Harris Motor Inn on Wednesday evening for the annual All-American dairy show recognition banquet and princess coronation. An air of eager anticipation filled the gathering as seven top finalists were chosen from preliminary competition.

Finalists, in addition to the top three winners were Robin O'Neal, Bedford County the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David O'Neal, Saxton R1; Sue Smith, Clarion-Venango Counties, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louraine Smith, Mayport R1; June C. Beatty, Indiana County, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin C. Beatty, Indiana R1; and Penny Jeanne Brockett, Mifflin County, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Brockett, Lewistown R4.

Before the coronation, recognition was given to several other contestants for outstanding achievement in various aspects of the pageant competition.

Two awards were presented for outstanding scrapbooks. Winners were Kathy Jo Strock, Cumberland County princess, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Paul Strock, Mechanicsburg R9, and the Berks County princess, Teresa Ann Wolfskill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Wolfskill, Robeson R1.

Each contestant was required during preliminary competition to perform an original skit or talk promoting the dairy industry and aimed at a specific age group. Four top winners were selected and gave their presentations as part of the evening program.

All four were well received by the audience and each won warm rounds for the originality and enthusiasm of the individual performers.

Newly-crowned princess, Lisa Miller, complete with black cape, silk top hat and wand, presented a magic act saluting the magical production of milk.

Clarion-Venango's Sue Smith donned a colorful cheerleader outfit and led the dairy-oriented audience in cheers for nature's most perfect food. Connie McFeeters, Lebanon County, carted in her Raggedy Ann doll and promoted milk from the strikingly humorous and honest standpoint of a five-year-old. Adams County princess, Carol Zepp, slipped into her cardboard box telephone booth for a transformation from a little old lady dairy promoter into "super princess."

Bidding farewell to a reign which took her "thousands of miles and to visit thousands of people," Sandy Miller, of Berks County the 1977-78 princess, thanked those who had helped in her visits across the state in behalf of the dairy industry.

But she noted that the dairy princess is still just one person, and dairy promotion must come from each farmer and farm wife, especially by using their product when eating away from home.

Special guest at the recognition dinner was Pennsylvania Secretary of Agriculture Kent Shelhamer. He commended the dairy industry for its promotional efforts but noted that one-third of the state's counties are still not participating in the princess pageant and milk promoting efforts and encouraged them to do so.

The Pennsylvania Dairy Princess and Milk Promotion Committee and The Keystone Milk Marketing Council sponsored the pageant as part of their ongoing dairy promotional activities.

Judges for the pageant were Elden R. Groves, editor of Farm and Dairy, an Ohio weekly farm newspaper, Robert McKown, editor of the Holstein World magazine, Carol A. Preston, former American Dairy Princess, and Dianna Engelbrecht former state-level princess.

Bolz described the steer as "carrying a lot of muscling-through his upper, middle and lower quarter" a steer that was "ideal in his finish."

Jay, a fifth grader at Lititz Area Mennonite School, was surprised at the placing. "I only thought I would get third place" he said.

Jay, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Reiff also won his showmanship class. He has been a member of Red Rose Baby Beef and Sheep 4-H Club for three years.

Strawberry Delight

Strawberries can be used as a healthy snack-type treat. One cup of berries contains only 60 calories. That same amount supplies you with a full day's requirement of Vitamin C. Strawberries maintain their freshness best when stored in a single layer in the refrigerator. Wait until you're ready to use strawberries before washing and removing caps — washing rinses away their natural protective outer layer. Those caps protect flavor, texture and nutrient content.

PennAg celebrates 100th convention

HARRISBURG — The 100th annual convention of PennAg Industries Association held September 19-21 was attended by some 500 registered guests. PennAg is a trade association of 400 Pennsylvania agribusiness firms, and is the oldest such organization now in existence.

One of the highlights of the historic convention was a reception for 22 of the association's past presidents. All the living past presidents were on hand to accept a pewter plaque commemorating their respective tenures in office.

Another highlight was a luncheon speech by Abba (Turn to Page 36)

BEAT THE RUSH — ORDER YOUR

HELPING HAND SOIL CONDITIONER NOW!

THIS SOIL CONDITIONER is an organic material which improves soil texture so that water, fertilizer, and air can reach the root system. In this way, it assists the growth of healthier, more vigorous plants with stronger and deeper root systems.

Since SOIL CONDITIONER improves soil texture and water penetration, root development also improves. Root growth goes deeper into the subsoil for stored moisture and minerals. Roots produce more fine roots and root hairs, which allows roots more places to take up nutrients in the soil.

The now available nutrients in the soil are due in part to increased soil life. Because SOIL CONDITIONER has helped to cause an increase in soil life, there are now more available nutrients in the soil. Let SOIL CONDITIONER LEND "a helping hand" in your soil and water management.

AEROBIC RESEARCH & MARKETING, INC. SOIL CONDITIONER University test plots, independent research, and farmers' observations have shown that Ammonium Laureth Sulfate (Ammonium Alkyl Ether Sulfate) greatly improves soil and water management.

EPA says no to using farmland as landfills

WASHINGTON, D.C. - According to Lancaster County Congressman Bob Walker, the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) indicated to him that action will soon be initiated precluding the use of prime farmland for the purposes of solid waste disposal.

Walker, who is the Ranking Minority Member on the House Environment and Atmosphere Subcommittee, was informed of the pending action in testimony by top EPA officials who were responding to his questioning on a related matter.

"I have stated many times that farmland is one of our most precious natural resources and that we must begin now to initiate programs and policies that will adequately preserve it.

"This pending EPA action is cause to be optimistic that prime agricultural land will no longer be available for us as municipal landfills," Walker said.

Seventeen months ago during the controversy surrounding the possible use of the Lancaster County, Pennsylvania farm of John Barley as a municipal landfill, Walker requested that EPA undertake a study to determine alternatives to using prime farmland for this purpose.

"Recently I received the results of that study from EPA and after reviewing it felt that it had not been properly executed," Walker said.

Yesterday when EPA Assistant Administrator Dr. Steven Gage came before Walker's subcommittee for oversight hearings he was questioned about the scope and substance of the study.

"Under my questioning, Dr. Gage blamed a bureaucratic failure to communicate for the unsatisfactory results of the study.

"However, he then indicated that EPA is taking the issue of farmland preservation quite seriously and that within a month details of a program precluding the use of prime farmland for solid waste disposal will be communicated to the subcommittee," Walker said.

He also noted that during yesterday's testimony EPA officials pledged full cooperation in working with him on this issue. He said they acknowledged that the need to develop solid waste disposal alternatives is particularly pressing in the more densely populated areas of the nation such as the northeast.

"I intend to insure that EPA moves ahead properly and expeditiously in this area because I firmly believe that our nation's future is directly related to the maintenance of our current food growing capacity.

"We must act now so 'Barley Farm situations' remain isolated incidents and do not become commonplace occurrences," Walker concluded.

Pennsylvania egg production up

HARRISBURG - Pennsylvania egg production during August 1978 totaled 273 million, according to the Pennsylvania Crop Reporting Service. The August production was 12 per cent above the 244 million eggs produced in August 1977. The August average of 12.8 million layers was four per cent higher than in August 1977. Egg production per 100 layers during August 1978 was 2129 compared with 1975 in August 1977.

The nation's laying flocks produced 5.5 billion eggs during August, three per cent more than last year. The number of layers during August averaged 272.4 million, compared with 270.6 million a year earlier. Egg production per 100 layers during the month was 2011 compared with 1978 a year ago.

Laminated Wall Panel Design

- A The outer wall surfaces are handsome, rough sawn red exterior 5/8" plywood. Surfaces can be painted another color later if desired by owner to match existing buildings
- B The exterior wall is permanently laminated to a full 1 1/2 inch thick core of styrofoam insulation, the finest heat and cold barrier we know of for this purpose
- C A sheet of 3/16" exterior grade plywood is laminated to the styrofoam core for extra strength and rigidity
- D Then, a sheet of rigid fiberglass is laminated to the plywood to form the interior wall surface — a surface that cleans easily and can't harbor bacteria. All interior walls are of this fiberglass material. The lamination process produces a sandwich panel that is far stronger than the total strengths of all the individual components in the panel

Gratz Fair lists winners of sheep and goat shows

GRATZ—Dauphin County agriculture, and considerable representation from neighboring counties was the highlight here earlier this month during the annual Gratz Fair. Following are some of the main results of the goat and sheep shows.

David Hartman, a Dauphin Countian, made it a show that was all his own when the goats were judged. He had Nubians and Saanens entered, receiving the championship nod for each.

In the sheep contest, the Preston Bankert family of York County hauled in a major share of the ribbons in the Southdowns show. Shelley and Wayne Bankert divided most of the honors between them in class after class, including the championship awards for ewes. The best ram, however, was entered by Dianne Elbert, while the reserve champion belonged to Wayne Bankert.

Wayne Bankert had the first-place pen of lambs, followed by Dianne Ebert and Shelley Bankert. The champion breeder of a young flock was Dianne Elbert, with Wayne Bankert placing second and Shelley Bankert coming in third.

The Suffolk contest unfolded with Dianne Elbert as the owner of the champion ram and ewe and Wayne Bankert having the reserve animals. E. Richard Elbert placed with several of his entries, including a second-place ewe under two years of age and another under a year of age. He also had the champion pen of lambs.

But it was Dianne Ebert who bested all of the competition in this breed. She never placed lower than first in any of the classes.

Shropshires were another breed for which the champions belonged to Diane Elbert. The results had her in first place in every class.

GRATZ — A representation of pigs from Dauphin County and neighboring areas accounted for a good turnout at the Gratz Fair's hog shows. Following are highlights.

Two names - Bankert and Miller - were heard over and over again as the judge called the placings of the Yorkshire contest. Larry and Minay Miller had the champion boar and a number of blue ribbon entries in various classes. Bankert, a York Countian, had the champion and reserve champion sow, having exhibited the best individuals and pairs.

Among Spotted Swine exhibitors, Clair Hartman was the man to beat. But nobody did when it came to picking the champions. One of the contestants who came close to winning a share of the championship honors was Kevin Brown, who won two first places with his boar entries and had the best April sow. Brown had his moment of glory when the Durocs came into the ring. All of the championship places were filled by his entries. His closest competitor was David Hartman, who earned first places in one boar class and two sow classes.

Dennis Grumbine turned out to be the lone champion in the Berkshire and Chester White contests, winning each of the classes handily.

In market hogs, Kurt Brown had the lightweight champion and Kevin Brown had the mediumweight champion.

BEACON GIVES YOU TWO WAYS TO WORM.

1. NUTRENA D & F WORMER MEDICATED

A one-time feeding treatment of this wormer will effectively treat dairy cows just before they freshen. It contains TBZ® (thiabendazole) a no-setback, no-side effects formula. Each pound replaces one pound of regular dairy feed. Only natural protein sources are used. Why is added to make it highly palatable. And it's easy to use.

2. BAYMIX® CRUMBLES

A feed supplement designed for use as a top-dress for worm control. It allows you to treat an entire herd at the same time reducing the chance of reinfection. Its active ingredient is coumaphos, a highly effective worming formula mixed with dehydrated alfalfa. And feeding is simple.

IT'S YOUR CHOICE

Whichever treatment suits you, Beacon can supply you with the benefit of decreasing worm infestation and increasing milk production. Beacon—headquartered in Cayuga, New York—available throughout the northeast.

FEATURES AND SPECIFICATIONS:

- Heavy gauge steel construction
- Bi metal thermostat
- Large ash removal pan
- Fire brick lined
- Cast iron shaker grate
- Optional cast iron coal grate (R-77C)
- 26" Firebox holds adequate supplies of wood or coal for All Night heating
- Primary and secondary air insures complete combustion and efficiency

The R-77 has the same features that are basic to all Shenandoah Stoves. It is built with heavy gauge steel to insure longer life of the unit. The nine inch fire-brick protects the jacket from extreme heat as well as enhancing even burning and heat retention.

Air intake must be controlled in order to obtain the desired heat output. The Shenandoah R-77, like all Shenandoah Stoves, is completely airtight with a bi-metal thermostat to control automatically the air flow into the stove. The R-77 has two systems for delivering the proper amount of air. The primary air comes through the grate at the bottom. Secondary air for complete combustion supports the burning only as necessary and enters the firebox at the top.

The size of the Shenandoah R-77 makes it possible to heat large areas without frequent loading. The stove can handle firewood up to 26 inches in length. When the wood is properly air dried before burning, it can burn up to 12 hours without reloading. This means it is possible to burn all day and night on two loadings. A large access door enables "easy on your back" loading.

For ash removal the R-77 comes with a cast iron shaker grate to allow ashes to sift into the ash pan below for easy removal without letting the fire go out first.

Why 4-H?

There exists in every one of us a need to create: to make something important from things of little significance. These creations must be carefully planned, of course, and then nourished over a period of time:

a good crop of corn from dry and wrinkled seeds, a party dress from discarded scraps of material, or a prize winning steer from a wobbling, boney calf.

Young people in 4-H learn to fulfill a basic human need while they also learn human responsibility.

We believe in 4-H. It touches lives.

Hamburg girls win steer show

READING — Two girls from Hamburg showed the grand and reserve grand champions at the Reading Fair's steer show. The reserve grand champion was exhibited by Darlene Dietrich, while the top animal of the show belonged to Carol Strause.

In lightweight competition, the standings were as follows: Diane Krause, Slatington; Ronald Sutliff, Kutztown. Light-heavyweight: James Eshbach, Reading; Kenianne Rearick, Reading. Mediumweight:

Lianne Haas, Douglasville; Heavy heavyweight: Lori Haas, Elaine Heffner, Fleetwood.

In beef showmanship, the grand champion was Carol Krause, while Ann Holcombe of Mohrsville followed as runner-up. Both competed in the senior division. The intermediate age group was won by Diane Krause, while Brian Rabenold placed second. In the 8 to 11 year age group, Sarah Hoffman was champion and James Heffner was runner-up.

The grand champion fitter was Dianne Krause. The reserve champion trophy was presented to Darlene Dietrich. Miss Krause competed in the 12 to 14 year age group while Miss Dietrich was the top fitter in the senior division. Carol Krause placed second among seniors; Christine Hoffman was second in the intermediate age group. Kirk Fisher and Kenianne Rearick placed first and second, respectively, in the junior contest.

Two championships go to Feidt

GRATZ — One grand champion dairy cow is nice to have, but two are better yet. That's how it came to be for David Feidt, a 4-H'er from Millersburg, when the dairy cattle shows were concluded at the Gratz Fair. The young exhibitor, who has been making a name for himself in showing circles, showed the top Holstein and Brown Swiss cows.

Following are winners' names of both shows, by breed and classes:

BROWN SWISS

Jr. Calf - West Malta Farm; Jr. Calf - Tim Martz; Jr. Yearling - David Feidt;

Sr. Yearling - West Malta Farm; Junior Champion - David Feidt; Reserve Junior Champion - West Malta Farm.

HOLSTEINS

Exhibitor of the senior and grand champion, David Feidt, edged an entry by Calvin Dimpsey, who was at the halter of the first-place aged cow. Feidt's bovine stood first in the 4-year old class. In the junior end of the contest, the top honors went to Carl Miller and his junior calf. The runner-up spot was won by Edward Clugston.

Class winners were as follows:

Junior Calf - Carl Miller; Junior Yearling - Donald Buffington; Senior Yearling - Daniel Wolfe; Two-Year Olds - Daniel Wolfe; Three-Year Olds - Arthur Wolfe; Four-Year Olds - David Feidt; Aged Cows - Calvin Dimpsey; Dam and Daughter Pairs - David Feidt.

WHAT IS AGRI-KING? WHAT MAKES THIS COMPANY DIFFERENT?

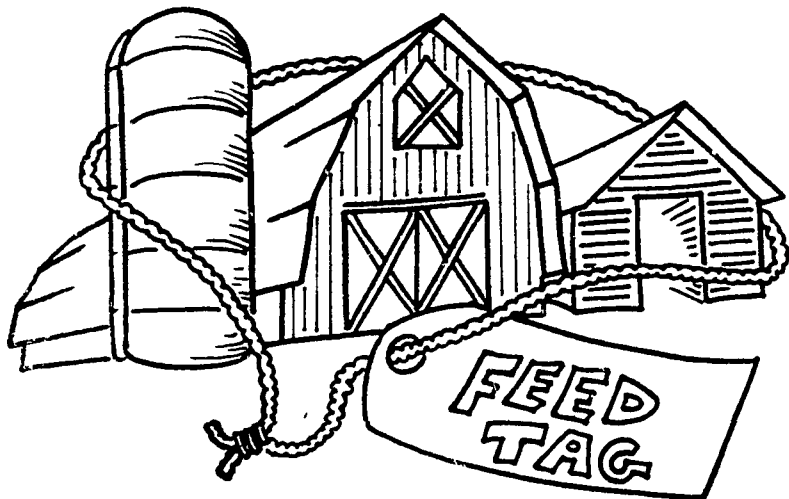

Through a series of articles in the next six issues of the Lancaster Farming, we will try to answer these and other questions of interest to the farmer. We hope you find these articles helpful when choosing your winter feeding program.

First article in series of six.

"WHY AGRI-KING BUILDS RATIONS FROM THE GROUND UP"

In building a ration from the ground up we take into consideration YOUR hay, silage and grain and put them into balance. There are several reasons why this is necessary.

It is very important in a profitable farming operation today to have healthy animals. It is impossible for a cow to maintain her health for any length of time on an unbalanced feeding program, especially if she is producing at a high level.

By building rations you can set the ration at your desired level of production and change it as the production changes on your herd. This is necessary to get maximum efficiency from your feed and herd.

In feeding cattle today, a farmer can no longer afford to feed his grains and roughages to his animals without knowing what is in them. A feed tag should be put on your silo, hay mow and grain bin.

It is very important to know the protein, calcium, phosphorus, magnesium, nitrate and moisture content of these feeds in order to get the most use out of what you have grown.

Only now are you ready to purchase the ingredients you need to balance your herd's feeding ration. By buying only the ingredients that you need and adding them in the right amounts, you not only get better herd health and production, but you also get production at the least possible cost.

THIS FALL IS THE TIME TO QUIT GUESSING AND START TESTING THE AGRI-KING WAY!

Charles wins Lampeter hog show for second time

By KENDACE BORRY
LAMPETER — For the second year in a row, Shawn Charles, Lancaster R2, won the grand championship in the Lampeter Fair market hog show. And this year he went one better. He also showed the reserve grand champion hog.

The grand champion pig had been named champion in the light heavyweight class. His champion lightweight was the reserve grand champion.

The grand champion hog weighed 220 pounds and was a purebred Duroc Barrow. The reserve champion was also a Duroc, weighing 197 pounds.

Shawn is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Charles and a freshman at Penn Manor involved in the FFA program.

The mediumweight

champion hog was shown by Tim Hess, Lancaster R2; and the champion heavyweight hog was exhibited by Charles Brown. Charles Brown also showed the reserve champion heavyweight hog.

The reserve champion lightweight hog was shown by Tim Hess; the reserve champion mediumweight animal was exhibited by Richard Haines, Columbia R3. Karen Long, Willow Street R1, showed the reserve champion light heavyweight.

In the pair class, Fred Charles, the son of H. Melvin Charles, Washington Boro R1, won the championship. This, his first championship, was won with crossbred hogs, being of Hampshire-

Yorkshire-Duroc Blood, and averaging 229 pounds. The 17 year old youth is senior at Penn Manor.

Don Brubaker, 17, showed the reserve champion pair. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Brubaker, Strasburg R1, and showed Yorkshire-Landrace crossbreds averaging 208 pounds.

LOW COST

NOW, OCTOBER, NOVEMBER, DECEMBER, 1978 is the time to get ready for spring planting and a harvest of healthier, improved yields of 1979 crops!

Apply AGRISPON as soon as crops are harvested this fall so AGRISPON can go to work all during the winter months.

- Putting life back into the soil.
- Fixing nitrogen.
- Increasing availability of natural minerals in soil.
- Improving the water holding capacity of soil.

Every farmer, nurseryman, home gardener knows Yields are limited by Plant Stress caused by:

- Herbicides
- Pesticides
- Acid Forming Fertilizers
- Inadequate Water-Holding Capacity
- Anhyorous Ammonia
- Incorrect Fertilization
- Low Microbial Populations

The answer is a balanced farming program built around AGRISPON:

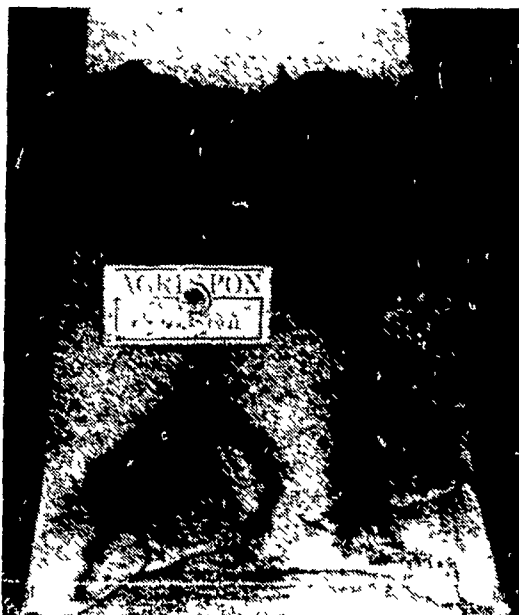

- Start with soil test.
- Where possible replace deficient elements with Natural or Chelated minerals.
- Limit use of herbicides and Pesticides.
- Check calcium and phosphate levels.
- Apply AGRISPON twice yearly.

Distributors and Dealerships are available in selected areas in the following states: Pennsylvania, Maryland, New York, New Jersey, Virginia, West Virginia, Ohio, Maine, Vermont, New Hampshire, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Delaware, Indiana, and Michigan.

Colored breeds show at Gratz

GRATZ — Earl Keefer, David Feidt, Steven Witmer, Jody Matter, and Faith Lafferty were owners of grand champion dairy animals in open competition at the Gratz Fair which was held Sept. 9-16.

Matter won her title in the Milking Shorthorn show without opposition, while Lafferty won every blue ribbon in the Jersey contest.

Keefer was the lone winner in the cow classes of the Ayrshire show as his entries were consistently given the blue ribbon. In addition, Keefer won the produce of dam, dam and daughter, dairy herd, and best three females classes.

Most of the ribbons in the junior half of the show were also awarded to Keefer, although the championship recognition was bestowed on Steve Shetterly who had the first-place intermediate calf. Debra Shetterly, exhibiting the top junior calf, was cited for junior champion honors.

The only other exhibitor to have a first-place animal in the open Ayrshire show was Tracy Buffington.

David Feidt left no doubt in anyone's mind that he was the man to beat when the Brown Swiss classes entered the ring. His entries stood first in the senior calf, junior yearling, 2-year old, 4-year old, senior get of sire, best three females, dairy herd, and produce of dam classes. He had all the cow champions, as well as the entry with the most nearly perfect udder, and the junior champion.

champion honor went to West Malta Farm, owner of the first-place junior calf.

Intermediate Calf - Tim Martz; Junior Get - Lil-Rus Farm; Three-Year Olds - West Malta Farm; Aged Cows - Donald Buffington.

Guernsey honors went to Steven Witmer, whose entries stood first in both the three and four year old cow classes. The reserve senior and grand champion ribbons were awarded to Jeff Martz and his first-place 2-year old.

Standing as junior champion of the show was an entry taken into the ring by

Wilmer Campbell. He also had the reserve junior champion. His first places were rung up in the intermediate calf and junior yearling classes.

grand champion; Senior Get - Steven Witmer; Best 3 Females and Produce of Dam - West Malta Farm; Dairy Herd - Steven Witmer; Dam and Daughter - Roger Campbell.

Sheep shown at Reading Fair

READING — Five breeds of sheep were shown at the Reading Fair, held here earlier this month. The owners of respective breed champions were as follows: Cheviot - Charles Hopkins, Oley; Corriedale - Ty Ramp, Sinking Spring; Dorset - Jeff Heffner, Fleetwood; Hampshire - Ann Berger, Reading; Suffolk - Andy Mackay, Boyertown.

In the market lamb contest, the grand champion entry was a mediumweight owned and exhibited by Andrew Haas of Douglasville. Joe Crisafulli, top exhibitor in the heavyweight contest, was given the reserve grand champion trophy. The best lightweight entry belonged to MaryAnn Yanos of Douglasville.

The reserve champions were as follows: Charles Hopkins, Oley, lightweight; James Heffner, Fleetwood, mediumweight; and Ann Holcombe, Mohrsville, heavyweight.

In sheep showmanship, Joe Crisafulli was awarded the top prize, while Ann Berger placed second. They competed in the senior and intermediate age groups, respectively. The top showman among the juniors was Valerie Ernst.

Crisafulli scored highest again when the fitting contest took place. Placing second was Melissa Holland, winner of the junior division. The first two finishers in the intermediate group were David Ernst and Andy Mackay. Charles Hopkins was second in the senior division and Marianne Yanes was second among the juniors.

The blocking and grooming contest was also won by Crisafulli. David Ernst was second.

Commercial red meat production

HARRISBURG — Red meat production in Pennsylvania during August 1978 totaled 82.4 million pounds, 17 per cent below a year earlier, according to the Pennsylvania Crop Reporting Service.

Cattle slaughter at 67,800 head was down 30 per cent from August 1977, hog slaughter at 246,000 head was down three per cent, while sheep and lambs at 11,100 head were down 23 per cent. Calf slaughter at 31,800 head was down 15 per cent from a year ago.

Nationally, commercial red meat production in August totaled 3.27 billion pounds, down four per cent from August 1977. Cattle slaughter was down eight per cent, calf slaughter was down 28 per cent, and hog slaughter was up one per cent. Sheep and lamb slaughter went down 21 per cent from August 1977.

Sattazahn and Shaw win dairy contests

READING — Karen Sattazahn, a 4-H'er from Womelsdorf, and Wendy Shaw, a 4-H'er from Oley, won the top honors here earlier this month in dairy showmanship and fitting contests, respectively, at the Reading Fair. Both girls were competing in their respective senior divisions.

Following Miss Sattazahn in the showmanship contest for those over 15 years old were Wendy Shaw and Penny Bicksler, who hails from Richland. In the intermediate age group, the top three were: Connie Ohlinger, Mohrsville; Corinna Moyer, Rehnersburg; and Helen McCahon, Downingtown.

The top showman in the junior division was Cathie Ohlinger, Mohrsville; followed by Heidi Springer of Hamburg and Lee Schlappich of Mohrsville.

Karen Sattazahn placed second to Miss Shaw in the senior fitting contest. Jeff Miller of Hamburg was third. In the intermediate age group, Connie Ohlinger, Helen McCahon, and Harold Dietrich placed first, second, and third, respectively. The top three juniors were Tammy Schleppich, Cathie Ohlinger and Lee Schlappich.

Donald W. Parke, right, executive vice-president of PennAg Industries Association, received a number of awards of recognition on behalf of the association during its 100th annual convention. With Parke is Robert F. Skinner, executive vice-president of the Iowa Grain and Feed Association, who presented awards to PennAg on behalf of the Agricultural Association Executive's Council and the Illinois Grain and Feed Association.

PennAg Celebrates

Eban, Israel's former foreign minister and U.N. ambassador. Eban, now a member of the Israeli Parliament and president of the renowned Weitzman Institute, spoke eloquently and hopefully of the situation in the Middle East. He received a standing ovation from the luncheon guests.

Two of Pennsylvania's leading political figures also addressed the convention. Outgoing Governor Milton J. Shapp delivered the convention keynote address on Wednesday morning, while former U.S. attorney and Republican gubernatorial hopeful Richard L. Thornberg was the luncheon speaker on Thursday.

There were 37 commercial exhibits on display in the grand ballroom of the Penn Harris Convention Center for the duration of the convention. The focal point of the exhibit area was a display of association records along with milling tools and other memorabilia covering the 100 years of PennAg's existence. The exhibit had been especially commissioned for the annual get-together. It was executed by MarkeTechs, Inc., a design firm from York, Pa. MarkeTechs also recently completed a milling exhibit for the William Penn Museum in Harrisburg. The Museum arranged a special preview of that exhibit for PennAg members at the convention.

Demonstrations of old milling crafts were conducted in the historical exhibit area. Charles Howell, North Tarrytown, N.Y., demonstrated stone dressing and millwrighting, while Benfer Zechman of Potts Grove, Pa., showed old flour milling techniques.

The banquets, receptions and golf tournament which are a traditional part of PennAg conventions were very well attended. For the first time in many years, the convention committee did not plan a separate program for ladies in attendance. The program was designed to be general enough and interesting enough to appeal to all who attended.

During the convention, Donald W. Parke, PennAg's executive vice-president, accepted a number of honors on behalf of the association. Recognizing PennAg's 100 years of existence with plaques were: Agricultural Association, Executives' Council and the Illinois Grain and Feed Association, presented by Robert F. Skinner, executive vice-president of the Iowa Grain and Feed Association; the American Feed Manufacturers' Association, presented by Gerald Karstens; and the National Grain and Feed Association, presented by Alvin E. Oliver.

On September 21, a panel of presidents led off the program with a look at the future of the agribusiness industry. Ed Wheeler, president of The Fertilizer Institute in Washington, D.C., told the group that the world's food production capacities would have to strain in the next 75 years to keep up with what he termed mind-boggling population growth.

"In the next 50 years, there will be no major shift from the U.S. as the world's biggest and most dependable supermarket," Wheeler said.

The biggest change on the near horizon of the fertilizer industry, he said, is the swelling demand for custom application as government environmental regulations become more stringent. He predicted that within five to 10 years, rates of nitrogen application will come under regulation, just as the use of most pesticides is today.

The problem of fertilizer supply will now ease up in the foreseeable future, he said, as the U.S. runs out of phosphate rock and continues to import vast amounts of natural gas feedstocks for the production of ammonia based fertilizers.

Robert Graybill, president of Pennfield Corp., one of Pennsylvania's leading feed manufacturers, gave a nod to the problems facing agribusiness in the years ahead. Government regulation was chief among them. But the growth of animal agriculture in the Northeast, Pennsylvania's favorable disposition toward agriculture and its supporting industries, and

A Hydro-Heater Franklin will cut your fuel costs...
Can heat your whole house, even when it's zero outside!

A 1 1/4" water jacket surrounds the fire on back, sides and bottom. This allows you to place the Hydro-Heater Franklin within 6" of any wall or partition, because the outside temperature never exceeds 210°.

Directional flow tubing captures the heat that is normally lost up the flue. 65% of the heat collected in Hydro-Heater is absorbed by the tubing section. This heat is then transferred to your existing heating system.

AVAILABLE ARE HOT WATER HEAT EXCHANGERS FOR DOMESTIC HOT WATER SYSTEMS.

Also Available Are Fireplace Units

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CALL:

A Hydro-Heater Franklin gives you a 300 to 500 per cent increase in heat output over normal Franklin-type stoves. In fact, you get a 175,000 BTU output with a Hydro-Heater Franklin! And with a Hydro-Heater, you don't put up with the "freeze or fry" situation experienced with ordinary Franklin-type stoves. That's because Hydro-Heater transfers its heat to your existing home heating system to warm every room in your house. Lampeter Fair sheep show has many winners

By KENDACE BORRY
LAMPETER — Wayne Hess, Conestoga R1, showed his market lamb at the Lampeter Fair on Wednesday to be picked first in its class over the other 15 exhibitors. This was the Penn Manor sophomore's first champion. A member of the FFA where he attends school, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Abram Hess.

In the sheep breed classes, Tom Muller dominated the Hampshire division, showing both the champion ram and the champion ewe, as well as the reserve champion ram. His brother

Bob Muller, had the reserve champion ewe.

Billy MacCauley, Atglen R2, had the champion Shropshire ewe as well as the champion Suffolk ram and champion Suffolk ewe. The champion and reserve champion Shropshire ram was shown by Mark Ebaugh, Delta R2. The reserve champion ewe was shown by Ernest Barrett, Cochranville R1, in the Shropshire class.

The reserve champion Suffolk ram was shown by Linda Ebaugh, Delta R2. Jim Stauffer, Lancaster R2, showed the reserve champion Suffolk ewe.

In the Southdown division, Gerald Rohrer, Quarryville R1, had the champion ram and the reserve champion ram exhibits. Nanette Musser, Lancaster, showed the champion Southdown ewe while Barbara Rohrer, sister to Gerald, showed the reserve champion.

In the sheep showmanship and fitting competitions, Billy MacCauley won both the senior fitting and showmanship trophies. Jim Stauffer was first in the junior showmanship and Gerald Rohrer captured the junior fitting contest.

Judge for the show was Clyde Brubaker, Lancaster. Results of the sheep show follow:

Talk and Slide Presentation to show present and prospective clients how tillage and fertility management can be integrated for maximum long term profit.

EVENING SESSION - 7:30 P.M.

Talk and Slide Presentation to show prospective clients how Advanced Ag's consulting service can lead the way to increased profits.

— LUNCH AVAILABLE — TALK AND SLIDE PRESENTATION BY DONALD L. SCHREIFER

The man who is 25 years ahead of his time in practical and profitable agriculture.

ADVANCED AG is a consulting service which makes specific recommendations for fertilization based on a sophisticated "Albrecht Formula" soil test. We advise clients of optimum tillage practices, working with existing tools or recommending alternative implements. We supply sophisticated crop catalysts and trace mineral fertilizers for specific cases. Increase your Net Profit through integrated management of tillage and fertility. Learn how and why the use or misuse of different tillage tools can affect the profit or loss of your farm. Each tool has its own proper timing. Properly managed soil is more productive of quality produce, more independent of weather extremes, earlier and easier to work, requires less fertilizer - more profitable. Get better control of your farming enterprise.

Development of this major cheese operation, at a projected cost of 10 million dollars, plus construction of a modern sewage treatment facility, is the second phase of the cooperative's cheese venture with the Leprino Cheese Company of Denver, Colo. The first phase, renovation of Eastern's Horseheads, N.Y. plant for mozzarella cheese production, should be completed on or about Oct. 15, 1978.

Eastern, the largest dairy cooperative in the Northeast, is responsible for the construction of these cheese facilities which will be operated by Leprino over a period of 20 years. Upon completion of the Pennsylvania facility next Spring, approximately 425 million pounds of milk will be utilized, producing in excess of 40 million pounds of cheese.

The Leprino Cheese Company, in business since 1950, is presently the nation's largest marketer of mozzarella cheese. It has developed and patented several cheese-making procedures that provide the firm with sophisticated technology to achieve better yields and superior product quality.

Keefer, Feidt, Witmer, Matter and Lafferty capture Gratz Fair titles

GRATZ — Faith Lafferty, Steve Shetterly, Judy Matter, and Jeff Martz added purple rosettes to their collection of trophies earlier this month when they came home from the 4-H dairy cattle judging contests at the recently held Gratz Fair.

Lafferty and Matter won their recognition without opposition as they swept the Jersey and Milking Shorthorn shows, respectively. Shetterly won the junior and grand champion banners in the Ayrshire contest while Debra Shetterly captured the reserve trophies.

The Guernsey show honors were shared by Martz who had the senior and grand champion, and Gwen Witmer, owner of the reserve senior and grand champion. The junior champion honor went to Becci Martz while Gwen Witmer was tapped for the reserve junior champion slot.

Class winners in the Guernsey show were as follows:

Ragsdale SYSTEMS

Fly Control

THE RAGSDALE SPRAY SYSTEM is the most effective and economical fly control system available on the market today. Ragsdale Spray Systems have been developed to control flies with a minimum cost to the consumer, but a greater effectiveness than even more expensive systems. The Ragsdale Spray System operates by air pressure. To eliminate oxidation and corrosion, it uses a polyethylene tubing to distribute the air pressure evenly to all spray heads.

Hookstown Grange honored

HARRISBURG - The 1978 Community Service Award of the Pennsylvania State Grange has been won by Hookstown Grange, Beaver County, State Grange Master J. Luther Snyder announced.

The winner was selected on the basis of its leadership in operating the 32nd annual Hookstown Fair. The proceeds of this fair are used for a number of civic projects and scholarships.

Hookstown Grange also sponsored a public blood pressure clinic and an Easter Party for local preschoolers.

Second place in the competition was won by Hayfield Grange, Crawford County, for its formation of a social club for deaf people. Hayfield grange provided facilities and refreshments for the meetings.

Third place went to Brokenstraw Grange, Warren County, for its work to create a community hall where all the local groups of Brokenstraw Valley could hold their meetings.

Fourth place went to Valley Grange of York County for its efforts to clean up a historic cemetery in Newberrytown.

Certificates and U.S.

Savings Bonds will be presented to the winners at the Wednesday morning, October 25th session of the 106th annual convention of the Pennsylvania State Grange at Butler.

The Hookstown Grange's project will be judged again in the national competition in Denver, Colo. this November.

Judges for the contest were Richard VanNoy, Etters; James Kegel, Lewisberry; and John Fox, Duncannon.

Banana Power

Bananas are sensitive to temperature. If refrigerated whole, the ripening process will stop and the banana peel will darken. If you have a lot of bananas at the state of ripeness you prefer, they can be refrigerated for a few days to keep them at that stage. While the skin will turn black, the fruit inside will stay attractive.

Lancaster Co. leaders honored for 4-H work

By Sally Bair
Staff Writer

LANCASTER — Three Lancaster County 4-H leaders who have served 25 years each will be recognized at the 4-H Leaders' banquet to be held October 10 at the Farm and Home Center. The three are Mrs. Lewis Bixler, Marietta R1; Milton Brubaker, 660 Brunnerville Road, Lititz; and Lester M. Weaver, New Holland R1.

All three 4-H leaders in interviews this week expressed appreciation for having been able to serve 25 years. Mrs. Grace Bixler summed up their feelings, "It is very gratifying to know that you've helped someone."

Grace, who herself was a 4-H'er for 10 years, said she became involved as a leader for the Mount Joy Sewing Club when another leader asked her to help out. She did, and has spent the past 25 years teaching various sewing projects. This year Grace taught first year sewing, adding, "I help out wherever I'm needed."

Grace said, "I feel 4-H is beneficial to the children. I feel sorry for those who have no opportunity to join 4-H. They have really missed something, and have missed the chance to get to know people."

She gives credit to her own 4-H experiences for helping her as an adult. "It has helped me a lot in homemaking, in raising a family and in leadership." She said she had projects in flowers, vegetables, sewing, cooking and pigs. Her six children were all in 4-H, with projects in dairy, beef and poultry.

Grace says that working with first year sewers takes a lot of patience, but said, "I am very concerned about helping the children. Some are very willing, and very eager to learn. Some are mature at age eight and some are not. Even as a mother of six, I have gained more patience."

In her club she notes, "We get good support from the parents. They are very interested in having their children take 4-H projects."

In her 25 years of service there have been some changes. The most obvious change is in the first year sewing project where making a gathered skirt was standard for years and years. She said, "The skirts became so outmoded the girls wouldn't wear them. Now they can sew coat bags, ponchos, bandanas, scuffs or a triangular scarf. All the projects are straight sewing. 4-H is keeping up with the times."

Another big change she notices is that "kids are busier now than they used to be. They go camping and swimming and vacationing with their parents. But they manage to get the project done and bring things to round-up. They have a goal and they try to meet it."

Grace said she feels there is now a greater mix of urban and rural children in the club, and said the girls stay interested as members until they are old enough to get a job or until they must work more on the farm.

Grace says she will continue to be a leader "as long as my health permits." But she has many other activities to keep her busy. She is moderator of the deacons at the Donegal Presbyterian Church, president of their women's association, and sings in the choir. She is also a member of the Pennsylvania Farmer's Association, and in her spare time she hooks rugs, makes flower arrangements and has made afghans for all her children. She said she sometimes sews for herself but mostly, "I am too busy with farm work." Her farm work includes collecting eggs in their layer operation twice daily, and caring for a large garden. Whenever she can, she likes to babysit for her eleven grandchildren.

Mrs. Bixler's 4-H involvement has taken her out of the community and all the way to Maine when she went along as a chaperone on a 4-H exchange trip. They also hosted 4-H'ers from Maine when they visited in this county.

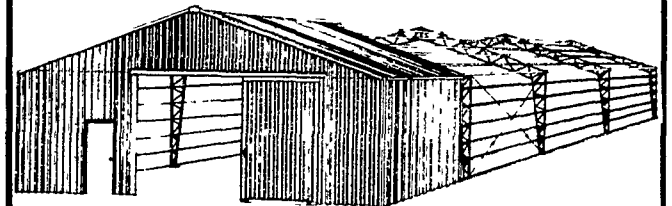

Lester Weaver became a leader for the New Holland Baby Beef Club when members of the New Holland Farm Show Association suggested that they have a baby beef show at the fair. With the help of County Agent Max Smith, a club was formed and started the first year with a dozen members. They organized the club, held the show and it has been going strong ever since. Now the club averages about 33 to 35 members each year.

Weaver says, "I haven't been as active in past years as I once was. There are younger men who are willing to help out." Nevertheless, one of the things Weaver enjoys and still takes a very active part in is acquiring calves for distribution to members. "I help to buy the calves and get them sorted out and ready for the kids. I do the paperwork," he said.

Weaver explained that the procedure with the club is to have several leaders travel to sales, purchase the animals and then have the youngsters draw their animal by lot. Once the animals are divided, Weaver says, "If anyone has problems I am willing to help." He said he always breathes a little easier after the calves have been in the children's hands for about four weeks, because by then they are acclimated and the problem period is over.

In his younger days Weaver recalls that he and another leader used to travel to members' home to do hoof trimming. "In the earlier years we would do practically all the 25 to 30 steers. That was hard work. That used to be a job which we were very happy about when it was done." The job is now done on an individual basis, happily for the leaders.

Weaver worked hard in promoting the price of the baby beef sale held during the New Holland Farm Show. "We got business people inspired to buy, and people have said that it's the best sale in Pennsylvania through our efforts. A few of us worked hard to prod the businesses to buy." Weaver noted that often premium price is paid for club animals, and he said that a few weeks prior to the sale, "We knock on doors to remind them of the sale."

He said usually they have had very good results from their hard work, with a lot of local businesses helping out. Cash incentives are also offered the 4-H members from local banks and the Sales Stables, plus premiums for the show. He noted that most 4-H animals can make money on their steers if the market is favorable. A few lose money, but he said, "I like to instill in their minds that it is an educational program."

Weaver says proudly, "We've gotten real support from the parents. Most of them are really interested." He noted that leaders can only "do so much, then it's up to the parents to do the encouragement. Some 4-H's have to be pushed to get the job done."

Agreeing with Mrs. Bixler's assessment of the current situation with busy teenagers, Weaver said, "They are involved in a lot of other things - school and church activities. They don't have time to do things as well. They don't put as much time in their steers as they once did - maybe that's the fault of the leaders."

Weaver claims that the type of beef has changed. "By the time I get acclimated to one type they go back to another type." He acknowledged that it is difficult to try to outguess the judge when selecting calves for 4-H projects. Now the trend is slightly away from the upstanding, stretchy steers to a version of the shorter, heavier steer. "It gets hard to acquire good calves."

Lancaster Farming, Saturday, September 30, 1978-43

Although officially retired, Weaver occasionally takes time to help out on the farm.

Often good herds give preference to local 4-H clubs, and we get up against the situation where it is hard to get good calves for less money. We like to get calves as equal in quality as you can get." Four-H's today, Weaver notes, are probably a little better prepared because children seem to advance quickly. The program itself is "a little broader with more statewide activities, and 4-H'ers have more benefit of travel. It is also more educational in fields like judging, and 4-H'ers get around more to meet other 4-H members."

With a youngster of eight, Weaver said, "I feel a little sorry for kids who get a steer who is a little wild. It can be a problem."

Along with teaching the youth, Weaver says, "I enjoyed being a leader and I learned some things. The kids taught me some things and I learned about feeding my own cattle. I applied some of the things to my own operation."

He stated emphatically, "I've never been sorry for what I've done in 4-H. It is a good experience."

Weaver, now retired as a farmer, runs a Farmers Fertilizer dealership, including seed corn and some supplies. He says now he is sometimes busier than when he was farming, but the work is seasonal.

All six of the Weaver children were in 4-H and Lester has three grandchildren who are following in the family 4-H tradition.

Milton Brubaker, also a 25 year veteran 4-H leader, has the distinction of being a member of the first 4-H club organized in Lancaster County. Brubaker recalls that his mother, Mrs. J. Clayton Brubaker, read about 4-H clubs in the mid-west and suggested that it would be a good idea to organize them here. With her interest, she contacted the Extension office, convinced a local farmer, W. Martin Muth, to be local leader and called local banks to get financial support and meeting rooms.

In 1926 the first club got going and offered baby beef projects and vegetables. Brubaker said the vegetable club had about a dozen members and the baby beef project had between twenty and thirty youngsters enrolled. He said, "I suspect it was among the first in the state." He said prior to the 4-H club, Miss Forbes, the Extension home economist, had an organization for girls which taught cooking skills.

In those days Brubaker said, Extension personnel acted as 4-H club leaders and there were frequent visits from people at Penn State to assist with club work and shows. He mentioned Jimmy Kime, Allen L. Baker, and Henrietta Hutchinson as early workers from the University. Locally of course, "Dutch" Bucher and Harry Sloat were the Extension personnel working with many 4-H clubs.

Since his early experience in 4-H clubs, Brubaker said leaders have been asked to assume more responsibility because with so many projects extension personnel just can't carry out the work.

In the early 1940's Brubaker became a leader for one year for a tobacco club, but it was not until his son Jim was ten, in 1953, that he became a leader for the Ayrshire Club.

Brubaker said that when the Ayrshire Club was first formed there were more Ayrshires and more farmer.

Also families were larger, so there were plenty of potential 4-H'ers. Since its beginnings, the Ayrshire club has been joined by the Jerseys and Brown Swiss, so the numbers in the club remain about the same.

Youngsters in 4-H are as "good as ever - maybe better," Brubaker noted. "We still get good parental support and that's important."

He did acknowledge that 4-H'ers seem busier than they once were. "There are so many more activities of all kinds. But the dedicated people still get the work done - the ones who have their parents backing."

In the dairy project Brubaker said, "Four-H'ers learn responsibility and cooperation, and they learn to be more articulate. They also develop friendships and tolerances." He characterized the judging team as a "big, big learning experience, with tremendous potential for the 4-H'ers."

The age of 4-H'ers has changed in his years in clubwork, but Milton said, "There is something about the enthusiasm of eight and nine year olds that sort of makes up for their lack of size and experience. Also, the older members are willing to help them, so it is a two way street and gives the older ones experience and a chance to grow."

He said youngsters today are not quite as shy as they once were, and he attributes that to their getting-out more with their parents. "Years ago some kids were so shy you couldn't even get them to talk."

In reminiscing about 4-H Brubaker revealed that he had had many rewarding experiences but mentioned three highlights. One was when his son Jim had Grand Champion 4-H heifer at the Farm Show in Harrisburg. Another proud time for him was when his son Paul and nephew George took two animals to the Farm Show. Brubaker was unable to attend the show because of a huge snowstorm, but the boys won three blue ribbons, two in 4-H and one in the open show. He said, "This really showed that they had developed the responsibility to get ready and show themselves."

A third highlight for Brubaker was when one of his 4-H members, Eddie Harnish of Nine Points, won three grand champions at the Farm Show - one in the open show, one in 4-H and one in FFA. Brubaker said that being a 4-H leader has been learning experience for him, too. "I have seen parents become interested in showing because their children show, and I have seen the quality of cattle improve. The quality now even in local shows is really tremendous."

"I certainly recommend being a 4-H leader very much. It is a very worthwhile thing and it helps develop many different aspects of leadership."

Brubaker milks about 60 Ayrshires on his Spruce Villa farm outside Lititz and farms about 180 acres, with 125 acres of cropland.

'Big business has learned a costly lesson'

By JERRY WEBB
University of Delaware

NEWARK, Del. - Big business has learned a costly lesson about farming - a lesson that has changed its mind about entering the farming game.

Corporations got into farming back in the 60's because they thought there was easy money to be made and because there were tax advantages. But neither proved substantial enough to make the risks worthwhile.

The non-farm corporations became intrigued with the thought that if small farmers could make money on 250 or 500 acres apiece, how much more could one company make farming 10,000 acres. In other words, the same industrial efficiency that took automobile manufacture out of the work shops of a hundred tinkers and craftsmen and into the hands of a few giant auto makers was going to work on food production.

The corporate executives who made those decisions failed to reckon with some of the realities of farming that real farmers face everyday - things like weather, diseases, irregularity of earnings, oversupplies, undersupplies, and price fluctuations. They learned the expensive lesson that corporate practices don't always work when it comes to farming.

It seems no corporation or hired manager is willing to put the effort into a farm that the owner and his family are willing to devote. No corporation executive or hired manager wants to sit up with the corporate sow at night.

No doubt big business can pay higher prices for land and livestock, equip with the most modern machines, and hire the best trained managers and technicians. But that's not enough to make a farm successful.

The one big difference between farming and most other industries which seems to defy corporate management is this - almost everything produced on a farm is or was alive. That means it can get sick, die, be attacked by bugs, break a leg, be blown down by wind, or otherwise fall victim to its surroundings. Be it milk cow or soybean plant, it's a living, "breathing" thing that requires special attention - the kind that a farm owner/operator seems best suited to give.

Once that commodity is dead or "harvested" it can be stored, disassembled and reassembled and treated much like the parts of a car or other industrial product. But it's going to be a while before that mass production philosophy takes over food production. That's not to say it won't happen someday or that there will never be a "Big Three" of food production. There has been a steady exodus from the farm since the 1800's and nothing has happened to stop it. If there are a million farmers now there will probably be no more than half a million by the turn of the century.

Maybe someday big business will find a way to sit up with the corporate sow and farming will change drastically and rapidly. But you can bet when that happens food prices won't decrease with large scale farming the way auto prices did when Henry Ford started building Model T's. There seem to be no real advantages for the American Consumer that would result from an increase in the amount of corporate farming.

See the White Tractor Doctor.

If your tractor is a little tired ... or down in the dumps of late after a long tough production season ... bring it on in to the White® Tractor Rehabilitation Center. Our trained Tractor Doctor will run a complete physical exam on your tractor ... diagnose the problem and prescribe the proper rehabilitation program. It may be something as simple as an engine tune-up or as major as a complete overhaul. But won't it give you peace of mind to know that your tractor will be ready to roll when spring arrives? And if you're a "do-it-yourself" type ... the Tractor Doctor can help you select the correct genuine White parts you'll need to perform your own engine tune-up at home. Stop in today and talk over your tractor's rehabilitation program with our Tractor Doctor. Remember ... for peak performance, use genuine White parts ... they're just what the Doctor ordered.

The Tractor Specialist sells more "up-time"

When the land is ready, a farmer's tractor had better be ready to go. That's why a Case dealer franchise just makes good common sense.

As a Case dealer, you're a tractor specialist. Everything you do—selling, servicing, parts—has one target: the best in farm power. You and your tractors are backed by an industry "first" a sound marketing program. Assured Availability. It tells your customers that if, for any reason during warranty, the tractor they bought from you isn't ready to go, they'll have a free replacement. And Case backs you up!

Case backs you up with other strong marketing help including the Demo/Rental and Commitment to Quality programs.

If the franchise is open in your territory, you may also be eligible to sell and service light construction power. For information on the full potential of a Case franchise in your area, write or call.

with speed

Like a workhorse, the Gehl 920 self-unloading forage wagon is big, steady and dependable. And worm gear drive provides fast, smooth, even unloading. Large diameter drums with spiral teeth arrangement eliminate wrapping. So you keep it moving all day long. Stop in and take a look at this workhorse today.

GEHL FB99

two blowers in one

No more waiting in the field for the box to come back. The 99 ends silo bottlenecks. It matches the round trip speed of your best forage box. Most self-unloaders won't unload fast enough for it!

When compared to conventional blowers, the FB99's twelve staggered fan blades, six on each side of the rotor, actually give you two blowers in one. The timed delivery of material from the alternate paddles provides maximum use of available space in the nine inch pipe. Result is increased capacity without increasing pipe size. Alternate paddles provide a steadier flow of air and material. Pressure and velocity is maintained as material is blasted up the pipe. No gaps. No slowdowns.

When you treat bloody scours (swine dysentery), you're only fighting part of the problem

Bloody scours is a cyclic disease. Treatment with Lincomix® (lincomycin) will disrupt the cycle and bring it under control. But once treatment stops, bloody scours can, and often does, break out again - even among animals you thought had recovered.

Protect against bloody scours all the way to market with Lincomix.

For effective control of bloody scours all the way to market, start your herd on Lincomix at the first signs of the disease. The treatment level is 100 grams of lincomycin per ton of feed. After three weeks at this level, or following disappearance of symptoms, continue medication at 40 grams lincomycin per ton of feed up to six days before slaughter.

And on those farms with a history of bloody scours, feed 40 grams lincomycin per ton of feed to keep outbreaks from recurring, even though symptoms are not apparent.

See us today. Lincomix belongs in your hog rations!

Lincomix—THE HEAVYWEIGHT feed additive for the treatment and control of bloody scours from start to finish.

THERMO CONTROL "HOT WATER HEAT" WOOD STOVE Model 500W

This Thermo Control features automatic thermostat airtight downdraft system firebrick lining. This ingenious heater works in tandem with your existing oil gas electric or solar hot water heating system. Thermo Control 500W which can be installed in about two to four hours comes with the 3/4 inch special A40 pipe already installed in the firebox. Stoking is done twice a day and your existing system turns on only rarely acting merely as a backup unit. The saving can range from 50 to 100% on expensive fuels. Available with optional warm air hood domestic hot water piping. Overall dimensions 34 inches long, 24 inches wide, 32 inches high. Firebox dimensions 34 inches long, 24 inches wide, 24 inches high. Firebox door measures 18 inches high by 21 inches wide for easy loading. If your present hot water system will heat your home so will the Thermo Control Hot Water Heat Wood Stove but without burning expensive fuels. Shipping weight is approximately 455 pounds.

Robert Fulton Homestead

America's heritage is really in your backyard

By SUSAN KAUFFMAN
Staff Writer

Located several yards to the west of Route 222 south of Quarryville, the home where the famous inventor and painter, Robert Fulton, was born, stands. Born November 14, 1765, he spent the first two years of his life here, while his father tried his hand at farming. Fulton is best known for inventing the steamboat.

With school once again in session, families with school age children from time to time hear about history and culture - subjects probably absent from the conversation of the busy growing season for farmers. Lancaster Farming readers have a wealth of historical and cultural sites nearby waiting for a few hours' visit some cool, unhurried autumn weekend.

One such place is Robert Fulton's birthplace, at the southern-most point in Lancaster County on the Pennsylvania Trail of History. Situated along Route 222 south of Quarryville, the sixty-five acre farm includes the old stone house, a corn barn, and two old railroad buildings. A newly constructed utility building and parking lot are additions added by the state when it purchased the land in 1965.

Declared a historical landmark in November 1964, Pennsylvania bought the property from the Swifts who had owned it since the mid 1700's. Robert Fulton's father, a prominent Lancaster City resident, had bought the property at a sheriff's sale to try his hand at farming. On November 14, 1765, Robert Fulton was born in the farmhouse. After his father's attempts at farming proved to be a failure, Robert's family moved back to Lancaster.

The Swift family had held the mortgage on the property for Robert Fulton's father and with his departure from the farm, the Swifts moved in and descendants had owned the land for two-hundred years until it was sold.

Although Robert Fulton lived at his birthplace less than two years, the site has been deemed a memorial worthy of protection, research, and public display. The stone house stands as a tribute and reminder of the inventiveness and genius of the artist, inventor, and architect born there.

Primarily known for his work with the steamboat, the Clermont, Fulton was actually quite successful in many artistic and engineering endeavors. When Robert attended a Quaker school in Lancaster, his first inclinations toward artistic and idealistic inventions became apparent. He was busy as a youth doing sketches and paintings of local scenes and experimenting with mechanical projects.

In 1782 he moved to Philadelphia where he stayed for four years as a successful miniature portrait painter. Several reproductions of these paintings are on display at the homestead.

Fulton was encouraged by none other than Benjamin Franklin to go to Europe to study painting under the famed Benjamin West.

Fulton travelled to England and studied for a time under the tutoring of this famous artist and was commissioned to do a number of portraits of royalty - portraits which now hang in the Royal Academy of Arts. Although Fulton was busy with his art he was increasingly interested in the technical problems facing his friends who were working in the midst of the industrial expansion. Fulton was attracted by the challenges of the mechanical problems and was able with the use of his artistic talents to set down on paper accurately illustrated ideas.

Many of his early drawings of aqueducts, canals and bridges are reprinted and on display for the visitor to see at the birthplace. The majority of the informational displays which are the result of research by the Historical Commission are mounted on the walls of the long-ago master bedroom, one of three rooms on the first floor. There are three rooms downstairs, two bedrooms upstairs and another bedroom and small storage area on the third floor.

All three rooms on the first floor have fireplaces, including the kitchen, which is on the north side of the dwelling, and has a large walk-in fireplace. The front door opens from the east just a few yards from Route 222 which runs from Conowingo, Maryland, north through Quarryville. The kitchen has been refinished with white walls and accented with blue painted trim on the chair rails, doors and window sills.

The living room and the downstairs bedroom - now the information center - face south. The living room is refinished with white walls and green woodwork and the bedroom is done with white walls and yellow-gold paint. The floors throughout are wide pine boards stained dark.

One bedroom on the second floor boasts a fireplace. There is only one set of stairs inside the house going to the upper floors. To get into the cellar, one must go outside since there is no access from the inside of the house.

All the windows are "twelve over twelve" and are protected with wooden, solid panel shutters. Richard Wimer, caretaker at the Robert Fulton birthplace for the past four years pointed out the many aspects of the house.

In addition to explaining the features of the house, Wimer also included several bits of information about the historical setting itself.

According to Wimer, at one time the house served as the Fulton post office. One visitor recently told Wimer he had in his possession a letter with the Fulton post office cancellation stamp. The two buildings Wimer added. One was used for storage and the other for loading and unloading grain from the trains which once used the long since abandoned track.

The only tree which now stands on the site from very early pictures painted of the property is the sycamore tree to the southeast of the house. The Drumore Flower Club has maintained an herb garden on the west side of the house since the property was opened to the public. The unpainted picket fence surrounds the small garden which reaches to the west stone wall of the house. The view from the small window in the stairway to the third floor takes in the bicentennial star pattern worked in plantings of various colors and textured herb foliage.

At the time the state purchased the birthplace thirteen years ago, there was no original furniture in it. The furnishings now housed in the home are representative of the late 1700's and early 1800's when Fulton lived.

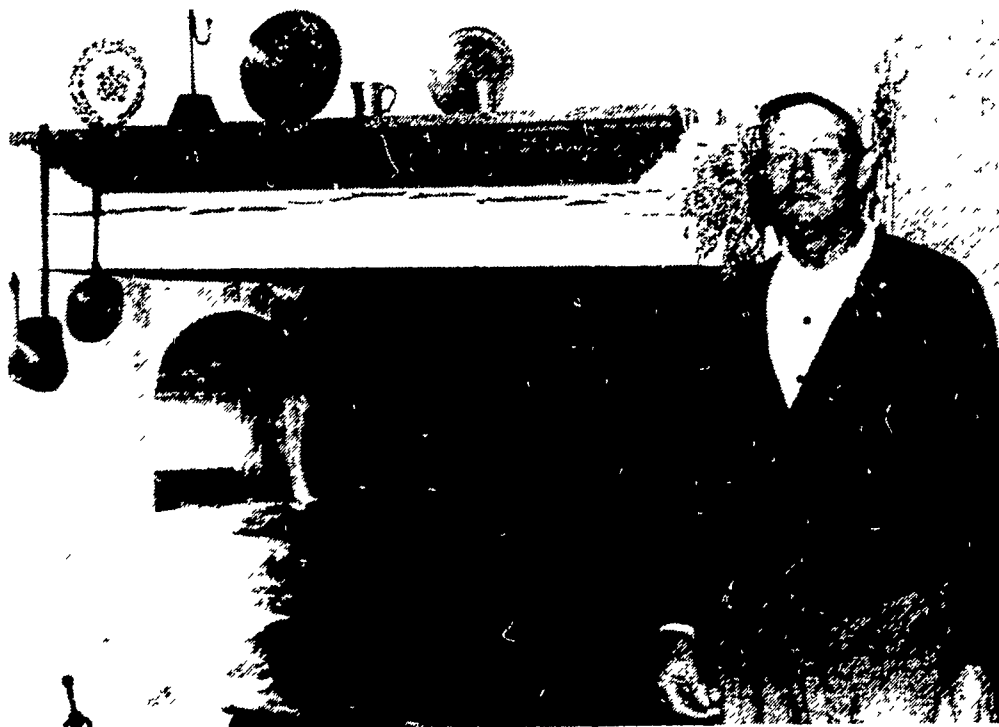

One among several of the interesting artifacts and furnishings on display pointed out by Wimer was the winding wheel known as a "weasel." Wimer explained that the spinner would wind the yarn onto the winding wheel and measure the total length by counting the clicks the wheel made. The song "Pop Goes the Weasel" was sung to accompany the winding process. Each time the wheel turned around one time a mechanism clicked and the length could be noted.

Wimer explained that Benjamin West told Fulton he would never be the best portrait painter so Fulton turned more of his attention to inventing and engineering. Trying to meet the needs of the early Napoleonic Years of warfare, Fulton worked on plans for submarines and torpedoes as well as steam powered boats. With the financial assistance of an American poet and diplomat living in France, Joel Barlow, Fulton worked on his marine devices. However, Napoleon was uninterested in his inventions and for a time Fulton experimented with destructive devices for England until operations were suspended.

In 1806, Fulton returned to America after a twenty-year absence. In 1807 he successfully powered the Clermont's maiden voyage lasting thirty-two hours up the Hudson River, making navigation history for which he is most remembered.

During his American steamboat experimentation he was funded by a new York resident, Robert Livingstone, the American Minister to France. He married Livingstone's niece and lived until his death at the age of 49 in New York state, developing steamboat lines.

A little bit of history awaits a visit this Fall. Winter hours are Friday and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sunday afternoon from 1 to 5 p.m.

Richard Wimer, caretaker at the Robert Fulton birthplace, shows the walk-in fireplace in the kitchen. Each downstairs room has its own fireplace.

On being a farm wife —And other hazards

By

"Grand finale" is a phrase that our youngsters picked up and toyed with as we enthusiastically viewed several fireworks displays during the summer's holidays.

And as the bittersweet season of red and gold again colors the countryside, Mother Nature regroups her forces to produce and direct a grand finale of Fall sight and sound.

Have you noticed how achingly brilliant and beautiful are the shades of the roses and beds of summer annuals? Marigolds have covered themselves with blooms in shades of lemon yellow, sunshiney golds and intense chocolate browns.

Celosias, sometimes called rooster combs, almost throb with life in vivid, velvety reds, purples and deep orange heads that wave in the Indian summer breeze. When cut and hung upside down in a dry dark storage place, some of their beauty can be hoarded to brighten the dark and dreary midwinter days that must inevitably come soon.

Farmers, ever busy, redouble their efforts to keep delicate and often temperamental machinery gobbling up acres of fourth-cutting alfalfa and rustling stands of corn. Blown into tall silos, or packed into massive mounds and sealed with plastic and old tires, the forages will feed hungry livestock as snow coats the ground and renders once grassy pastures into useless and barren stretches of white.

Ears of corn, that in August proudly stretched from their strong green stalks toward the life-giving rays of the summer sun, now droop their heads toward the ground, as if totally weary from the job of growing fat and full.

But the sad-looking, drooping ears of golden grain are just another trick of nature to protect her bounty. By turning themselves upside down, the ears raise their tough protective coats of thick brown husk toward the often prolonged rains of the harvest season. Rain would rot and destroy the ear if it remained turned upward to catch the drops; instead the moisture runs off the umbrella-like husk and falls to the waiting soil, where it's much more welcome.

Clear, cool nights will be lit by eerie whiteness glowing down from the harvest moon, which somehow seems nearer and brighter than at any other time of the year.

Pumpkins and gourds patiently wait to be gathered before the first blackening touch of frost, and somehow the remaining tomatoes and peppers taste better than ever because their days are now numbered.

But, for me, the glory that is Fall suddenly turns to sadness as I wake during the night to the haunting call of the southward bound Canada goose.

For beautiful as these restless birds are, they signal that one more Summer, one more season of lush greenery and productive fields, one more season of our lives as tillers of the soil is past, and can never again be regained.

Houseplant study course offered

UNIVERSITY PARK - If you have not made indoor gardening part of your interior decorating, it may be a good time to start.

The wide range of plants that can be successfully grown indoors and the ways they can be displayed can help the home owner become a creative decorator.

For those who need help in choosing and/or caring for houseplants, Penn State specialists have written two courses.

One course, entitled Houseplant Culture, provides basic information about growing plants indoors. It includes lighting, heat and humidity control, suitable soil mixes, diseases, and containers. Some plants that stand adverse conditions are listed.

The other course is Selection of Indoor Plants. It describes species suitable for a variety of environments; foliage plants for shade and low light intensities; plants for semi-sun; and plants for full sun. Additional lessons discuss how to force bulbs for Winter bloom indoors, how to successfully raise succulents, and plants to choose for greenhouse growing.

Interested persons may get both courses for $7.50. If ordered separately, send $3.00 for Houseplant Culture and $5.00 for Selection of Indoor Plants. To order, specify the course name and send to Box 5000, University Park, Pa., 16802. Make checks payable to Penn State.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

The forces of Nature have always intrigued me. Although, I'd be the first to admit that I don't understand our great physical universe and its "workings". The night sky with its stars, planets and moon has always been a source of wonder and awe. Maybe if I had a better scientific knowledge of astronomy, I'd not feel the same reverence for this majestic display.

There are so many unanswered questions. How does one seed produce a root crop like beets or carrots while another seed sends a green vine crawling over the earth and bearing squash, cucumbers and melons? How can one egg produce a tiny wren while another gives us a raucous bluejay?

The early Swiss-German settlers of Lancaster County hunted for fertile soil and chose those areas where the black walnut tree grew the largest as being the richest. It was also, in most cases, a limestone soil. This brings me back to another frightening aspect of Nature's great forces - the sinkhole.

Many years ago, on a ridge on our farm, my father found an opening which had beneath it a small cavern large enough for a team or horses and a wagon. We children were greatly impressed as we inspected this wonder.

This past week, my daughter and I inspected another three foot opening in our meadow; almost completely hidden by tufts of grass. Maybe you remember that two months ago I mentioned that one of our heifers was missing and no amount of sleuthing produced any clues. Here, before us, was the answer. At the bottom of this underground channel, lay the skeleton and horns of our animal. Was it's neck broken in the fall or did it starve? We'll never know.

Quilting, tole painting to be taught

WEST CHESTER - The Chester County Extension Service of Penn State is offering courses on quilting and tole painting.

The quilting course to be held on Tuesdays, October 10, 17, 24, 31, from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. The series of four meetings will cover basic techniques for hand-quilting. The instruction will include making a pattern, use of applique and patchwork, and creating a quilted pillow top. Details on how to make a quilting frame will be demonstrated. Instructor for the course is Mrs. Doris Hoag. Deadline for registration is October 3, 1978.

The tole painting course to be held on Thursdays, November 2, 16, 30, Dec. 7, from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. This course is designed for beginners; no talent is needed, just a desire to paint. Recipes will be used to create fruits, flowers and other decorative items on a sampler board. The cost of the workshop includes the entire kit of supplies necessary to complete the beginning project and get started on this new creativity. A person will need to bring a small clean jar, newspaper and old nylon hose. Instructor for the course will be Mrs. Betty Badgeley. Deadline for registration is October 23, 1978.

Livestock & Grain Bodies

Bigger Than Ever, Better Than Ever

Precision engineered roll formed 52" high steel sides provide greater capacity at less cost.

We've built rugged truck bodies for over 50 years and today we're continuing that tradition. That's the reason you can't make a better investment than an Omaha Standard steel or hardwood farm body.

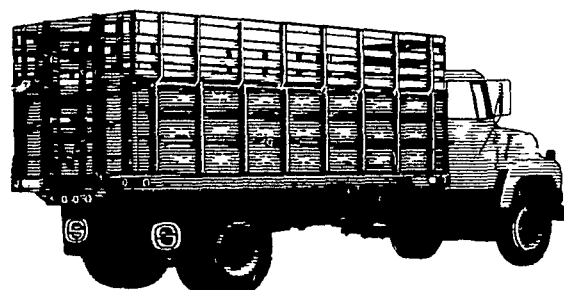

■ One-piece roll formed steel sides with built in tarp rail. Available in 28", 40" and 52" extra-capacity heights all with maximum corrugation for maximum strength.

■ 40" and 48" hardwood sides also available the truck body Omaha Standard built its reputation on.

■ The toughest platform in the business - laminated wood, smooth steel or tread plate.

■ Easy-conversion hardwood upper racks greater flex and life than steel fold down racks.

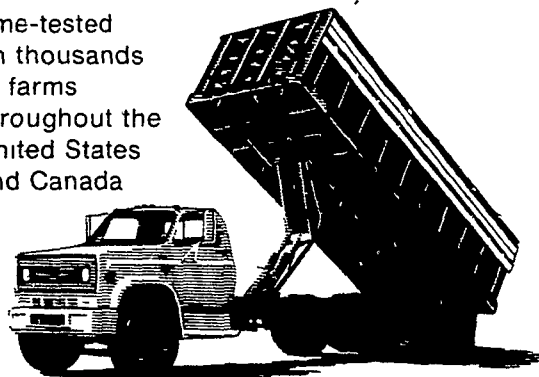

■ A full line of rugged gates all engineered to make your job easier.

Omaha Standard Hoists

■ Seven precision-engineered scissor hoists from 4 to 34 tons for bodies 8' to 24' "Olympic Series" twin telescopic hoists with greater torsional stability for bodies 16' to 26' and 15 to 43 ton capacity.

Omaha Standard bodies and hoists time-tested on thousands of farms throughout the United States and Canada.

Look to Omaha Standard for the best. Our equipment takes all the punishment you can dish out and comes back for more, year after year. We stake our reputation on it.

We've been a part of successful farming and ranching for over 50 years.

Farm Women Societies

Berks Co. Society 1

A "come as you are" party highlighted the September meeting of the Berks County Farm Women Society 1 held in the home of Mrs. Else Badrow, Douglasville. In addition, the twenty members present sewed cancer pads for Berks Heim.

Twenty-members will be attending the annual County Convention to be held on October 7 at the Vo-Ag Building in Bernville.

The group discussed plans to see Fiddler on the Roof in the near future.

Next month's meeting will be a Halloween party on October 11, at the home of Mrs. Esther Berndt, Oley R1, starting at 8 p.m.

Lancaster Co. Society 23

Preparing food for the Ephrata Fair kept Lancaster County Farm Women Society 23 busy this week. They prepared over 200 pounds of chicken along with various other food items to sell. Saturday, September 30, the Society will be serving breakfast starting at 6 a.m. Lunch platters will be served starting at 11 a.m.

A short business meeting was conducted by President Miriam Moore. Contributions were given to the Lancaster County Bookmobile and the Lancaster County 4-H judging team.

Guests at the Pine Haven Retirement Home near Ephrata will be entertained at lunch, Sept. 28 at the Ephrata Fair.

Members along with their husbands will attend the Host Corral Dinner Theater on October 19, Rachel Hollinger and Barbara Lenger reported serving at the Ephrata Hospital snack bar in September.

Next month's meeting will be October 21 hosted by Mrs. Rachel Hollinger, Penryn. Edith Nolt will demonstrate the art of gum paste flowers.

Lancaster Co. Society 28

An annual harvest sale was held by the Lancaster County Farm Women Society 28 on September 14 at the home of Mrs. Raymond Landis. Mrs. Jacob Bare was co-hostess.

President Mrs. Elvin Hess conducted the business meeting. A donation of $15 was given to United Way. A work night will be held October 11, 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Elvin Hess to make decorations for the County Convention on November 4.

The next meeting will be held October 28, 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Clyde Slaymaker, Jr. Husbands will be the guests at a Barn party.

Lancaster Co. Society 30

An evening of games and refreshments with the residents at Friendship Community was the September meeting of Lancaster County Farm Women Society 30. Hostesses for the evening was Betty Neff, Lois Kauffman, Nancy Neff and Charlotte Yoder. A short business meeting followed.

October 19, 6 p.m. will be the next meeting date. The place is Three Little Bakers Dinner Theater with "Kismet" featured that evening. Sally Martin, East Earl is in charge of tickets.

Lancaster Co. Society 31

Chalk drawings by Joyce Bushong was the September meeting feature of Lancaster County Farm Women Society 31 held at the home of Mrs. Donna Kreider and co-hosted by Mrs. Mary Witmer.

New officers elected were: Donna Kreider, president; Eleanor Kreider, vice-president; Linda Landis, secretary; and Janet Badger, treasurer.

Lebanon Co. Society 14

Lebanon County Society of Farm Women 14 held their September meeting at the home of Mrs. David Gish, Palmyra. Mrs. Robert Weidler served as co-hostess. Thirteen members were present.

A demonstration on microwave cooking was featured by Mrs. Thomas Morrissey. Members then sampled the various foods made in the oven.

President Mrs. George Unzemach led the business meeting. Plans were discussed for the County Convention on October 11 at the Annville Church of the Brethren.

The next meeting will be held on October 17 at the home of Mrs. Elvin Kreider, Hershey.

York Co. Society 12

A corn roast outing held at Caledonia State Park was the location of September's meeting of York County Farm Women Society 12. Eleven members and guests attended.

A brief business meeting was conducted by President Janet Kohler. The group will sponsor a rummage sale September 25 and 26 in York. Mrs. John Massa, Mrs. Chester Craley, and Mrs. Romane Trout were in charge of the program when Society 32, Glen Rock, was entertained at a covered dish luncheon on September 26.

The Society will be in charge of the Memorial Service at the York County Farm Women Convention at St. Matthews Lutheran Church, York, in November.

Tickets were also sold for the musical "I do, I do" to be held at Wischaven Hall in September. It is being sponsored by the York County Farm Women.

York Co. Society 26

Mrs. Mary Hake hosted a luncheon at the September meeting of York County Farm Women Society 26. Vice-president Mrs. Richard Beard presided over the business meeting.

The Society reported being entertained by Farm Women Society 23. They enjoyed a bus trip to the Cloisters, Reading, and a tour through the Pennsylvania Dutch Country.

The treasurer reported the refreshment booth held at York County Fair grounds was a success. An evening at the York County Dinner Theater was also reported successful as members were entertained by the musical "I do, I do."

Members are planning to attend York County Farm Women's Church night, October 8, 7 p.m. at Christ Lutheran Church, Dallastown. A few members are also planning to attend the York County Farm Women's bus trip to Niagara Falls and Canada. Chair-women for the trip is Mrs. Nedra Graybeal.

The afternoon program featured a representative from the York County Cancer Association. A film was shown and needs of the patient when coming home after surgery were discussed.

Mrs. Judy Muth, Etters, will host the October 10 meeting at 7 p.m. Plans for fall activities will be made at this meeting.

You can get an estimate of closing costs within three days of applying for a mortgage loan. The National Association of Realtors also notes that closing costs vary from lender to lender.

IH offers 'Stand-By 7' service

COLUMBUS, Ohio - For the second time this year and for the third consecutive year, International Harvester agricultural equipment dealers will be providing emergency parts and service for farmers through a special company-dealer program called "Stand-By-7."

From September 30, 1978 through October 29, 1978, during the busy harvest season in the northeast, participating IH dealers will be available on a seven days a week basis to provide customers with parts and service needed to keep harvesting equipment operating. The program is also conducted during the critical planting season in the spring.

If the dealer doesn't have the needed part in stock he simply calls a special Stand-By-7 telephone number which features three alternative stock sources. The part will be located regionally, nationally, or from the manufacturing plant producing such parts.

"The program reflects our opinion that IH and its dealers have a mutual obligation to our customer," said J.E. Daniels, Marketing Planning Manager, Parts and Service, for the Albany, N.Y. Agricultural Equipment Region. "When the farmer's time is valued at hundreds of dollars an hour during the planting and harvesting season, the benefits of such support come clearly into focus," he said.

Earl Geib employee of month

ELIZABETHTOWN - Has anyone ever said to you, "Do it in your spare time?" Well, saying that to Earl Geib, employee of the month for September at Plain and Fancy Egg Ranch is sure to evoke a response like "What's spare time?"

Aside from working an average of 35 hours per week in the cooler at P&F's E-town processing plant, Earl works on his father's farm in Manheim.

And as if that's not enough, Earl is also employed as a chicken catcher for a poultry service in Manheim, where he works as often as they need him.

When asked what he does in what little spare time as he must have, Earl answers, "I come here to Plain and Fancy to help out!"

An appreciation plaque and a $25 savings bond are coming Earl's way as Employee of the month.

PARK CITY: 10 TO 9 30

In my book, it is now officially the middle of the fair season

How can I tell? My case of sniffles which has been plaguing me ever since the beginning of August when I did my first fair coverage, has finally exploded into one colossal cold Kerchoo!!!!

You have to excuse me, these sneezes keep interrupting my concentration

I love fair season. It's a time of seeing people not visited since last year's fair season, it's an excitement of watching people and animals competing in the showing, it's a happy experience of watching someone who has put a lot of hard work into a project win a blue ribbon

It's also standing out in the night air without a jacket because it didn't seem cold at first so I left the blasted thing back in the car. And the parking area is only three miles over, past the bridge, on the other side of the county

Fair season means holding somebody's animal while they comb their hair for a picture, jumping up and down like an idiot making weird noises trying to get an uncooperative cow to put her ears forward, and learning that the champion steer had been picked as a project because it's nine year old owner thought it had pretty eyes

Acchhhhhooooo!!!!

Now it will also mean carrying a wad of tissues in my camera bag, along with the pills, and the cough medicine. As if that camera bag isn't overstuffed already

But that doesn't mean I'll not be going to the fairs as much, just because of this little temporary sniffilitus. I'm still coming, cold or not, those fairs are too much fun to miss

Fair season—there's just no other time of the year like it

WHAT'S NEW

"SAFETRIP" SUBSOILERS
Lely of Wilson, N.C.

introduces a totally new line of subsoilers, the "Safetrip" series. In contrast to the shank design on conventional units which are attached to the bottom of the main frame, the Lely shanks are extended behind, over, and in front of the main frame where the pivot point is located. Thus, combined with the parabolic design of the shanks enables the tip to virtually lift up immediately when an obstacle is hit, rather than travel downward before lifting as do conventional units. Welded support plates provide better support than conventional units, especially when the shank trips.

The "Safetrip" shanks feature a totally unique shearbolt arrangement. The shearbolt is placed on the rear top of the shank, well above the main frame bar. Because of this location, only a 3/8" Grade 2 bolt is required which can amount to hundreds of dollars in savings per year for shearbolt replacement. A shear plate on top of the shank combines with steel bushings surrounding the bolt to give a clean shear. Bolt stretching is reduced and the bolt is easily replaced, the manufacturer says.

There is a clean clearance of 30 inch under the frame and because of the unique parabolic "Safetrip" shank design, there is less problem with crop residue plugging. The standard Lely Subsoiler will perform in some circumstances where coulters are required on competitive units. The nine and eleven shank models feature the unique Lely "Double V" frame with two lead shanks. Each is positioned behind the tractor's tire where trash is generally mashed better

The parabolic design of the shank requires less horsepower and gives better soil shattering. The "Double V" design restricts the total length, making easier control of the working depth of the outside shanks and the subsoiler as a whole, says the manufacturer

Models are available from three to eleven shanks with a trail type option. Coulters can be added for very heavy trash conditions

HONEY APPLE SNITZ WITH DUMPLINGS

4 cups dried apples (about one pound)
4 cups water
Honey
1 cup sifted whole wheat flour
1 1/4 teaspoon baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon brown sugar
milk

Soak the dried apples in the water for 30 minutes. Bring to a boil and then simmer 30 minutes or until tender. Sweeten with honey to taste. Combine the flour, salt, baking powder, and sugar in a bowl. Stir in enough milk to make a stiff dumpling batter. By the tablespoon, drop the batter onto the top of the simmering apples. Cover tightly and cook for 15 minutes. Yields eight servings.

APPLE-SPINACH TOSS

2 red apples (tart)
1 pound spinach
8 slices bacon, fried crisp and crumbled
3/4 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
1/2 cup frozen orange juice concentrate (thawed)

Wash spinach, remove stems. Tear leaves into bite size pieces, dry and chill. Right before serving, quarter, core and slice unpared apples into large salad bowl. Add spinach and bacon; toss. Mix mayonnaise and orange juice concentrate; serve separately to spoon over salad. Serves eight.

NUT CRUNCH APPLE MUFFINS

1/2 cup milk
1/4 cup salad oil
1 cup grated apple
2 cups flour
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 cup granulated sugar
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
Topping:
1/2 cup brown sugar (packed)

1/2 cup broken nuts
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
Beat egg, stir in oil, apples and milk. Mix in remaining ingredients only until flour is moistened. Batter should be lumpy. Fill 12 medium greased muffin cups with the batter.

Topping: mix brown sugar, nuts and cinnamon. Top batter which is in the muffin cups with this mixture. Bake at 400°F., 25 to 30 minutes.

RAW APPLE CAKE

1/2 cup shortening
1 cup granulated sugar
2 cups cake flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 1/2 cups ground raw apples (tart ones)
1 cup chopped nuts
1 cup chopped raisins
Sift flour, measure and add sugar, soda, salt, and cinnamon. Sift again. Work the shortening into the mixture as for pastry. Stir in chopped nuts and raisins that have dusted with flour. Add ground apples. Stir enough to only blend ingredients together. Pour into a greased 4x8x3 1/2 inch loaf pan. Bake at 325°F. for one hour. If apples are not tart, use less soda.

APPLE TAPIOCA

1 cup raisins
2 quarts water
1/2 cup minute tapioca
1/2 cup granulated sugar
2 quarts sliced, pared apples
1 cup granulated or brown sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
Bring raisins and water to a boil. Mix tapioca and sugar together. Add to water, stirring constantly. Boil three to five minutes or until tapioca is not clear. Remove from heat.

Mix sliced and pared apples, granulated or brown sugar, and cinnamon in a large greased baking dish. (We put it in our largest roasting pan). Pour the tapioca over the apple mixture. Bake at 375°F. for

Home on the Range

Cabbage captures the appetites of many

The versatility of the cabbage head is demonstrated this week in the Home on the Range by the wide variety of recipes that our readers have sent in. Today you can find anything from cole slaw to salad, cooked cabbage to pickled cabbage. All will add to the dinner table.

Next week we will feature the garden cleanup for hard as it is to believe, Fall is here and Winter is fast approaching. The remaining weeks in October will feature recipes for apples, pumpkins, and wild game, so send your recipe contribution to Lancaster Farming, Home on the Range, Box 366, Lititz, Pa. 17543.

In the Recipe Exchange column, we still need some recipes for Moravian buns, taffy, peanut butter kisses, candied dill pickles, and corn pie. Please send any and all good recipes for these to the Recipe Exchange, same address.

COOKED CABBAGE

4 cups course chopped cabbage
1 cup sliced hot dogs
1 chopped onion
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon butter

Mix together. Cook over medim heat until tender. Serve warm.

Ruth E. Petre
Hagerstown, Md.

AUNT HANNAH'S CABBAGE SALAD

2 cups chopped cabbage
¼ chopped parsley
1 teaspoon chopped onion

Dressing

3 tablespoons granulated sugar
1 teaspoon salt
3 tablespons vinegar
2 tablespoons vegetable oil
1/8 teaspoon celery seed

Put the last five ingredients in a jar and shake well. Mix the salad ingredients and pour the dressing on top of the salad just before serving.

Spring City, Pa.

CABBAGE AND FRUIT SALAD

1 large head red cabbage
1 head celery
1½ head white cabbage
2 grapefruit
2 dessert apples
3 tablespoons mayonnaise
¼ cup sour cream pinch of salt
pinch of pepper
8 walnut halves

Remove the outer leaves from the red cabbage and cut the stalk close to the leaves. Cut out the middle of the cabbage carefully, so that the circle of leaves remains intact, like a bowl. You can use the inner part of the cabbage for another recipe. Soak the circle of leaves in cold water for one hour, then leave to drain. Trim the celery and cut into thin strips. Remove the outer leaves from the white cabbage. Quarter it and cut out the core. Shred the cabbage. Blanch the cabbage and celery strips in boiling water for two minutes, then drain well and allow to cool. Peel the grapefruit, removing all the white pith.

FREEZER COLE SLAW

2 medium heads of shredded cabbage shredded carrots
green and red chopped sweet peppers
1 tablespoon salt
1½ cups granulated sugar
¾ cup vinegar
¼ cup water
1 teaspoon celery seed
1 teaspoon mustard seed

Mix two heads of shredded cabbage, enough carrots and green and red sweet peppers so that the mixture looks pretty, and one tablespoon salt and let stand for one hour. While the cabbage mixture is setting, mix the other ingredients in a medium saucepan, bring to a boil; let cool, pour over cabbage mixture at the end of the hour. After you have poured liquid mixture over cabbage and mixed well, put in freezer containers and into freezer.

STUFFED CABBAGE ROLLS IN TOMATO AND MUSHROOM SOUP

1 large head of cabbage
3 pounds ground beef
1 cup instant quick cooking rice
2 eggs
1 chopped onion
salt and pepper to taste
2 cans tomato soup (10½ oz. cans)
1 can cream of mushroom soup

Boil cabbage leaves in salted water until soft. Mix ground beef, instant rice, eggs, onion, salt and pepper, and a little cold water to let the rice expand in the meat while cooking. Divide filling equally on cabbage leaves. Fold sides over and roll up. Place rolls in a pot and add tomato soup. Then add mushroom soup diluted with three cans of water. if you prefer a thicker sauce, add a small can of tomato paste. Cook for two hours. You can also bake it in the oven for two hours. It is done when a fork pierces softly in rolls.

Cabbage Captures

1½ cups grated cheese
½ cup fine dry bread crumbs
2 tablespoons butter, melted

Discard soiled leaves, slice cabbage coarsely into saucpan. Add salt and water, not quite enough to cover, and cook for seven minutes. Drain, saving water. Melt butter, blend in flour, add milk, and ¾ cup water drained from cabbage. Stir until sauce cooks, add salt. Place a layer of cooked cabbage in the bottom of a casserole, then pour part of the sauce over and sprinkle with part of the cheese. Repeat, ending with the cheese on top. Sprinkle with bread crumbs which have been blended with the melted butter. Bake at 350 Degrees F. for 20 minutes. Makes six servings.

FROZEN COLE SLAW

1 medium head cabbage
1 large carrot
1 green pepper
1 small onion

Syrup

1 cup vinegar
¾ cup water
2 cups granulated sugar
1 teaspoon celery seed
1 teaspoon mustard seed

Shred together all the above ingredients, than add one teaspoons salt and let stand for one hour. Make syrup. Boil for one minute, cool. Drain off water from cabbage, add syrup. Mix all together. Can be frozen and refrozen.

PICKLED CABBAGE

1 medium head cabbage
1 teaspoon salt
1 carrot
1 pepper

Dressing

1 cup vinegar
¼ cup water
1 teaspoon mustard seed
1¼ cup granulated sugar
1 teaspoon celery seed

Mix grated cabbage, carrot, pepper, and salt together. The blender does a nice job of chopping cabbage, carrot, and pepper. Then set aside. Mix ingredients for dressing, then boil for one minute. When cool, add to vegetables. This can be frozen.

Mrs. Samuel C. Brubaker

STUFFED CABBAGE LEAVES

2 cans sauerkraut (1 pound cans)
2 cans condensed tomato soup
2 pounds hamburger
1 cup instant quick cooking rice
½ cup chopped green pepper
salt and pepper to taste
1 head of cabbage

Dip cabbage head in boiling water to soften leaves. Take out and separate leaves. Mix hamburger, rice, green peppers, onion, salt, and pepper. Put sauerkraut in a saucpan. Fill cabbage leaves with hamburger mixture and roll small amounts, about ½ cup to a cabbage leaf, in cabbage leaf. Secure with toothpicks. Place on top of sauerkraut. pour tomato soup, condensed, over all. Simmer, covered for 45 minutes. Serves 6 to 8.

Nuclear generators 'a must'

HERSHEY -- Pennsylvania must look more and more to the use of nuclear power to meet the increasing demand for electricity in the immediate years to come, Brooke R. Hartman, president of the Pennsylvania Electric Association (PEA), told a meeting of the Pennsylvania Council of Republican Women here on Monday. Hartman said the Commonwealth is exceptionally fortunate in having a wealth of coal, which at present makes it possible to economically generate some 73 per cent of the state's electricity from that fuel. However, he pointed out, "The development and use of coal has been hampered by all kinds of road blocks, including environmental regulations that in effect make it illegal to use Pennsylvania coal in some places. With this uncertainty about future use of coal, Hartman said, utilities are looking to nuclear power, which now supplies about 11 per cent of all electricity produced in the state. "Projections by Pennsylvania's utilities indicate that the use of nuclear fuel to generate electricity will be more than tripled during the next 10 years, and this will result in important cost savings," he said.

Hartman explained that Pennsylvania's growing population, its expanding economy, and people shifting to electricity from expensive oil and natural gas will require generation of a projected 143.9 billion kilowatt hours of electric energy by 1987, or an increase of 45 per cent over 1978.

Graduated payment mortgages, a new type of mortgage plan, are designed primarily to help young, first-time home buyers. As the National Association of Realtors explains, monthly payments start out low and increase gradually over a five- to ten-year period. The increase is geared to match the homeowner's rise in income

Proper Handling of Frozen Food

The type of appliance used to store your frozen foods determines the length of time such foods may be expected to maintain freshness.

Food kept in the ice-cube section of a conventional one-door refrigerator should be used within a few days. Such refrigerators will probably have a temperature reading between +15 to +20 degrees F. and some frozen foods begin to thaw in this temperature range, even though the packages feel hard.

The frozen food compartment of a conventional one-door refrigerator will likely register +10 to +15 degrees F. and food should be used within a period of several weeks.

A well-insulated freezer-compartment of a 2-door refrigerator and freezer combination should register Zero to +5 degrees F. At the higher temperature you can retain freshness for several months.

Frozen foods in a separate household freezer, chest or upright, may be kept for one year at Zero degrees or lower.

The best source of information for thawing and cooking is on your frozen food package. All frozen food companies have determined the methods which are best for their particular product. Usually, frozen vegetables and entrees do not need to be thawed before they are cooked. Cakes should stand one hour at room temperature; breads ½ hour, unopened. Frozen fruits should be defrosted as close to eating time as possible. They should have a few ice crystals clinging to them for best eating.

Taking advantage of sales to stock your freezer is sound economics. Here are some tips on managing your freezer space: Never overload the freezer; defrost the freezer when the frost is ½ inch thick; keep a refrigerator-freezer thermometer inside. Maintain a Zero degree F. temperature; Keep like foods together on shelf or in baskets; label and date foods and make sure to keep an up-to-date inventory.

First impressions can sell a home? In fact, the National Association of Realtors emphasizes that a bad first impression may send prospects scurrying away to look elsewhere. Investing some time in manicuring the lawn and painting the exterior will add to its curbside appeal...and will help you sell the home sooner and more profitably.

Apply lime in the fall for a better crop next summer

Mixer/Feeder Wagon

- thoroughly mixes and delivers a total dairy ration all along the feed bunk
- model 860 mixes up to 295 cu. ft. at a time
- big, 36" discharge chute with variable, hydraulic height control
- electronic scale for precise formulations

AGWAY MODEL 780 WEIGH-MIX FEEDING MACHINE

The Model 780 is electrically powered and self-propelled.

It has a digital electronic scale which weighs each forage and grain component. A signal indicates when the right amount of each is added. The mixing system then does a thorough blending job. As the cart moves down the alley, a push of a button delivers the proper amount of nutritionally balanced TMR for each cow.

Now, TMR is for you, even if your cows are in stalls or tie stalls. Stop in for full details.

SAVE ENERGY AND GET MAXIMUM EFFICIENCY FROM YOUR MILKING SYSTEM ...

Here's How It Works!

The ARC Energy Converter's heat exchanger is a tube inside a tube. The hot discharge gas (refrigerant) from the compressor is brought into contact with the water through a copper wall. The hot gas is circulated by the compressor at temperatures varying from 180°F to 220°F (82° to 104°C).

Water is pumped from the cold water portion of the water heater and/or storage tank through the ARC Energy Converter and back to the hot water portion of the water heater and/or storage tank. The pump will continue to circulate water as long as the compressor operates. If the water becomes too hot (entire water supply 180°F or 82°C) the pump will stop. The pump will automatically start if hot water is used creating a new demand.

Shaw wins Pa. 4-H Holstein contest

HARRISBURG — Steven Shaw, 15, of Oley R2, Berks County, showing "Wa-Ka-Sta T Duke Leo Gi Gi," a 7-year-old, won grand and senior 4-H Holstein championship honors at the 23rd Pennsylvania Junior Dairy Show. The cow was sired by "Dee Ann Silver Tim." Steven, a 4-H member for seven years, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Shaw. He also won a master fitter award.

Linda Yoder, 17, of Elverson R1, Chester County, captured the reserve grand and reserve senior championships with "Rocky-Side Agnew Spunk," a 4-year-old. The champion was sired by "Rocky-Side Bootmaker Agnew." Linda, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jefferson Yoder, has been a 4-H member for nine years. She also won a master showman award.

Carol Zepp, 19, of New Oxford R2, Adams County, won the junior championship with "Zeppdale Chloe Gay Star," a senior yearling. Sire of the junior champion is "Harrisburg Gay Ideal." Carol, a 4-H member for nine years, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Zepp. She also won a master fitter award. She is the 1978 Adams County Dairy Princess.

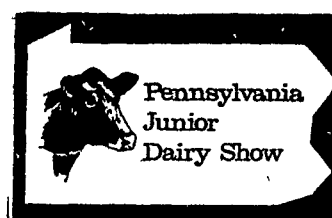

Paul Cashell, 15, of Chambersburg R6, Franklin County, showing "Ni-Crete Comap Flame," a junior yearling, captured the reserve junior championship in 4-H Holstein competition. The animal was sired by "Indianhills Senator Flame." Paul, the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Cashell, has been a 4-H member for six years. He also won a master fitter award.

E-town Fair ends with hog sale, tractor driving

By KENDACE BORRY
ELIZABETHTOWN

The grand champion hog, weighing 215 pounds and shown by Peggy Mullen, Bainbridge R1, was sold for $2.15 per pound at the Elizabethtown Fair's first annual hog auction a week ago Friday.

The animal was purchased by the Lancaster County Farm Diner for a total price of $462.25. It had come from the mediumweight class in the show.

The reserve champion of the show, which had been shown by Janice Kaylor, Elizabethtown R3, brought $2.10 per pound on the auction block. It was purchased by the Hatfield Packing Company, Hatfield.

Hatfield Packing Company also purchased both the champion and the reserve champion in the lightweight class. The champion, which had been shown by Tom Lytle, brought 76 cents per pound while the reserve champion, shown by Janice Kaylor, sold for 70 cents per pound.

Groff Meats, Elizabethtown, bought the heavyweight champion, which had been shown by Les Kreider, Elizabethtown R1. The hog brought 83 cents per pound.

Bernie Gish's reserve champion heavyweight went for 95 cents per pound, and was purchased by the Vintage Sales Stables.

Average price of the lightweight hogs at the sale was 62 cents per pound, mediumweights averaged 86 cents per pound, and the heavyweights averaged 70 cents per pound.

Thirty-five animals were sold at the sale.

On Saturday, the fair was the scene of a tractor driving contest.

Won by Jay Hilsher, Elizabethtown R3, the contestants were judged on their abilities to handle different situations handling various pieces of farm equipment.

Peggy Mullen's champion hog was bought by the Lancaster County Farm Diner, Rheems, for the price of $2.15 per pound. Representing the diner was Jim Mummau.

The contest included taking a tractor and manure spreader through an obstacle course, backing a four wheel wagon into a stall, and backing a tractor, harvester,

Agriculture not to be blamed for cost of food

By SALLY BAIR
Staff Writer
LANCASTER
Economically, agriculture is not to be blamed for the high cost of food, Mrs. Harold Gross, state coordinator for Penn's Agri Women, told a small group of urban women at a public affairs seminar sponsored by the Young Women's Christian Association Tuesday.

Mrs. Gross, a York County farm wife, said that as a consumer she, too, shudders at the high cost of food because "I know the price paid to the producer in many instances."

She pointed out that agriculture is the nation's largest employer, with 14 to 17 million people working in some phase of agriculture, from producing to processing to distribution.

She added that every strike has some effect upon the cost of production of food.

"The family farm system is providing the best food at the least cost to the consumer of any other agriculture system in the world today," Mrs. Gross noted. In 1950 the cost of food was 21.3 per cent of the average gross income. By 1976 it had dropped to 16.8 per cent, giving the consumer more money to spend for other things.

With Penn's Agri Women committed to preserving the family farm system, Mrs. Gross pointed out that it is necessary to "bring about a reasonable profit for the agricultural producer while taking into account his investment of labor, management and capital." With some concern, she added, "The family farm system as we know it is rapidly being forced out of business due to the 'below cost of production' prices which have affected almost all agriculture commodities."

Gross noted that if the family farm system does fail, something will replace it to farm the land, and if it turns out to be large corporations and labor unions, consumers may find they will have to decide first how much food their paychecks will buy and then every other purchase will become "secondary luxuries."

In the last twenty-five years, Mrs. Gross said, the total acreage in Pennsylvania in farm land has been reduced from 50 per cent of the total land area to 25 per cent of the total. Nationally the number of acres in farmland has dwindled to 1.7 billion acres, three million fewer than a year ago. In 1940 there were 169,027 farms in Pennsylvania averaging 86 acres and in 1974 there were 53,171 farms averaging 154 acres.

Nevertheless, she said, with fewer farmers and less farmland each farmer can feed himself and 56 other people.

Agriculture's great ability to feed the people of the world, according to Mrs. Gross, can be partially attributed to advances in technology which includes the use of pesticides and preservatives. She said, "Some of these chemicals appear to make Ralph Nader and his cohorts sick, but on the other side helped the rest of use to grow stronger."

healthier and live longer than ever before."

Mrs. Gross said farmers are keeping ahead of the multiplying population only because of "better tools, better pesticides and herbicides, better plant foods and better seed strains." We are going to need more, not less. If we take away the scientific aids to agriculture in the name of health the time may come when we will regress to producing less food and in the end people may go hungry." She said farmers cannot work with the technology of 40 years ago, and if farmers are financially squeezed out of business then food will become scarce and it will become a moral issue to decide who will eat and who will starve.

Mrs. Gross discussed some of the problems caused farmers by government regulations, which she says are necessary - to a degree. "Regulation is fine, but let's not over regulate to the point that it becomes ridiculous. We may just regulate ourselves out of jobs and food." She also questioned the wisdom of edicts from agencies like the Occupational Safety and Hazard Agency who have one safety flyer which contains the statement, "Be careful of wet manure, you may slip and fall and injure yourself."

In relating some of the problems with involvement of certain social agencies working with migrant workers, Mrs. Gross lamented that in some cases Christian churches have lent money and support to groups which have harassed workers and farmers. "With

Milk contains cholesterol inhibitors

UNIVERSITY PARK — When it comes to avoiding heart attacks, some Americans might take a lesson from the Masai herdsmen of Kenya and Tanzania in Africa. Living almost exclusively on milk, the Masai have a much lower blood serum cholesterol — the cause of hardening of the arteries — than people so-called "normal" diets.

Limited studies with Americans have suggested that eating yogurt or drinking milk produces similar low cholesterol counts in blood serum as with the Masai. Now food scientists at The Pennsylvania State University have isolated two compounds in milk which suppress buildup of cholesterol.

The first compound is identified as orotic acid, according to Dr. Robert D. McCarthy, professor of food science in Penn State's College of Agriculture.

McCarthy and associates have determined that the cow mammary gland produces and secretes orotic acid rapidly. Studies are underway to determine if this compound has a biochemical role in the secretion process.

Likewise, investigations are underway to ascertain the effect of orotic acid on liver metabolism in addition to cholesterol suppression. Most cholesterol is produced in the liver and is carried by the blood for use by other tissues.

McCarthy said cholesterol synthesis involves 26 enzymatic steps beginning with acetate, a simple two carbon compound. Orotic acid blocks the synthesis at the second step, he reported.

Experiments are underway to identify the second compound in milk which inhibits buildup of cholesterol. McCarthy indicated this inhibitor is high in molecular weight, is not a standard lipid or protein, and blocks the synthesis of cholesterol at a different enzymatic step than orotic acid.

It was also pointed out that human or mother's milk likewise inhibits cholesterol synthesis by the liver. This is not due to orotic acid, as with cow's milk, since mother's milk does not contain this compound.

McCarthy and two associates summarized their findings in the Summer issue of "Science in Agriculture," the quarterly magazine of the Agricultural Experiment Station at Penn State. Co-authors were G.A. Porter, senior research aide in food science, and Ahmed A. Ahmed of Fatih University, Libya, former graduate student. Copies are available from most county offices of the Cooperative Extension Service or from the Mailing Room, 112 Agricultural Administration Building, University Park, Pa. 16802.

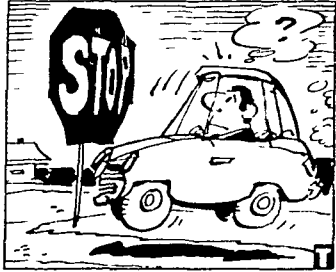

The article noted that cholesterol is essential for proper functioning of every cell in the body. In the human, cholesterol has two sources — diet and internal synthesis. These two sources should balance each other, it was stated, to supply properly the body's requirements. Hopefully, the body will vary its production of cholesterol, it was claimed, depending on the quantity obtained from food.

To identify the compounds suppressing cholesterol, the Penn States first ascertained that rats fed milk developed low serum cholesterol and had reduced liver production of cholesterol compared to rats fed "normal" diets. Then the scientists divided milk into its various components to determine what fraction contained the cholesterol-lowering factor. Using extensive fractionation processes — skimming, dialysis, high pressure liquid chromatography, anion exchange chromatography, and gas chromatography — they were able to isolate the orotic acid compound suppressing synthesis of cholesterol.

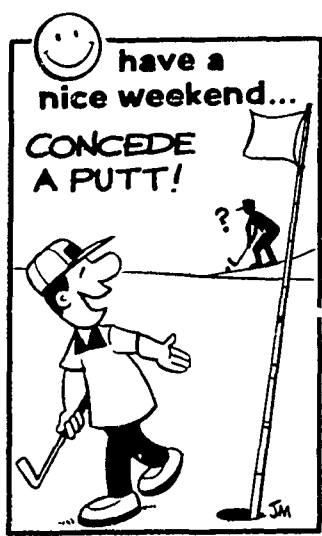

REPORT TO CONSUMERS

Experts at the Electric Power Research Institute are trying to help avoid severe energy shortage. One way is by turning coal into a liquid fuel. They are working on a pilot plant capable of processing 250 tons of coal a day. Successful completion of the programs will help bring coal liquefaction to commercial readiness, and appreciable amounts of coal-derived liquid fuels may be on the market in the 1990s.

The liquefaction process produces low-sulfur fuel that can be used by utilities in both boilers and turbines. Liquid fuels can be stored for use during peak and intermittent electricity-generating periods and save expensive installation of pollution control equipment.

This could help save a lot of money for all Americans.

PERFORMANCE

That's What Really Counts

It's a good reason to buy O's Gold hybrid seed corn. You can count on total performance from the best yielding hybrids for your fields.

In the spring, O's Gold hybrids have high germination and seedling vigor. During the summer and fall, they show excellent standability with high resistance to stalk rot. And, good ear retention throughout the growing season makes sure your profits don't end up on the ground. At harvest time, fast drydown lowers your fuel bills for the grain dryer.

Look to your O's Gold dealer when planning this year's corn crop. He's a farmer just like you and he knows his seed corn. Plus, he'll tell you all about the many valuable premiums and exciting 1979 winter cruise that O's Gold has for you.

DeKalb introducing new seed corn varieties

DEKALB, Ill. — The most significant additions to its corn hybrid line-up that have been made in the past few years are being implemented this year by DeKalb AgResearch, Inc.

Years of research and testing have resulted in 12 new hybrids that the company is offering for sale this Fall. The additions bring the number of hybrids marketed by the company to well over 80, with each adapted to specific growing areas of the U.S. With the new hybrids, each farmer in the U.S. will be able to plant at least three DeKalb hybrids, allowing a maturity spread that offers security against adverse weather and growing conditions.

EARLY MATURITY CORN

One of the new introductions, designated the short-season standout DeKalb, is XL-15. The new single cross is adapted to the northern Corn Belt, along with previously released XL-12 and XL-25.

XL-15 is tall and ears are medium high on the plant. Large kernels fill long, girthy ears, and farmers gain an added bonus through the drydown that this hybrid demonstrates.

The hybrid gained a "2" rating in DeKalb's intensive pre-release, performance testing program on the standability scale. The scale reaches from 1 to 9, with a "1" rating the best. On the same scale, XL-115 fared a "2" for resistance to Northern corn leaf blight and a "3" for resistance to stalk rots and Southern corn leaf blight.

Harold Noren, senior vice-president of seed marketing at DeKalb, says, "XL-15 is an unusually high-yielding corn hybrid under optimum growing conditions or under stress conditions."

DeKalb suggests planting the earliest maturing of its new releases at a rate that will afford the grower a harvest stand between 20,000 and 22,000 plants per acre.

TOP YIELDING

The second of the seed company's 12 new releases is XL-23, touted by Noren as the "Highest yielding corn hybrid DeKalb has ever bred in its maturity."

The new hybrid is adapted to the northern part of the Corn Belt with final maturity rated approximately one day later than XL-25, or 10 days earlier than XL-43. The hybrid will grow about 10 inches taller than XL-25, and performs well south of its normal area of adaptation.

Noren explains that XL-23 has "the capacity to yield big when conditions are good, but is also a highly stress-proof corn under tough conditions."

On DeKalb's 1 to 9 testing scale, XL-23 earned a "2" for resistance to Northern corn leaf blight and standability, while ear retention is evaluated as excellent.

Planting XL-23 to obtain a harvest population of 18,000 to 26,000 plants per acre, or 24,000 to 30,000 under irrigation will give farmers optimum yields.

DeKalb's big introduction in the northern Corn Belt last year will gain a companion this Fall. New XL-25a will join previously released XL-25 in that area.

The height of the new hybrid will be slightly taller than XL-25, although ear placement will be approximately eight inches higher, and it frequently develops two more rows of grain per ear.

XL-25a received one of the highest overall ratings on DeKalb's performance scale, rating a "2" for standability, a "1" for resistance to Northern corn leaf blight, and a "3" for stalk rots and Southern corn leaf blight. Ear retention is rated as excellent.

"It's just an all-around tough hybrid," Noren says. "From emergence to final yield, it's outstanding."

Performance trials back up Noren's claims as XL-25a has shown exceptional results against other early hybrids planted south of their maturity range. The new hybrid is widely adapted throughout the northern Corn Belt from east to west as well as slightly further south in the Midwest.

SEMI-UPRIGHT XL-32aa

A new, semi-upright leaf type hybrid boasting a fast drydown rating is XL-32aa.

The new single cross has an exclusive DeKalb origination, and distinctive, long ears. A "2" rating for standability as well as Northern and Southern corn leaf blight resistance make XL-32aa a healthy hybrid.

It is adapted for widespread use throughout the central Corn Belt at harvest populations between 18,000 and 24,000 plants per acre.

Noren says, "This hybrid has the bred-in capacity to outyield almost anything in the same maturity under optimum conditions."

NEW XL-42a

Even closer to XL-43 maturity is new XL-42a, which matures about two days earlier. Although the new hybrid resembles XL-42 in maturity, XL-42a has an ear placement about three inches lower, the plants are eight to 10 inches shorter, and the ears are longer and girther with two more rows of grain.

Good ear retention, medium drydown and distinctive, open leaves characterize the new corn hybrid. In performance evaluation tests, XL-42a earned a "2" rating for standability, a "1" for resistance to Northern and Southern corn leaf blights, and a "3" for resistance to stalk rots.

DeKalb suggests planting the new corn hybrid at a rate that allows between 18,000 and 22,000 plants per acre at harvest; 22,000 to 26,000 if irrigated.

XL-42a will be available in a very limited supply this Fall.

XL-55a WITH

DROUGHT TOLERANCE

A companion for XL-43 and XL-64 this Fall is XL-55a. The new hybrid shows good drought tolerance, which affords farmers throughout the central Corn Belt an extra bonus.

XL-55a is distinctive because of the large, red-dish-gold kernels and long-tapered ears it produces. Performance tests show the new hybrid has a heavy test weight, rapid drydown due to a lower number of husk leaves, and excellent ear retention.

Noren explains that XL-55a is "an extremely vigorous single cross with a moderate upright leaf tendency. On top of that, it's a very big yielder."

XL-61 FOR EASTERN CORN BELT

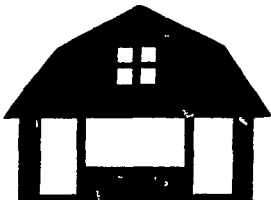

For corn growers living east of the Mississippi River, DeKalb is introducing XL-61, bred specifically for that area.

"XL-61 has excellent all-around adaptability to soil, weather and disease conditions," Noren points out, "and, it does particularly well in all eastern areas of the Corn Belt."

Performance trials conducted by DeKalb indicate a "2" rating for standability and Northern corn leaf blight resistance, and a "1" rating for stalk rots.

4-H awards programs motivate youth

CHICAGO - Historically, awards as incentives in 4-H have played a significant role in motivating young people to excellence.

Even before the 4-H program formally began in 1914, the private sector saw the importance of recognizing youth for their accomplishments.

In October 1856, for example, young Franklin Spaulding stood proudly by his exhibit of Dutton Yellow Corn at the Watertown (New York) Fair as the judges filed past. His months of hard work paid off when he was awarded the $50 first prize in the state corn contest.

The donor of his award was Horace Greeley, famous newspaper editor and politician.

Following the precedent set by such early supporters of America's youth, about 60 private sector donors will provide incentives to 4-H members this year through national 4-H awards programs.

Nearly 200,000 4-H'ers will be recognized with educational scholarships, trips to the 57th National 4-H Congress in Chicago Nov. 26-30 and other events, U.S.

savings bonds, stocks and other awards.

These awards are arranged by National 4-H Council, a nonprofit educational organization using private funds to serve the 4-H work of the Cooperative Extension Service. They recognize excellence at local, state, sectional and national levels in nearly 50 program areas.

Some of these programs and their sponsors are: the national 4-H bicycle program, The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company; dog care and training, Purina Dog Foods Group; Ralston Purina Company; gardening, Ortho Division, Chevron Chemical Company; and veterinary science, The Upjohn Company.

Young people in 39 states are eligible for expense-paid trips to the annual 4-H Commodity Marketing Symposium sponsored by The Chicago Board of Trade.

4-H members, plus outstanding clubs and counties in all states, can earn recognition from John Deere in the conservation of natural resources program. And 4-H'ers and clubs are eligible for health awards donated by Eli Lilly and Company and Kraft, Inc.

Other national 4-H donors offer scholarships for college studies in specified fields: Educational Foundation of Alpha Gamma Rho, agriculture; Allied Mills, Inc., animal science; and Champion Valley Farms, Inc., Recipe Division, veterinary medicine.

Five donors provide scholarships and other awards on a regional basis: The Santa Fe Railway System and Gulf Central Pipeline Company; DeKalb AgResearch, Inc.; Burlington Northern Inc.; Chicago & North Western Transportation Company; and Edwin T. Meredith Foundation.

All winners are chosen by the Cooperative Extension Service. Young people can learn more about these and other national 4-H awards programs from their county extension agents.

National 4-H Council also administers a variety of educational programs that emphasize citizenship and leadership development, international understanding and the learning of "real life" skills.

Karen Thompson, Pennlynn, left, proudly poses "Mr. Super Grand", a two year old Quarter Horse Colt that was named Montgomery County Champion of the 4-H Horse Production show held recently in Landsdale. Perhaps most important, it gives you the option of planting the No-Tillage way next spring. Just burn off the fall cover with ORTHO Paraquat CL herbicide and plant right into the stubble. For best results, apply Paraquat with ORTHO X-77 Spreader. Let's talk about it.

'Health foods' not legally defined

UNIVERSITY PARK — Food products labeled "natural" are healthier, safer and generally better for you. Right? That's what more than half of all consumers said when interviewed recently by a marketing research firm.

According to Harold Neigh, Extension consumer economist at Penn State, "natural" products were described by those interviewed as containing "nothing artificial," being "organic," "pure," "real" or having no chemicals or preservatives.

But what do the terms "organic," "natural" or "health" foods actually mean? Neigh explains that unfortunately, there are no legal definitions for any of these terms. Strictly speaking, all foods are "organic" because they are compounds containing carbon. The use of organic material on soils does not change the nutrient composition of crops.

Through the process of photosynthesis, plants turn simple chemical substances from the soil into complex carbohydrate molecules of food — no matter what the source is, from bacterial broken-down compost and manure or chemical fertilizers.

The nutrient composition of the plant is influenced primarily by the genetic composition of the seed and plant maturity at harvest time. Fertilizer, regardless of type, does not influence protein, fat, carbohydrates or vitamin content — only crop yields. There simply is not scientific evidence that indicates organically grown foods are more nutritious than those grown with chemical fertilizers, stresses the Extension economist.

Health foods have no legal definition either but are generally thought to be foods that promote physiologic and psychologic health. But all edible foods are "health" foods no matter where you buy them.

There is no single food or combination of food items that have any special health-giving properties other than the nutrients food provides. The concept of good nutrition means a supply of all nutrients in adequate amounts for individuals to attain a state of good health and well being, says Neigh.

all due respect to our Christian churches, I believe that they have no business in the field of agriculture. Religion's great mission is to preach the gospel and win souls for Christ. The church should be careful not to get itself into a vulnerable position clouding out its message. Often times the church listens to the wrong voice," she said.

Beef imports came under fire from this livestock producer's wife. She told the women, "It is a well-known fact that imported food does not meet the same rigid inspection that our food does. As a beef farmer's wife I heartily recommend that all imported beef be clearly labeled 'imported.'" In questioning following the formal presentation, Mrs. Gross said that to her knowledge it is impossible to tell what kind of meat is being sold. She stated, "If the government is determined to import more beef to compete with our home fed product and bring down our profit, then let the consumer know about it so that our own farmers don't get blamed for that tough grass-fed stuff."

Also receiving criticism from Mrs. Gross is the current controversy over nitrite in cured meats. Again, she suggested labeling as a possible answer, just as a warning label appears on a package of cigarettes. She noted that the results of a Massachusetts Institute of Technology survey revealed that when rats were fed an exorbitant amount of nitrite, 12 per cent of the test rats got cancer but so did eight per cent of the control rats. She added that with the removal of nitrite will come the great danger of botulism poisoning.

Mrs. Gross spoke honestly about the difficulty of getting farmers to work together on a common program. She noted that catfish farmers in Alabama, olive farmers in California and mushroom growers in Pennsylvania all have different needs. "These are some of the reasons why having a peanut farmer in the White House hasn't helped agriculture. Most farmers are something else."

She pointed out that farmers are a four per cent minority voice in this country, adding, "It is my feeling that farmers should be left to do their own thing."

Mrs. Gross pledged the efforts of Penn's Agri Women to tell the story of the family farm, and said it is the effort of the women to tell their husband's story — something they are too busy to do themselves.

rating for Southern corn leaf blight resistance. Stalk rot resistance ratings fall between "1" and "2".

Plants grow to a medium height and long ears from at a medium height on the

XL-72bb WITH MDMV RESISTANCE

One of the new releases, XL-72bb, has exceptional disease resistance, including maize dwarf mosaic virus (MDMV) resistance.

Noren says, "XL-72bb is a highly disease resistant hybrid, and it's bred to yield well in the South, especially in the areas where MDMV is prevalent."

The new corn hybrid makes a good companion to XL-394 and XL-72b as it is adapted to the southern three-fourths of the XL-72b area. It is slightly later in maturity than XL-72b, and four days earlier than XL-394.

Although plants of the new release are slightly taller than XL-72b, the leaf characteristics are approximately the same. Ear retention and drought tolerance are cited as excellent by DeKalb researchers, and standability has between a "2" and "3" rating.

WHITE CORN HYBRIDS

Two other hybrids will be added to DeKalb's hybrid line-up this year, although they are bred for specific farmers - those interested in high-quality, white grain corn hybrids. Both XL-393 and XL-373 fit the bill for those growers. Noren says XL-393 is "an all-around, white corn of excellent quality showing solid performance."

XL-373 is a white corn hybrid adapted to the 800 maturity zone.

CHOPPING CAPACITY TO MATCH YOUR BIG-TRACTOR POWER

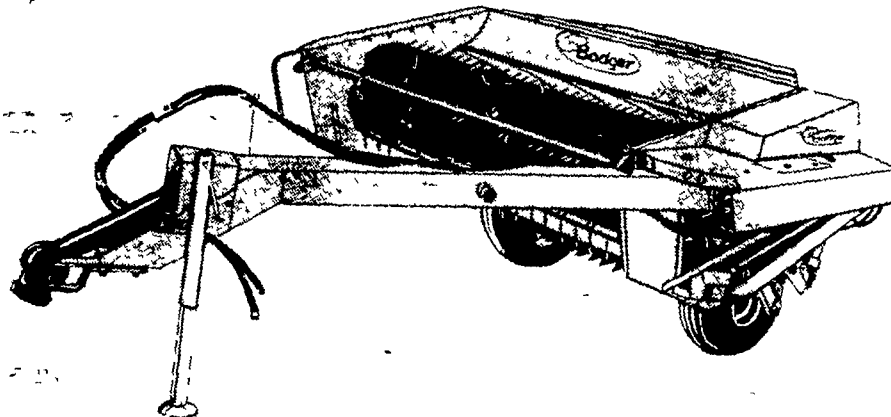

The Badger Forage Harvester is power-matched for tractors up to 175 hp. Big chopping capacity throughout. Left hand delivery minimizes side draft. Lets you operate with dual-mounted tires. Choose from two models with multi-row crop heads and hay pickup attachments available. See us for more information.

The Unpluggable One.

THE BADGER FORAGE BLOWER, built to fill silos as fast as silage can be hauled from the field, is virtually unpluggable. Precision-balanced 54" blower fan uses cupped paddles to concentrate material for easier access to blower • The Thro-Action hopper helps break up wads and prevent bridging. Also features extra-wide hopper and throat, adjustable shear-bar, adjustable hitch and adjustable outlet angle.

THE NEW BADGER MOWER / CONDITIONER

★ BADGER GETS WHAT THE OTHERS FORGET.

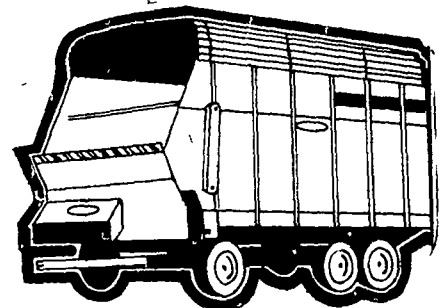

- Hugging the ground to get more of what you grow.
- Rugged, ground skimming cutterbar.
- Wide cut, narrow width.

★ BADGER MEANS HIGH-SPEED, HIGH NUTRIENT CONDITIONING.

- Maximum fluffing & airflow.
- Clear heavy wads without leaving tractor seat.
- Smooth operating, non-interlocking rolls.

★ DEEP DOWN DIFFERENCES THAT SPELL UNMATCHED PERFORMANCE!

- Enclosed powerline with only 3 PTO joints.
- Rubbed V-belt main drive.
- Five-speed reel adjustment.
- One-belt tooth-pitch adjustment.

No One Builds a Better Box.

THE BADGER FORAGE BOX is an old familiar friend to farmers. It offers tremendous capacity ... up to 700 cubic feet of feed • Rugged all-steel frame with welded and bolted construction. No nails. Specially treated plywood resists corrosive forage • Double apron chains move big loads smoothly. Each chain is individually adjustable. Heavy roller chain drive is matched to the giant loads the Badger box can handle. The smooth-working gear drive is trouble-free, controlled by a low-neutral-high selector.

Nedra Yoder wins Milking Shorthorn title

HARRISBURG — For the third straight year, Nedra Yoder, 19, of Shoemaker-ville, Berks County, captured the grand and senior championships in Milking Shorthorn judging competition at the 23rd Pennsylvania Junior Dairy Show with "Pinesedge Melody," a 7-year-old. The winning entry was sired by "Pinesedge Appollo." Nedra, showing as a 4-H member, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Yoder. She also won a master fitter award.

Nedra, a former Berks County Dairy Princess, and the reigning National Milking Shorthorn Queen, won the state honor during competition Monday morning and afternoon. The awards didn't stop then.

Monday evening, when the 1978 Milking Shorthorn National Junior Show was held, with contestants from all over the United States vying for prizes, Miss Yoder was in the limelight again. She exhibited the same animal which had won earlier in the day, and was named grand champion.

WHATS IT LIKE TO HAVE A CHIMNEY FIRE?

In a chimney fire the soot lining the chimney flue is saturated with flammable stuff called Creosote. It doesn't take much to ignite Creosote & once kindled it will burn with joyous abandon. The roaring fire may destroy the house or at very least scare you half to death. In such an emergency throw rock salt on the floor of the fireplace, cover the opening with a wet blanket & call the fire department. OR Save yourself the heartache & have your chimney cleaned at least every 2 yrs.

To the Fair family, 4-H is achieving goals

By KENDACE BORRY

In Dauphin County, and on an ever increasing area, there are two young 4-H'ers who are making a name for themselves. While only 13 and 14 years old, the pair have already been busy this fair season and are eagerly preparing for the shows ahead.

They are Judy and Grayson Fair, the daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. James Fair, Harrisburg R3. They are involved in horse and baby beef projects, among others, in the 4-H program of Dauphin County and the work they put into their animals is beginning to pay off.

Judy, the elder of the two youth, is a five year member of the Central Dauphin horse and pony club. She rides a 13 year old horse named Nellie Bell, an Appaloosa mare she rides saddleseat.

This year she won first in the county roundup equitation class, and was second in the saddleseat pleasure class, besides being named reserve champion of the show.

And then to prove just how good she and her Appaloosa could do, she placed second in the District Roundup Equitation class, earning a right to represent Dauphin County at the State 4-H show to be held in October; and she also placed fourth in the saddleseat pleasure class.

She said her interest in horses began nine years ago when she started taking riding lessons on a pony. She liked saddleseat and has ridden that way ever since, concentrating her efforts on Nellie for the past six years.

Judy is also a member of the Upper Dauphin Baby Beef Club, along with her brother Grayson. This is her first year in that club and she has a red Angus which presently weighs 900 pounds. She calls it Brandy, and stated that at the Gratz Fair she took two firsts, one in the lightweight class and one in the showmanship class. She became involved in beef 4-H, she related, because she enjoyed watching Grayson show, and thought it would be fun to try.

Judy Fair, seen here with her horse Nellie Bell, will soon be travelling to Harrisburg to represent Dauphin County in the saddleseat equitation class.

This is also her first year as a member in the Dauphin Veterinary Science Club. There she will learn more about the skills needed to treat animals, under the direction of Dr. Larry Samples, veterinarian who is in charge of the club.

Grayson is the veteran in the beef club. This is his third year of showing steers, and his aim is to make it to the Farm Show this year. And smiling, he noted, that he hopes he has a good chance.

Grayson's steer this year is a Chianina-Angus crossbred presently weighing 1075 pounds. The black steer is known as Marmaduke, like the dog in the comics.

He, too, showed at the Gratz Fair and placed second in the heavyweight class and third in the

Soybean association worried over EEC import proposal

HUDSON, Iowa -- American soybean growers are in danger of losing the market for an estimated one quarter billion (b) dollars worth of soybean meal, ASA president Merlyn Groot said, if the European Economic Community restricts imports of manioc and other high-carbohydrate feeds for its livestock production. In a letter to Secretary of Agriculture Bergland, Secretary of State Vance and Special U.S. Trade Representative Strauss, Groot said U.S. soybean producers are concerned about reports that EEC agriculture commissioners are considering proposed restrictions on the imports.

"Approximately five million tons of manioc are now imported into the European Community which are mixed with soybean meal to achieve a balanced feedstuff -- one that contains sufficient protein," the letter states. "Estimates of soybean meal used for this purpose amount to one million tons with a value of almost a quarter of a billion dollars."

"The American Soybean Association strongly urges U.S. officials to take the necessary vigorous action to prevent this loss to preserve this market," Groot said.

Any limitations on manioc feedstuffs will directly affect future growth of soybean meal consumption, he continued. American soybean growers and the U.S. balance of trade would both be threatened by the loss of this market for soybean meal. Restrictions would also limit the anticipated larger demand for manioc-soybean meal feeds in these countries.

FARM FOR KEEPS PLANT P-A-G

Jeff Kerr named York Co. outstanding FFA'er

By JOYCE BUPP
Staff Correspondent

WELLSVILLE - Land prices continue to soar. Machinery and parts costs escalate almost monthly. Livestock and commodity prices remain undependable and frequently rest on the whims of politicians dabbling in international issues.

How, or perhaps even why, does a young man with an eye toward a career in agriculture unlock the doors that stand between him and the hard work and uncertainty of operating a successful farm?

Jeff Kerr, York County's 1978 outstanding member of the Future Farmers of America, is one young man with the personal qualities and determination to mold his own key to open those doors.

"Management is the name of the game, not just in the barn but at the desk as well," believes Kerr. "A young farmer can hardly start completely from scratch on his own anymore; most are getting their initial help by working with their parents."

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Kerr, Wellsville R1, 17-year-old Jeff is a senior at Northern High School, where he serves as the president of the school's Gifford Pinchot FFA chapter. He's also the vice-president of the county organization, was named this year's winner in the county FFA public speaking contest and competed as a speaker on the regional level.

In June, Jeff represented York County at the state FFA convention and he took part later in the summer at the Pennsylvania Association of Farm Cooperatives Institute at Shippensburg College.

Awards competition within his local FFA has brought Jeff numerous other honors, including being named Chapter Star Farmer in 1977 and recognition for beef proficiency, livestock production and agronomy.

Now in his fourth year of agriculture studies, Jeff has been cropping 25 acres in hay, corn, oats, wheat and barley on his family's northern York County farm. In addition to this project acreage, he has also been getting practical experience through his part-time job with field crops and machinery on the dairy farm of neighbor Laverne Bentz.

But Jeff's special love is for beef cattle, specifically those rugged white Charolais. Twelve purebreds and eight crosses make up his current herd, which includes two bulls. Breeding improvements are being made through the use of artificial insemination which Jeff has learned to do in order to more closely supervise his cow herd. For the past five years, he has also raised a steer as a member of the county's 4-H Baby Beef club.

Judging and selection for the FFA award was made during the recent York Interstate Fair, where exhibiting his animals has become a favorite part of Jeff's beef activities. He earned several trophies on the tanbark ring at this year's York competition, including grand champion heifer, bull, champion bull calf and heifer calf in the Charolais open class and grand champion FFA heifer. Other fair activities for the busy young farmer included entering the FFA grain classes and competing in the tractor driving contest, where he finished fourth.

Jeff's award from the Fair Association will send him on an expenses-paid trip to the National FFA convention and the American Royal Livestock Show, scheduled in Kansas City, Mo., during the week of November 6.

"My dad was raised on the farm and my grandfather farmed. I've always liked farm life," relates the tall, quiet but friendly young man. After deciding a few years ago that farming was to be his chosen profession, Jeff set out to lay the groundwork toward the time when he would make his living from the land.

Equipment is a major expense to anyone setting up a farming enterprise, but Jeff has already acquired an impressive collection of field machinery. His inventory sheet includes a tractor, plow, corn planter, baler, grain drill and cultivation equipment. To better utilize this machinery investment, he hopes to expand his crop ground to 80 acres next season, mainly in additional alfalfa stands.

College, with a major probably in livestock production or animal industry, is the next step toward the fulfillment of Jeff's goal. He aims at eventually attending a school in "beef country," possibly Indiana's Purdue University or Texas A and M.

When the years of higher education are completed, Jeff hopes to return home, add additional ground through purchases or rental arrangements, and expand the present barn facilities. His ideal operation would include a 75-head Charolais and crossed cow-calf herd, with time to continue the purebred breeding and show sideline. He's even considered adding a few top quality purebred hogs for expanding his livestock-showing hobby.

But, for now there's one more year of high school to conquer. Although FFA work admittedly takes up much of his time, Jeff has played basketball and maintained an honor-roll average of grades that earned him a place in the National Honor Society while still a junior.

Very soon, he'll try out for another office on the county level of the FFA, with hopes of eventually earning an officer position on the state level.

"Jeff is setting a really good example," declares his agriculture teacher, Mike Barndt. "The entire chapter has benefitted from his efforts."

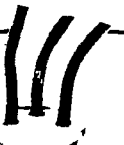

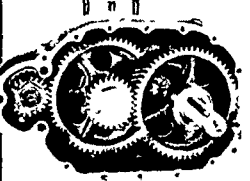

A quality home exterior paint job lasts from six to eight years. According to the National Association of Realtors, bright colors may fade faster and need more frequent painting. Also, homes located in areas where air pollution is a major factor may need more frequent care.

Ownership of a single-family home continues to be one of the best investments available to many Americans. The National Association of Realtors says a dollar invested in a single-family home in 1967 would have been worth $1.23 in 1977. The same dollar invested in corporate bonds, the closest rival, would have appreciated to $1.18.

The single-family home sector constitutes the largest category of assets in the nation, with an aggregate value of $1.9 trillion. By mid-1977, reports the National Association of Realtors, these homes had a mortgage total of $470 billion. The remaining $1.4 trillion represented homeowners' accumulated equity.

The old strongarm method of Manure Handling gives way to new muscle from PATZ — namely the Slurry Manure Pump and compressed-air Liquid Manure Mover. These modern methods of manure movement provide simplicity, rugged construction, operational ease, dependability, plus convenience.

Slurry Manure Pump

Slurry or free flowing manure is pumped from a 180 gallon hopper under ground through 12 in. PVC pipe to the manure holding area. (If bedding is used only fine cut is recommended.) Stroke is adjustable and driven by tough roller chain drive/reduction unit. Plunger sleeve and one-way valves all can be removed for servicing.

Liquid Manure Mover

Big 1700 (US) gallon below-ground pressure vessel collects slurry that is moved simply and easily by as little as 10-12 lbs. of air pressure through 12 in. PVC pipe to manure storage area. Simplicity in design, turning swing-away hatch cover, one-way valve at bottom and flapper valve at the discharge end are the only moving parts.

Open dairy show held

The Montgomery County Holstein Club recently sponsored an open Dairy Show in connection with the Montgomery County 4-H Fair. Roderick Wood (right) owner and manager of Woodson Farm received both the Premier breeder award and the premier exhibitor award presented by the Pa. Holstein Breeders Association. About to make the premier exhibit award is Dan Alderfer, Harleysville (left) who was show chairman. James Shaw, Oley, (center) Holstein Breeder was the official judge of the show.

Champion lamb carcass selected

WEST SPRINGFIELD, Mass. — Greystone Manor Farms, Talmadge, exhibited the first and second place heavy weight market lambs which went on to win Grand Champion and Reserve Grand Champion lambs on foot at the Eastern States Exposition, West Springfield, Mass.

The Reserve Champion, owned by Mr. and Mrs. M.A. Stoltzfus, later captured the title of Grand Champion Carcass. Their suffolk entry was also named Sweepstakes winner for having a loin eye area of 3.4 square inches, the largest in the class. He also had the largest accumulation of points between the foot and rail classes.

The carcass was sold at public auction September 19 on the Exposition Grounds to Copaco Packing, Bloomfield, Conn. for $3.50 a pound. The carcass weighed 62½ pounds.

showmanship class. Both his steer and his sister's will compete at the Keystone

International at Harrisburg in November.
Grayson said he always wanted a steer, and he wanted to show, so that was how he got involved in 4-H.

Both he and Judy agreed that 4-H is fun, but they added that you also meet a lot of people and can make many friends through the program. They thought the experiences were good, and enjoyed being able to go to so many places.

And 4-H gives them goals to shoot for. Judy always wanted to go to the state 4-H competition on her horse, and in a few weeks she will be doing just that.

Grayson is still working on getting that steer to the Farm Show in January. But even if he doesn't quite make it with this one this year, and there's hope in the Fair family that he will, you can be sure that next year there will be another steer out here with Grayson working on making him the best he can be.

Grayson Fair and Marmaduke, his steer project for this year, are busy working towards the 4-H roundup coming up soon. Grayson hopes that his steer will be judged good enough to go to the Pa. state Farm Show in January.

Agitating and pumping manure from an open pit is an easy task for the Nesseth Pit Pump. Simply, back up to the pit, lower the pump into the manure, and you're ready to agitate. This powerful pump has enough thrust to break up the thickest crust and it has a specially designed auger with cutting knives to shred solids. After the manure is fully agitated into a slurry, this same dual purpose pump is used to fill your spreader tank and it's all done without leaving your tractor. Nesseth offers two heavy-duty models, the 520 and the 524. Both are designed for high volume and easy mobility.

4-H, kids and sheep spice the Baronis' lives

By JOAN LIESAU

DOWNTOWN - Start off with one big sister. Add one brother who likes to do better than she. Quickly mix in a younger sister and slowly blend twin boys. Fold in a 4-H sheep project, add sugar and spice to taste. Bake in a Chester County atmosphere. Yields one family belonging to Angelo and Peggy Baroni of Downingtown.

The Baroni 4-H recipe started when Peggy was a kid. She raised chickens as a 4-H project. Later, as parents, she and Angelo decided they wanted their children involved in 4-H. Sheep were chosen as the project and things took off from there.

Ann, 18, has been in 4-H for eight years. She has been an active member of 4-H County Council, and served as president of the Tri-Community 4-H Sheep Club. She has been a consistent winner at the Southeastern Regional 4-H sheep shows. In 1975 and 1976 she won the sheep blocking contest there. "The blocking contests are a real test of skill" she said, "no one else can trim the sheep for you, that's why I like them the most." Ann explained the contest as a group of sheep brought directly from the field. They have never been washed and probably never handled. Each contestant receives a sheep and has one hour to improve its appearance, through washing, carding, and trimming. Judging is based on the improvements made. "Sometimes it gets to be a real circus" she said, "occasionally a sheep gets loose and everyone gets out and chases it."

Ann participated on the 4-

H Rifle Team. She also plays the piano, flute and saxophone. She studied at West Chester State College for a year, but decided she would rather work with animals. "4-H has given me a possible future career of working with animals" Ann said. Her future plans include just that.

Next add one brother. "She (Ann) was always out there working and I wanted to work too" Jeff said with a grin on his face, "I was always trying to do better."

Jeff, 16, has done an outstanding job with his sheep projects. At last year's Farm Show he had the champion Dorset ewe in the junior show. At the Chester-Delaware County 4-H Sheep Round-up, senior division, he was a champion fitter, champion showman, and won the blocking contest.

Jeff shows Dorset and Hampshire sheep. He said "I have always liked the Hampshires, but I like the prolificacy of Dorset's better. You don't have to stay with them while they are lambing, and you can breed them anytime." Jeff likes the sheep and enjoys going to different shows with them, especially the 4-H related contests and events. "4-H is a definite learning experience" he said.

Jeff has been an active 4-H County Council member. He also participates in the 4-H Rifle Club. "I went along to watch and got interested" he said.

Jeff is a junior at Downingtown Senior High School. He is undecided about college, but very interested in electronics. Presently, Jeff works part-

Ice cream study program offered

UNIVERSITY PARK — The annual Ice Cream Short Course of The Pennsylvania State University will be held January 8 - 18, 1979. Lectures, demonstrations, laboratory practice and visits to large and small ice cream plants are integrated to provide information about the formulation, manufacture, and distribution of both hard and soft ice cream and ice milk, sherbets, ices, vegetable fat products, and other types of frozen desserts. Because of the diverse interests and backgrounds of the students who attend, course content is broad in scope.

Lectures cover quality problems and their solution, industry trends, formula selection, ingredients, equipment, mix processing, freezing, aeration, hardening, and storage. Instruction and practice are given in the procedures involved in mix calculations. Approximately 40 frozen dessert samples will be prepared, evaluated, and compared to commercial products purchased through normal channels of distribution.

Previous experience in the ice cream industry is not required. A typical class includes representatives from the largest ice cream companies to small family businesses, soft-serve operations, and sales and technical personnel from allied industries. Students come from throughout the United States, and several foreign countries are usually represented.

The registration fee, which includes field trip transportation costs, is $65 for Pennsylvanians and $75 for non-Pennsylvanians.

Application blanks and further information can be secured from the Director of Short Courses, 306 Ag. Administration Building, University Park, Pa. 16802.

Books make good children's gifts

A book can give a child adventures, new experiences, and help him to learn. Books are excellent tools to use in providing a child with meaningful learning experiences. Even if a child cannot read the book himself he can learn from your reading the printed words to him or by looking at the pictures.

All through the various stages of growth, books can satisfy certain basic needs of a child's developing personality. The need to feel assurance he is like other children is met through stories about other children and their adventures. Growth in independent reading skills and reading interests satisfies the need to learn about the adult world.

A child needs to understand, to the best of his ability, the physical world. He needs beauty, fun, and relaxation in his life as well as a certain amount of success. All this can be found in the challenge of reading and understanding books.

FARM SAFETY

Lancaster Farming, Saturday, September 30, 1978—115

4-H, kids and sheep

time running a forklift for a company that makes pallets. Spare time finds Jeff and Ann fitting and showing Dorset's for their friend Gerheart Klahold, Sinking Springs. The Baroni's keep half of their flock at Klahold's since their suburban home limits the number of sheep they can raise.

Quickly mix a younger sister. Kathleen, 11, was even more anxious to join 4-H and raise sheep than brother Jeff. At the age of six she could be seen virtually dragging a sheep three times her size into the show ring. At times an observer might have wondered who was the dragger and who the draggee, but now, five years later, no one needs to ask.

Kathleen, a sixth grader at West Bradford Elementary School, owns a Dorset ewe and ram named Homer and Beth. "Beth is like a pet, she always walks up to everybody. I like friendly sheep most," she said.

Kathleen is beginning to have an impressive show record. At last year's Farm Show she placed first in the junior fitting and showmanship contests. At Round-up she won blue ribbons for Homer and Beth, and also a blue ribbon for an aged ewe she showed. She placed fifth in the junior fitting and showmanship contests, and was named reserve champion sheep fitter. Kathleen says she learned how to trim and give Terramycin boluses to her sheep at the sheep club meetings. "I can't do it yet because I can't hold on to them very well," she added.

Kathleen has many other activities. She plays saxophone, in her school band and also sings in the chorus. She enjoys riding horses and is presently taking lessons on her favorite pony, Binky. She is an avid reader and particularly enjoys horse books. Collecting bottles is another one of her hobbies. "I like to find different shapes and colors. I found a whole lot, and my grandmother gives me some too," she said. When she is 12, Kathleen says she would like to join the 4-H Rifle Club.

Slowly blend in two twin brothers. Craig and Chris, fifth graders at West Bradford Elementary School, have been in 4-H for two years.

Craig, 10, owns a Hampshire ewe named Cinderella. At Round-up he won blue ribbons for junior showmanship and fitting.

Craig plays the clarinet in his school band. He also enjoys going out in the woods and collecting bottles with his sister.

Chris, 10, owns a Hampshire ewe named Esmeralda. He won blue ribbons for his fitting and showmanship at Round-up. He said he was going to stay with the sheep project. "I'd rather show them," he said, "it's the trimming and washing I don't like."

Chris is a sports buff, and enjoys baseball the most. He also collects soda and beer cans. He found all but two of the 60 in his collection. Chris also plays the clarinet in his high school band.

Top this 4-H recipe with a father who is the Tri-Community 4-H Sheep Club leader, a large scoop of energy and enthusiasm served by two parents towards five kids who like to work together, and teach each other. Add your spices, and you have a well seasoned 4-H family.

The word condominium does not refer to a particular architectural design. The National Association of Realtors notes that condominium refers to a type of ownership whereby a person owns the unit he lives in and jointly owns common areas, such as recreation areas, with other owners in the development. Thus, campgrounds, mobile home parks and office buildings all can be classified as condominiums.

brother of Nedra, showed the reserve grand champion, "Pinesedge Flora Cheri 15th," a 4-year-old. He won similar honors with the same cow at last year's Junior Dairy Show. The cow's sire is "Tabbagong Flora's Prince." Frederick has been a 4-H member for nine years.

Nedra Yoder also showed the junior champion, "Pinesedge G. K. Kizzi," a junior yearling. The animal was sired by "New Park Gay King."

Wendy Yoder, 16, another Yoder sister, captured the reserve junior championship with "C. H. Gay Ima," a senior yearling. The reserve junior champion was sired by "New Park Gay King." Wendy, a 4-H member for seven years, also won a master fitter award.

The first lady of the Milking Shorthorn breed had six of her own animals at the Harrisburg show, which was held as a part of the All-American Dairy Show. The Yoders have a total of 150 head of dairy cattle on their Berks County farm. About half of the herd is Holsteins.

In her final year as a 4-H Club member, Miss Yoder says she finds that realization somewhat "upsetting." She notes that "I enjoyed 4-H; I learned a lot; I had a lot of opportunities; it was a big part of my life for the past 10 years. Cows and pigs have always been my projects."

Continuing, the Milking Shorthorn exhibitor says: "4-H taught me leadership skills and responsibilities; it was a good way to do a lot of growing and to become a more mature person, and I've certainly found it helpful in my nurses' training - I have no problem communicating." In addition, Miss Yoder noted that she appreciated the trips 4-H provided and the people she met. "I've learned to live away from home and become a more outgoing person," she commented.

This was the first time that the contest was held at the Elizabethtown Fair. Dale Herr, salesman at Messicks Equipment Company, Rheems, and Kenneth Myer, Elizabethtown R5, were co-chairmen of the event.

Second place honors went to Donald Mowrer, Marietta R1. Third place was tied between Doug Witman, Elizabethtown R3; and Gilbert Martin, Marietta R1.

The winner of the contest received a trophy sponsored by Messicks Equipment Company and $50 from the Elizabethtown Jaycees. Second place winner received a similar trophy and $25.

Property taxes - in spite of inequities - continue to be the main source of revenue for local governments in the United States. The nation's property tax bill currently exceeds $60 billion, according to the National Association of Realtors, more than double the amount collected 10 years ago.

3 Penn Agri-Women to meet Oct. 17

HERSHEY — "We invite all women who are interested in the future of agriculture to attend our Fall meeting," urges Ethel Gross, state coordinator of Penn's Agri-Women. "Farm, or non-farm, rural or urban, each of us has a pressing need to help assure that the family farm will remain a vital part of Pennsylvania."

"Knowledge: the Key to Action" is the theme of the annual Fall convention of Penn's Agri-Women. Hershey Convention Center will host the confab of farm women members from across the state, beginning at 9:15 a.m. on Tuesday, October 17.

Keynote speaker for the morning session is Gary Swan, a communications specialist with the New York Farm Bureau who has delivered more than 800 addresses in forty states.

Formerly both a state and national president of the Future Farmers of America Swan has been instrumental in helping organize the FFA program in Brazil.

A powerful speaker with a

Lancaster Farming, Saturday, September 30, 1978—117

crucial message, Swan will approach the problem of "Consumer-Producer Relationships," with question-answer time allotted on the program.

Following the buffet luncheon, Penn State Extension farm management specialist, B. Wayne Kelly, will deal with the problems of estate planning.

"Property Rights and Inheritance Taxes - as they apply to the farm wife" is the vital issue facing almost all farm families at some time. As a specialist in the complicated areas of taxation, insurance, investments, credit and production economics, Kelly will also be available to answer specific problems following his audience presentation.

State coordinator Ethel Gross will preside over a brief business meeting in the afternoon, with the program scheduled for a wrap-up at 3:15 p.m.

Registration fee for the day-long program is $9, and includes the cost of all speakers, luncheon and gratuities.

Deadline for reservations is Monday, October 9, names and registration fee should be sent to Mrs. Harold Gross, R2, Box 439, Manchester, Pa. 17345.

Current solar heating units rarely supply 100 per cent of a home's needs, since it would be too costly and the system would be too large. According to the National Association of Realtors, most solar units built today are designed to supply between 55 and 80 per cent of a family's heat and hot water needs, with a conventional system supplying the rest.

If you're planning to buy an electrically heated home...

Energy-Efficient Homes Offer More

PP&L realizes that purchasing a new home is probably the biggest investment you'll ever make. We also recognize that the energy needed to run your home is too costly and valuable to waste. That's why, in cooperation with area builders, we're sponsoring the Energy Efficient Home program.

To earn an Energy Efficient Home Award your builder must construct a home that will meet or exceed PP&L's standards for:

☒ Windows and doors

☒ Ventilation

☒ Fireplace (if used)

☒ Air duct system

☒ Water heating

When your home is completed, PP&L will inspect it to see that it qualifies for the Energy Efficient Home Award. An Award Certificate is then completed by the builder and presented to you.

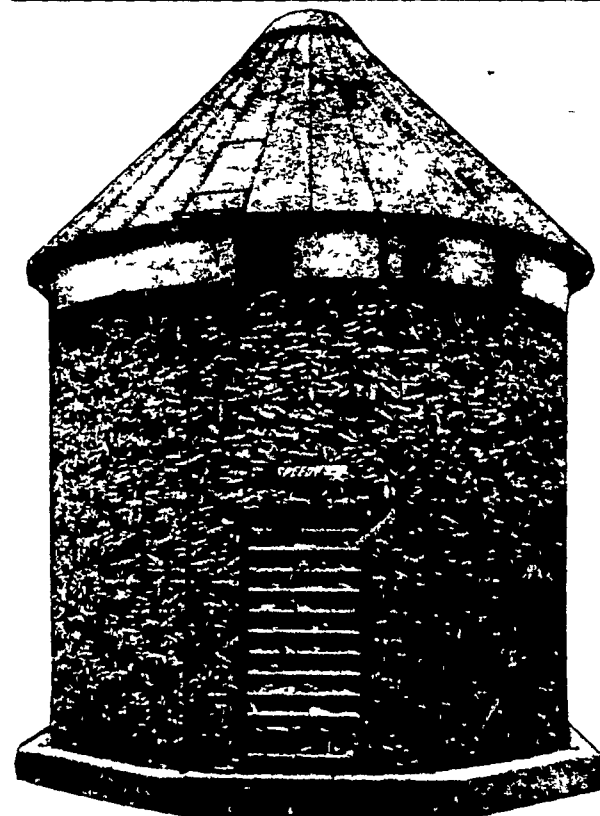

In the event your builder is not familiar with the building requirements of an Energy Efficient home, call PP&L. Ask for the residential consultant who can supply you with materials and equipment specifications and builder information.

This symbol is your assurance that your new home is designed and constructed to save energy. And, with today's high energy costs, that means big dollar savings. Makes sense, doesn't it? Savings for today and tomorrow... for the life of your home!

UFT SPEEDY BAR-LOK CORN CRIBS!

THE ADVANTAGES OF SPEEDY CORN CRIBS

1 Easy to Erect

Speedy's Corn Crib goes up fast and easy because of roof rafters and Bar Lok side panels. The steeply pitched roof pushes the corn to the edges — NO WASTED SPACE!

Step 1 Bar Lok Construction saves you time — gives you a strong, sturdy crib. Crib wire panels are interlaced to form an eye. A 13 x 3/8 rod is then inserted through the eye and pushed down to the foundation. Easy, simple, fast construction.

Step 2 Rafters are bolted to assembled rafter ring. Now you're ready to put the roof panels on. Rafters assure you of proper roof panel placement the first time. No wooden framework to build.

2 Wide Selection

There is a Speedy Crib for every farm need, priced right for every budget.

- Choice of 900, 1200 or 1700 Bushel Sizes
- 5 or 2 Gauge Wire Mesh Side Panels

3 Durable

The Speedy 5 Gauge Crib won't bulge or sag — stands straight and tall year after year. For extra strength and durability get the Speedy 2 Gauge Crib — outlasts other cribs — even with full capacity loads. Galvanized wire, not aluminum paint.

4 Save Money and Energy

Corn stored in a Speedy Crib is dried by Mother Nature without the use of costly energy. This saves money and also helps conserve our scarce energy resources.

Ray Good wins grand champion jr. market hog

By JOAN LIESAU

EPHRATA - "I didn't think I would win, I dreamed of it though" said Ray Good, 16, as he captured the grand champion market hog in Ephrata Fair's junior market hog show Sept. 26. This was quite an achievement for Ray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester T. Good, considering it is only the second hog show he has ever entered.

Ray showed a 242 pound cross bred hog which was described by the show's judge as having more depth through it's rib and flank, stretched over a longer, taller frame. The type of market hog packers are looking for today.

Ray has been a member of the Cloister FFA Chapter for three years. He owns 32 hogs and shows six of them. Ray's father raises about 300 cross bred hogs at their Ephrata farm.

Reserve grand champion went to a 315 pound cross-bred shown by Rick Strauss and owned in partnership with his brothers Steve and Bob all of Ephrata. The brothers have a unique distinction of having won reserve grand champion market hog at Ephrata Fair for four consecutive years.

Rick, 19, said "this was the first year we raised our own." He explained they started using a Hampshire boar from Frank Feeser. Md.

"We are getting a little more frame and depth with the Hamp boar" Steve added, "They seem to want them bigger all the time and I think we are getting it with the Hamp."

Steve, 18, works at the stockyards while his brother Rick is swine herdsman for Dutch Valley Farm.

Helicopter seeds rye in corn

The Lewisburg Young Farmers recently held a field day featuring soil conservation by establishing a cover crop in standing corn. This was done by scheduling a helicopter to come into the area and sow rye in the corn fields. Rye was sown Sept. 13 on the Richard Criswell farm, at two bushels per acre. Loading the helicopter, above, with seed are left to right, Richard Criswell, and Paul Smith.

introducing the all new PATZ slurry manure pump

The Patz Mechanical Manure Pump is designed to handle manure ranging from semi-solid to free-flowing slurry.

The Patz Slurry Manure Pump provides the ultimate solution to the moving of slurry liquid manure from dairy, beef, hogs or poultry installations to manure storage facilities.

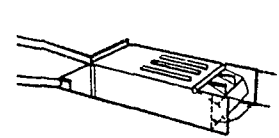

The new Patz Slurry Pump can move slurry and liquids up to 150 feet. The manure is supplied to an underground hopper with a gutter cleaner or scraper and is forced into a 12 inch P.V.C. pipe by means of an 8 inch by 15 inch plunger.

A 10 h.p. electric motor running a roller chain reduction unit drives the plunger at a rate of 21 strokes per minute. The Patz exclusive roller chain drive unit is the most efficient way to transmit a smooth flow of power.

The 8 inch by 15 inch plunger has a one way valve in the sleeve which closes on the forward stroke forcing the manure into the storage facility and opens on the backward stroke for the next load.

Plunger sleeve can be removed from sleeve chamber for servicing without breaking out concrete. Valve in the sleeve and flapper valve at the end of the pipe prevent manure from returning.

POSITIVE FEED DELIVERY FROM BIN TO LIVESTOCK

With Chore-Time's feed bin Posiflo™ and original Flex-Auger® you get today's most dependable and efficient system for conveying feed. The Posiflo™ is an agitation device installed between bin and feed delivery boot, which prevents feed bridging and concave feeding (feed flows down the sides, rather than from the center, providing a constant even flow to the feed delivery system), checks the build-up of mold (Mycotoxins) with its self-cleaning action and virtually eliminates losses due to medication residues (the first feed in is the first out)

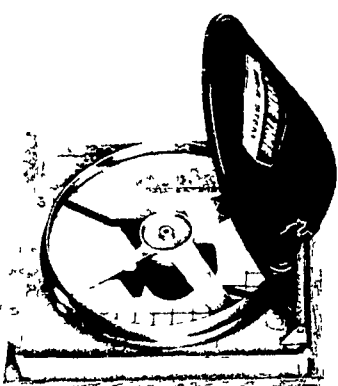

From there, the one continuous piece, spring type auger, moves feed up, down, on-the-level or around corners... without gears, connections or pins.

Feed is delivered fresh, dry and clean in a rodent proof, completely closed delivery tube.

It is the most adaptable, versatile, efficient feed delivery system for your poultry, swine, and dairy operations.

	Capacity lbs. per min	Maximum Length (ft)	Size O.D.	Radius (ft)
Flex II™	20	150	2"	10
Standard	40	250	2-3/4"	5
H-C	100	150	3-1/2"	5

Only four basic components go into the makeup of this highly sophisticated system...the Fan, the Inlet, the Air Inlet Power Pack, and the Controls. When properly coordinated, these four basic components can provide you with better conversion and performance by removing stresses due to lack of oxygen, excess humidity, noxious gases and temperature extremes. This system provides you with assurance that each and every animal is getting the required amount of fresh clean air needed for maximum conversion and performance.

THINK ALL GRAIN DRYERS ARE ABOUT THE SAME?

TOX-O-WIK Grain Dryers

With Special Recirculation

As shown in the cut away drawing the TOX-O-WIK recirculating batch grain dryer gives you complete and constant recirculation of all grains. The double agitation and auger recirculation keeps the grain constantly moving so you're always assured of an "EVEN" moisture content after drying. For the best in recirculating batch dryers it's the GT TOX-O-WIK. Available in 3 sizes and 5 models (including an all electric model 570E or the completely automatic all electric 570A). There's one tailored to fit every harvest operation.

WHAT'S NEW

RECORD SYSTEM

A new record keeping system has been announced by the Temple Tag Division of Zoecon Industries.

The program, called "The Herdsman", has been available from local dealers and distributors of Temple Tags since September 1. It consists of a permanent records book and various working records for use in the field.

The kit consists of the following:

1. A permanent records book to hold a history sheet on each head of stock - a vinyl covered, hardback three-ring binder measuring 8 1/2 inches by 15 inches.

2. A 9 inch by 13 1/2 inch folding vinyl covered clipboard that, along with a "Performance Pad" and a "Breeding Pad," will serve as working tools to gather information in the barn or pens for subsequent transcribing to the permanent record.

3. A 3 inch by 5 inch "Pocket Guide" that provides space for the most pertinent entries about each head so it can serve as a quick identification tool and guide in the field.

Further information on The Herdsman system and how to use tags for identification is provided in a brochure that may be obtained by writing The Herdsman, Temple Tag Company, Temple, Texas 76501.

As a division of Dallas-based Zoecon Industries, Temple is a part of one of the nation's largest producers of animal health care and insect control products.

At least six inches of effective insulation in the attic and under floors is recommended. The National Association of Realtors also says that weatherstripping and caulking around windows will help make your home air-tight.

C. Waltemyer's Jersey named grand champion

HARRISBURG — Cynthia Waltemyer, 17, of Collegeville, Montgomery County, showing "Quicksilver Pilots Sparkle Jan," a 2-year-old, captured the grand and senior championships in Jersey judging competition at the 23rd Pennsylvania Junior Dairy Show. The grand champion was sired by "Minnie Pansy Quicksilver." Cynthia, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Waltemyer, has been a 4-H member for eight years.

Bruce Heller, 15, of Downingtown, Chester County, won the reserve grand and reserve senior championships with "Top-O-Hill Veda's Miss Gratz," a 6-year-old Jersey cow. The reserve champion was sired by "Imp. Broadfields Double Veda's." A six-year 4-H member, Bruce is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Heller. He also won master fitter and showmanship awards.

Robert Waltemyer, Jr., 9, brother of Cynthia, showed the junior champion, "Walebe Prospector Donna," a junior calf. The junior champion was sired by "Milestone Beacon Prospector." Robert, a 4-H member for two years, also won a master fitter award.

Lori Sollenberger, 19, of Everett R3, Bedford County, showing "Ralaine Topper Sadie," a senior calf, captured the reserve junior championship in Jersey judging competition. The animal's sire is "Topper." Lori, a 4-H member the past nine years, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Sollenberger. She showed the 1976 junior champion.

Lititz Travelogue listed

LITITZ — The 16th Annual Travel and Adventure Series of Travelogues will begin this year on Saturday, Oct. 14, at Warwick High School auditorium, it was announced recently by the Lititz Rotary Club.

Narrated by photographers who have filmed them, these travelogue features have been one of Lititz' most popular entertainments.

The shows this year will include: October 14, 1978 "Hong various breed shows which were featured at the All-American Dairy Show, held here this week.

Kong and Macau" with Francis Reidelberger.

November 18, 1978 "The Lure of the Great Lakes" with Robert Brouwer.

January 20, 1979 "Focus on Finland" with Walter S. Dodson.

February 24, 1979 "Denmark — The Fairy Tale Land" with Ric Dougherty.

March 17, 1979 "Trails of the Mountain West" with Dennis Cooper.

April 28, 1979 "Australia" with Trevor and Anne Dornbush.

Because of the popularity of Robert Brouwer's multiscreen slide presentation, his show this year "The Lure of the Great Lakes" will have three showings at 1, 4, and 8 p.m. on Nov. 18. Dennis Cooper's show "Trails of the Mountain West" will also have three showings, at 10 a.m., 3, and 8 p.m. on March 17. All the other shows will have the usual two showings at 3 and 8 p.m.

Season tickets are $8 for adults, $4 for children and students. General admission tickets are $2 for adults and $1 for children and students.

Season tickets may be purchased from any Rotary Club member, at Ranck's Meat Market, 53 N. Broad St., Lititz or from George Ketterman, 231 Landis Valley Road (626-5333). Checks can be made payable to the Lititz Rotary Club.

It is suggested that persons with season tickets be seated early, since no seats are reserved.

The net proceeds from this series go into the community-service work to which Rotary is dedicated.

As the National Association of Realtors explains, equity in a home is the value of the owner's unencumbered interest. It is determined by subtracting the total of the unpaid mortgage balance and any other debts against the property from the property's fair market value. Equity increases as the mortgage is paid off.

The Master, Edward L. Zug, presided at a short business session when the Grange adopted the following resolution:

WHEREAS, This trend has deprived thousands of workers of the opportunity of attending their regular church services or enjoying a day of rest and leisure, so vital to the well-being of every individual. And

WHEREAS, The extra day to sell merchandise does not increase the total sales but only scatters it over more days. Be it

RESOLVED, That we ask everyone, in fairness to all concerned to boycott those stores that remain open on Sunday.

The - tour committee reported a complete sellout for the bus trip November 4 to see the Ice Follies at Hershey.

The youth committee announced the volleyball party to be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Everett Kreider September 30 at 7 p.m. They also reported Fulton Grange's float in the Solanco Fair parade received a second prize.

Grange members will complete painting the outside of the Grange Hall Saturday, September 30, starting about 9 a.m.

Charles McSparran and his installation team will install the new officers at the next meeting, October 9.

Thousands call for federal regulatory reform

WASHINGTON, D.C. — "Let's put some common sense back into the rules and regulations coming out of Washington."

This comment was typical of the sentiment voiced by thousands of individual citizens from all across the country participating in the Forum On Regulation (FOR) Telethon September 12-13-14. During the three-day session, 25 toll-free WATS lines were open to people anywhere in the continental U.S. to cite their personal experiences and ideas on the federal regulatory process.

Callers placed heavy emphasis on the issue of federal regulatory reform as a top national priority and its inflationary impact. Responding to a short questionnaire, some 89 per cent of the callers rated the need for regulatory reform "important", compared to the 11 per cent who said it was "unimportant" or who had no response. On another question, 79 per cent of those surveyed felt the inflationary impact of federal regulation was "significant", compared to the 21 per cent who said it was "insignificant" or who had no response.

The Telethon is part of the comprehensive FOR program — covering four phases over a two-year period — to assess and improve the federal regulatory process from the grassroots up. Developed and coordinated by the Agriculture Council of America, a private farmers communications organization based in Washington, the project is sponsored by a broad range of companies and organizations throughout the U.S. The FOR National Committee includes a bipartisan group of 157 members of Congress.

FOR officials report that interest in the phone-in ran extremely high with a substantial backlog of calls apparent throughout the 12 hours of operation. Questionnaires were actually completed and tallied for about 2,500 callers representing each of the 48 contiguous states.

"Results of the phone-in clearly indicate an overwhelming feeling of frustration at the grassroots level with the regulatory system," commented ACA Chairman John Barringer, a cotton and beef producer from Memphis, Tennessee. "The system is seen as inept and ineffective — with the feeling that the rules are made in Washington with little or no regard for the way they affect individuals at the local level."

Calls were taken in Washington by a panel of top decision-makers headed up by members of Congress, federal regulatory officials, and experts representing a broad range of public and private interests. Some 250 panelists participated in the program to listen to the views of citizens from all walks of life.

Not all federal agencies were viewed in the same light. When asked to name an agency whose regulations could be improved, callers by an overwhelming margin, cited the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) and the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA). When asked to cite a particular agency whose regulations are working well, the response "none" was given most often, followed by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA).

The Telethon represents a highlight of the first phase of the FOR program — "A Citizen's Audit of Federal Regulation" — that began in late June. Another important element is a printed public opinion survey now in nationwide distribution principally through the mailings of Congressional supporters and public service and trade media. This "Citizen's Survey" is expected to reach an audience of 25 million Americans to explore what's working, what isn't and why.

Results of the first phase will be closely analyzed to provide direction for the development of a comprehensive plan for regulatory reform. A special task force of about 25 leaders representing a cross-section of the American economy is now being organized.

Kitchen remodeling prices can be compared closely to car prices. That is, the economy model is not as expensive as the deluxe model. As the National Association of Realtors states, a kitchen made of quality materials may last longer than the full term of the average mortgage. A "cheap" kitchen may not last as long as 15 years.

Penn Ag officers elected

HARRISBURG — Robert L. Weindel, manager of farm sales with Agway, Inc., in Harrisburg, has been elected president of PennAg Industries Association. PennAg is a state-wide trade organization of agribusiness firms. It is the oldest such organization in the country. Weindel was elected during PennAg's 100th annual convention held recently in the Penn Harris Motor Inn.

Other officers elected were: first vice-president, D. Jay Wolgemuth, Wolgemuth Bros., Inc., Mount Joy; second vice-president, Kenneth G. Beachley, Beachley-Hardy Seed Co., Camp Hill; third vice-president, Morris E. Brown, Jr., F. M. Brown Sons, Birdsboro; and treasurer, John J. Hess, II, Paradise.

Two new directors were elected to the PennAg board during the convention. Ralph Getkin, Getkin Associates, Inc., Norristown, will serve for a term of three years. Barry Shaw, Wenger's Mill, Rheems, was elected to a term of one year.

Directors re-elected for three-year terms were: Warren Elfrank, Ralston Purina, Camp Hill; David E. Johnson, Clintondale Mills, Mill Hall; George W. Robinson, Kreamer Feed Store, Kreamer, and Joseph L. Stehr, Stehr Brothers, Pitman.

All terms begin as of January 1, 1979.

In real estate, a binder is the written offer of the buyer to the seller. According to the National Association of Realtors, the binder usually dictates how the sale will be completed. The binder is also known as the "offer to purchase" or the "real estate contract."

Monroe County 4-H'ers take state awards

UNIVERSITY PARK — Two Monroe County young adults, who have compiled outstanding records in 4-H work, were named state contest winners in the 1978 4-H National Awards Program.

Named were Barbara Eisel, 15, Stroudsburg, State winner in food conservation and safety; and Thomas Perry, 16, also from Stroudsburg, winner in the gardening contest.

Barbara will receive an expense-paid trip to National 4-H Congress in Chicago, November 26 to 30. Thomas will receive a $50 U.S. Savings Bond and will be eligible to attend the national conference. Both will compete for awards at the national level.

Support of the food conservation and safety project is provided by the Reynolds Metals Company, and gardening, the Ortho Division of Chevron Chemical Company.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Eisel, Barbara is a junior at Notre Dame

Thomas Perry

High School. She has been a 4-H member for three years.

A member of the R.P. Panthers 4-H Club and 4-H Philatelists, she completed projects in design with color, clothing, nutrition, foods from other lands, food with an international flavor, mealtime magic, teen leadership, public speaking, philately, and gardening.

Locally, Barbara took part in the 4-H leader's banquet, tours, achievement night, foodarama, demonstration workshop, dress revue, fair, and county events day.

She also participated in State 4-H Achievement Day and State 4-H Capital Days.

She was a blue ribbon winner for a demonstration presented at State 4-H Achievement Days and received numerous county medals for 4-H project work.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Perry, Thomas Perry is a junior at the Stroudsburg Area High School. He has been a 4-H member for seven years.

A member of the Sod-busters 4-H Club and Wildlife Watchers 4-H Club, he served as president, vice president, secretary, treasurer, and teen leader.

The state gardening contest winner completed projects in three units of vegetable gardening, flower gardening, wildlife conservation, rocketry, and bicycling.

Locally, he took part in county craft day, achievement banquet, county events day, demonstration day, local government day, and roundup.

Thomas also participated in Regional 4-H Teen Leaders Retreat, Regional 4-H Demonstration Day, State 4-H Achievement Days, Pennsylvania 4-H Leadership Congress, State 4-H Capital Days, Farm Show, and National Junior Horticultural Association Convention.

He was recipient of the Jenson Citizenship Award, Rotary Leadership Award, Outstanding 4-H Boy Award, Horticultural Award, and "I Dare You" Award.

"4-H work has given me the chance to learn by doing. I feel that, whatever direction my future takes, 4-H has played a major role in getting me there," said Thomas.

Reupholstery course offered

WEST CHESTER — The Chester County Extension Service of Penn State will offer a course in reupholstering a chair. The orientation meeting will be held on Monday, October 16, at the Extension meeting Room, 235 W. Market Street, third floor, West Chester from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. At this meeting instruction will include how to prepare the chair, selection and use of supplies, equipment and fabric.

Boudoir and living room chairs that are structurally sound are suitable. Diamond tufting or channel backs are not appropriate for a beginner.

Instructor for the course will be Mrs. Marian Dawson. Deadline for registration is Monday, October 10. Registration is limited and on a first come, first served basis. For further information one can call 215-696-3500.

The pork meetings will follow on October 30, 31, Nov. 1, 2, 3, 6, 8, 9, from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Jacqueline Clark, Cherry Lane, West Chester. The procedure for work sessions is to keep the chair at the above address and complete the renovating process in the eight days. Two persons may work on a chair for one registration fee.

There are two types of title insurance for a home. According to the National Association of Realtors, both provide protection against unexpected claims on the title of a home. One is for the lender who supplied the mortgage money, and the other is for the homeowner. The lender's policy is written for the amount of the loan, and often a lender will refuse to make a loan unless such a policy is taken out.

Grind rations fast, blend 'em uniformly with grinder/mixers built for tractors over 100 hp

100 hp? Try 155 hp — that's the kind of capacity you'll find in the John Deere 700 and 750 Grinder/Mixers. It reflects the truly big-job machines in the field. Uniform mixing, capacity to spare, long life — in grinder/mixers that's John Deere

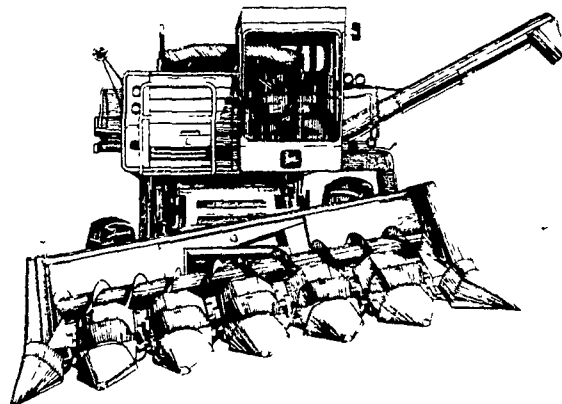

Efficient ear corn harvest is easy with a John Deere 300 Husker

Pick and husk up to three narrow rows of 150-bushel corn at 3.5 mph with this 300 Husker. An exclusive air system blasts 5800 cfm to loosen husks and clear trash. When husking's over the 2-row (wide or narrow) and 3-row (narrow) corn heads can mount on certain combines and forage harvesters

Maximize your crop savings on slopes to 18 percent with a John Deere SideHill Combine

On the go automatic separator leveling from feeder house through cleaning shoe is yours with a SideHill 6600 Combine. As the separator levels on slopes to 18 percent the header pivots to parallel the ground. Keeping the separator level maximizes your crop savings because no material drifts to the downhill side as with a conventional combine. And to master hilly fields you get a 128 hp 404 cubic inch diesel engine. The cylinder is 44 inches wide.

Matched headers include 4- and 6 row corn heads and row crop heads. Platforms with rigid cutterbar in sizes from 13 to 22 feet with flexible cutterbar in sizes from 13 to 22 feet. See us for details.

Antique course offered

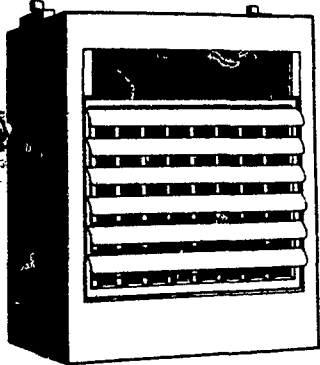

LANCASTER — "Antiques in America," a practical survey of 300 years of American artifacts, decorative and utilitarian, will be offered again this fall as a part of the Continuing Education Program at Franklin and Marshall College, here.

The six lecture program will be conducted by Joel Sater, internationally known publisher, lecturer and writer in the field. Sater, who publishes the widely read bi-weekly collector's newspaper, Antiques and Auction News, has spent many years observing and participating actively in all phases of "Antiquing."

The "Antiques in America" course designed for beginning and intermediate collectors will begin October 5, 1978 and will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. every Thursday evening for six sessions. For information contact the Office of Special Programs Franklin and Marshall College, Lancaster. Telephone (717) 291-4001. Due to the large response to last year's course, enrollment will be limited. Interested persons are advised to register early.

Tax study program announced

UNIVERSITY PARK — The annual Farm Income Tax and Social Security Course for 1978 will be held from December 4 to 8 on the main campus of The Pennsylvania State University.

The 1978 Farm Income Tax and Social Security Short Course has been completely revised to include tax developments as they pertain to child care, self-employed retirement, and the annual employer's return.

Members of the Internal Revenue Service and Social Security Administration will join University staff in discussing filing requirements, reporting depreciation, treatment of other income, completing the 1040, Social Security, prorating expenses, filing corrected returns, net operating loss, capital gains and losses, investment tax credit, changes in income averaging, special tax matters, involuntary conversion, balance sheet, Pennsylvania corporation tax, preparing for an informal audit, and how to be a good tax practitioner. Special emphasis will be placed on Public Law 94-12 (Retirement Plans HR-10 and IRA) and itemized and standard deductions.

The registration fee is $50 for Pennsylvanians and $55 for non-Pennsylvanians. Please do not pay in advance; fee is payable at final registration time on December 4, 1978.

Advance blanks and a daily schedule can be secured from the Director of Short Courses, 306 Agricultural Administration Building, The Pennsylvania State University, University Park, Pa., 16802 or from your local county agent.

Timesharing may be the primary means by which Americans own vacation homes in the future. The National Association of Realtors explains that in timesharing, two or more buyers purchase a single dwelling unit, with each paying for only the time he or she will use the dwelling. The concept is therefore ideal for vacation residences. As of 1978, there were about 300 timeshare developments nationwide.

- Provides Adequate Ventilation for Curing and Drying Crops.
- Prevents Moisture and Heat Damage in Crop or Material Storage.
- Prevention of Spoilage or Damage Can Pay for Costs of Units in a Short Time.
- Used for Industrial Ventilation of Excess Heat — Fumes — Dust.
- Gravity Ventilation is very satisfactory, however, a fan can be mounted in base if forced ventilation is desired.
- By Exhausting Air Through Roof Vents, Entire Window Areas become Fresh Air Intakes.
- Roof Vents Eliminate Moisture which ordinarily Filters Out Through Walls, Causing Warping — Rotting — Paint Peeling.
- If these Units are Installed on the Ridge, and Windows are Opened to the Leeward Side of the Building, a Good Winter Ventilation is obtained, Eliminating Cross Drafts.
- These Gravity Units Provide a Gentle, Steady Air Movement Continually without a Forced Draft. Especially advantageous where Animals are Housed.

4-H'ers learn by doing

UNIVERSITY PARK - Auto mechanics, geology, photography, electricity, wildlife conservation, careers, clothing, foods, babysitting, and leadership are all included in the wide variety of 4-H projects available to Pennsylvania youth.

Projects are important tools for 4-H members 8 to 19 years old, whether they hail from the city, suburb, or rural areas. Projects bring satisfaction as members realized accomplishment, pride of ownership, and experience new challenges. 4-H projects help young people learn by doing. Whether making a dress, constructing a birdhouse, or taking a picture, skills needed are learned and developed through practice.

Through 4-H projects, 4-H'ers learn to make decisions. Members first select projects. And many additional opportunities are provided that require continued decision making within projects. They may need to decide which flowers to plant in a flower garden, the best feed plan for a rabbit or dog, or how to most effectively teach a younger member as part of a leadership project. Being a good manager works hand in hand with improved decision making abilities.

Learning to work cooperatively with others is another value of 4-H projects. Sharing ideas, helping each other, and comparing projects helps young people learn to work together.

4-H projects are developed to meet the needs and abilities of boys and girls between the ages of 8 - 19.

Three Allegheny Co. youth earn 4-H state awards

UNIVERSITY PARK — Three Allegheny County young adults recently were named state contest winners in the 1978 4-H National Awards Program.

Named were Johnna Malarik, 17, of Sewickley R6, state winner in health; Scott Giel, 18, Gibaonia, state automotive contest winner; and Thomas Schaffer, 18, North Versailles, state poultry winner.

Johnna and Scott will receive expense-paid trips to National 4-H Congress in Chicago, November 26 to 30, and compete for awards at the national level. Thomas will be eligible to attend the national conference.

Support of the health project is provided by Eli Lilly and Company; and automotive, the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company.

Carroll L. Howes, associate 4-H-youth division leader at The Pennsylvania

the District 4-H Camp, Regional 4-H Teen Leaders Retreat, Regional 4-H Dress Revue, Regional 4-H Horse Show, State 4-H Achievement Days, Pennsylvania 4-H Leadership Congress, State 4-H Capital Days, and Citizenship Short Course.

She was selected as Allegheny County's Outstanding 4-H Girl in 1977.

The son of Mr. and Mrs.

Scott also participated in the Regional 4-H Demonstration Day, Regional 4-H Camp, State 4-H Achievement Days, Pennsylvania 4-H Leadership Congress, and State 4-H Capital Days.

He attended the 1975 National Safety Convention in Chicago.

"4-H has given me a chance to gain self-confidence and to learn the meaning of responsibility. It also was instrumental in my career selection," Scott points out.

MUELLER FRE-HEATER

ALL STAINLESS STEEL CONSTRUCTION!
Mueller Fre-Heater heat exchangers are constructed entirely of type 304 stainless steel. The heat exchanger in both models utilize Mueller Temp-Plate a patented heat transfer surface that's in use in more than 60,000 Mueller Milk Coolers around the world.

CHOOSE FROM SEVERAL SIZES AND MODELS!
Mueller Fre-Heaters are available in 2, 3 and 4 H.P. sizes for either HiPerForm or conventional refrigeration systems.

A 2 or 3 H.P. installation normally requires one 120 U.S. gallon water storage tank. 4 H.P. installations may require two 120 gallon water storage tanks.

Mueller Fre-Heaters Model B and Model C can be used with either Mueller Milk Coolers or with milk coolers made by other manufacturers.

FREE HOT WATER!

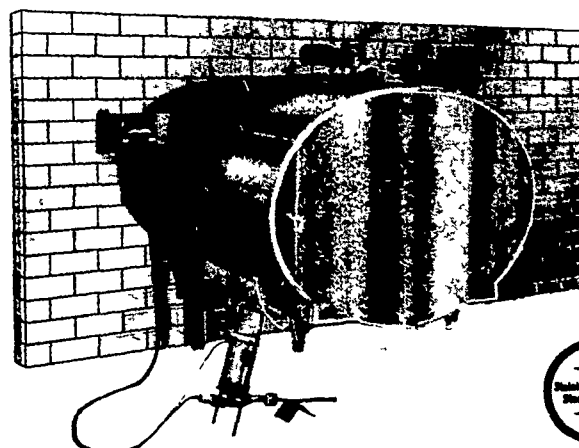

There are many variables that determine how much hot water can be generated, however a rule of thumb is that a Fre-Heater operating on 60 degrees F. well water will produce a volume of 140 degrees F. water similar to the amount of milk produced during a milking. In other words if 100 gallons of milk per milking is produced approximately 100 gallons of hot water (140 degrees F.) will be generated during each milking. Experience has shown that on most dairy farms enough hot water is produced to satisfy all hot water requirements.

The Mueller Fre-Heater comes to you from the maker of world famous Mueller Milk Coolers!

SAFEGUARD YOUR LIQUID INCOME WITH A MUELLER

Space saving Mueller Bulkhead Coolers are installed through a milk house wall so you can buy a cooler to accommodate the production needs of your growing herd, regardless of the size of your milk house. Mueller Temp-Plate® Heat Transfer Surface provides efficient, dependable cooling. Large radius corners and smooth welds team with durable stainless steel construction for complete and easy cleaning. All Mueller cooler models readily accept Mueller-Matic® Automatic Washing System.

Now, let herd size determine your cooler capacity not milk house space limitations. Depend on MUELLER.

'Bernie' Gish knows how to show a hog

By KENDACE BORRY

ELIZABETHTOWN—For the past six years, the Lancaster County 4-H hog roundup's showmanship class has been won by the same person. Whether it was in the junior division, in which she competed her first year, or the senior division, which she entered the five years since then, Bernadine Gish, Elizabethtown, took the top honors.

It all started when Bernie, as her friends know her, was asked by a girlfriend whether she would be interested in raising pigs as a 4-H project. As a result, she became a member of the Elizabethtown Pig and Rabbit club.

1978 was the last year for the 18 year old young lady to be in 4-H, and now she has entered the St. Joseph's School of Nursing. But with fair season still in progress she hasn't left her hogs behind, as she showed some last week in the Elizabethtown Fair, where she received the reserve championship in the heavyweight class.

Thinking back on her years in the pig club, Bernie said she thinks she learned a lot about showing hogs from showing steers. She admitted that each year she was scared as she entered the showmanship class, not sure at all of how she would do.

The hardest thing in showing a pig, she confided, is getting the pig to cooperate. The judge looks to see whether the showman has his or her eye on him, and wants you to keep the pig between you and him, constantly moving, and out of the corners.

Besides being a member of the hog 4-H, Bernie was also a ten year member of the Red Rose Beef and Lamb Club, where she showed a variety of steers. To add to her list of winnings, she noted that she had the champion Hereford one year at the county roundup and had been named first in her class of showmanship at the county level. She also has travelled to Harrisburg with one of her steers but the higher honors there have eluded her.

She also owns three Quarter horses, but stated that those only are used for pleasure riding and to round up the cattle kept on the farm. She told that she likes to take a leisurely ride on a Sunday afternoon.

Even though she plans on a nursing career, she said that she still intends to raise pigs and steers in the future. Hopefully, she added, someday she will have her own herd of cattle, but meanwhile she plans to keep in contact with the farm animals and help her father.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Gish, she said that when she looks for a hog to show, she likes to see a long and lean pig, one with a long, smooth arch that is high off the ground, with not too much waste on its neck. She watches the way it moves, and hopes that it will be one that will grow fast.

For the showmanship class, she also wants a hog that is well-fitted and clean.

Her freshman year in high school, Bernie took the vo-ag courses, joining FFA, and having the doubtful honor of being the first girl in the class. There she won the county creed contest and placed second in the district competition.

"The guys would give me a hard time," she noted. "It wasn't always easy to be the only girl in a class of guys."

But when she entered tenth grade, she had to switch to the academic curriculum, to follow her inclination of becoming a nurse.

Bernie is the oldest of four children in the Gish family, having two sisters, Deanna, 17, and Judy, 16, and one brother, Wayne, 13. All are involved in the beef 4-H club, and Judy and Wayne are also in the pig club.

And even though Bernie

Seen at the recent Lancaster County 4-H Hog roundup, Bernie shows how to exhibit her hog to the best advantage. She was named the top hog showman in her class for six years, as many years as she was in competition in 4-H.

herself won't be in the 4-H aiding and supporting the club in the future, you can be younger members of the sure that she'll be there family.

4-H state leadership winner selected

UNIVERSITY PARK — Karen Kniss, 19, Oley R1, who has compiled an outstanding record in 4-H work, has been named a winner in the state leadership contest winner in the 1978 4-H National Awards Program.

Karen will be eligible to attend National 4-H Congress in Chicago, November 26 to 30, to compete for awards at the national level.

Support of the leadership project is provided by Reader's Digest.

Karen was picked from among the 145,000 youth who annually take part in the Extension Service educational 4-H program.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Kniss, she is a sophomore at the Westminster Choir College. She has been a 4-H member for six years.

A member of the Oley Valley Knick Knacks 4-H Club, she served as president and news reporter. She also assisted with club activities and events as a teen leader.

The state leadership contest winner completed projects in sewing, arts and crafts, teen leadership, photography, food preparation, and canning and freezing.

Locally, she took part in the 4-H roundup, Rural Life Sunday, fair, picnic, dress revue, and public speaking contest.

Karen also participated in the Regional 4-H Demon-

She won county 4-H awards for outstanding girl, home management, and treasurer's record. She is in "Who Who's Among High School Students."

Conestoga Trail open

LANCASTER — A 15-mile hiking trail that runs along Pequea Creek and the Susquehanna River has been completed.

Constructed by the Lancaster Hiking Club, the Conestoga Trail runs along the rim of the River Hills overlooking the Lake Aldred Gorge in the Susquehanna River.

Beginning at Martic Forge on Route 324 near Pequea, the trail ends at Lock 12 historic area on the York County side of Lake Aldred. The trail is mostly on land owned by Pennsylvania Power & Light Co.

"Rocky overlooks along the wooded trail provide views of the river below", said George Aukamp, PP&L's Lake Aldred superintendent. "This is a rugged trail for experienced hikers, although there is less difficult section along Pequea Creek which follows a trolley bed past the Colemanville covered bridge."

Among the highlights of the Conestoga Trail are a house-size rock, a cleft in the rocks and stands of hemlock, rhododendron and tulip poplar. The trail passes through Pequea Creek campground, Pinnacle Overlook, Holtwood ballfield and Face Rock Overlook, all PP&L recreation areas at Lake Aldred.

The trail, marked by orange blazes, is open to the public. Trail maps are available from Aukamp at the lake superintendent's office, Holtwood, Pa. 17532 or by phoning 717-284-2278.

WHAT'S NEW

GRAIN MOISTURE TESTER

A recent electronic breakthrough has made possible a grain moisture instrument that features simplicity, accuracy and speed at an affordable cost, says the manufacturer. The new Nova Grain Moisture Sensor 7000 is a portable battery operated instrument that is held in one hand. Percent moisture is indicated as a direct meter readout that is automatically temperature compensated - there is no need to reference the reading to multiple scales or conversion charts.

The probe is simply inserted into the grain sample, the grain type set on the selector knob, and the moisture percentage is read directly from the meter.

Twenty-three Berks County farm families held an exclusive reunion at the Fleetwood Grange Hall earlier this month. The occasion was a recognition banquet for all of the farmers and their wives who this year and in past years were named as the Outstanding Berks County Farm Family. The selection is made each year by the Pomona Grange and further honors are bestowed annually by the Reading Fair. This year's recipients of the coveted award are Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Ohlinger, center. They are flanked by their daughters Cathleen and Constance. Together, they own and operate Reu-Hel Farms, Inc. at Mohrsville.

Nat. Farm Women's Forum Nov. 28-30

MILWAUKEE, Wis. — Farm and ranch women from all over the country will be meeting in Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 28 to 30 for the National Farm Women's Forum. About 2,000 women are expected to attend.

"Today's Farm Woman: The Vital Link" is the theme for this year's Forum program, emphasizing the contemporary farm woman's function as a homemaker as well as a "partner in agriculture."

Included will be a program on meats by "The Butcher", Merle Ellis of Tiburon, Calif., who has a nationally syndicated television show and newspaper column; "Dairy Delights for the Holidays" by the American Dairy Association of Wisconsin; "Decorating on the Rural Route" by interior designer Gordon Cremers of Minneapolis; and a sewing-with-knits program by Stretch 'N' Sew.

Three agricultural headliners will "Face the Nation's Farm Women" on Thursday, Nov. 30, addressing the group briefly, then responding to questions from the rural women. Speakers will be USDA Assistant Secretary Carol Foreman; Ellen Haas, Director, Consumer Division, Community Nutrition Institute in Washington D.C.; and Rep. Tom Foley (unconfirmed), Chairman of the House Agriculture Committee.

"Ag Boosters Review" will highlight farm women's successful projects promoting agriculture and farm products. A "Natural Fibers and Hides" style show will feature fashions made from pigskin, wool, cotton and leather.

"Cutting out the Middleman" will be the subject for a panel discussing direct marketing of farm products.

Panelists will be Sue Zimmerman, a beef producer from Fond du Lac, Wis.; Marilyn Thompson, a strawberry grower from Bristol, Wis.; and Ed Watkins, Extension specialist from Washington, D.C.

Dr. Dick Vilstrup, professor of agricultural economics at the University of Wisconsin, Madison, will conduct a seminar on how to make the most of membership in farm organizations and cooperatives.

An estate planning team made up of an attorney, an accountant and an insurance man will suggest ways to organize farm estates.

The Forum closing session, "Sharing and Caring Back Home" will feature Dr. Gail Imig, assistant director, University of Kansas Cooperative Extension Service.

A new "Rural Talent Review" will feature music and entertainment by farm wives, ranging from singing to Hawaiian dancing to clowning.

The WGN "Noon Show" with farm broadcaster Orion Samuelson will originate live from the Forum on Nov. 28.

Entertainment at the Forum Banquet on Nov. 29, will be by The Silo Singers from East Lansing, Mich.

Forum registration is $30 per person for the three day's activities, or $15 for a single day.

For further information one can contact Farm Wife News, 733 N. Van Buren, Milwaukee WI 53202, or phone 414-272-5410.

Pa. Farm Museum Harvest Days Oct. 7-8

LANCASTER -- Harvest Days, the Pennsylvania Farm Museum's annual celebration of the harvest season, will be held October 7 and 8. The outdoor event will feature live demonstrations of over forty activities traditionally associated with harvest-time in rural Pennsylvania. All activities are scheduled from noon to 5 p.m. each day.

Apple butter making, cider pressing, threshing, butchering, sauerkraut making, candle-dipping, corn milling, and butter making are but a few of the harvest-related activities to be demonstrated. Special activities include operation of the museum's antique steam tractors, a Pennsylvania long rifle shoot, and performances of traditional folk music. On Saturday, a genuine Conestoga wagon will be drawn about the museum grounds by a six-horse team.

A partial list of Harvest Days activities include: apple butter making, cider pressing, bean snapping, bed roping, mattress stuffing, beekeeping, blacksmithing, broom-making, butchering, butter making, candle-dipping, corn milling, cornhusk braiding, cornpone baking, gunsmithing, saddlery, herb tea brewing, and ice cream making.

Also included are open hearth cooking, pottery, quilting, rifle shoot, rye straw basket making, sauerkraut making, scythe sharpening, steam tractor operation, soap making, spinning, threshing, tin-smithing, tobacco culture, vegetable drying, conestoga wagon, whittling, weaving, woodworking, wool dyeing.

This year marks the 19th annual Harvest Days program at the Farm Museum. The museum is located about four miles north of Lancaster on the Oregon Pike, Route 272.

Admission to Harvest Days will be $3 for adults, free for children under 12 and senior citizens over 65.

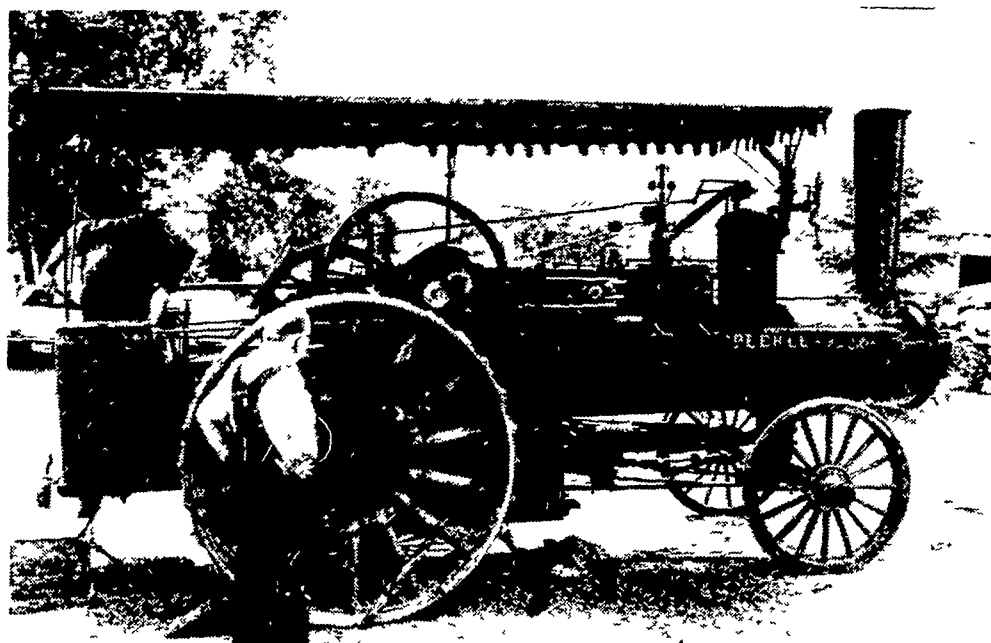

For more information about Harvest Days, one can contact the Farm Museum at 717-569-0401.

York Co. tour set Oct. 11

YORK -- The York Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service in conjunction with other participating agencies has announced plans for its annual tour, set for Wednesday, October 11.

Participants will meet at Queensgate Shopping Center at 8:30 a.m. with stops planned at the following points of interest:

- the Michael Wright farm, with commodity and facility structures and operations;
- the George Wolf farm, specializing in potato, grain and egg production;
- the York County Solid Waste Landfill;

During the Pa. Farm Museum's Harvest Days, the special activities include operation of the museum's antique steam tractors.

Senate defeats school lunch transfer attempt

WASHINGTON, D.C. — A Senate leader in the successful fight to block transfer of the school lunch program to the proposed U.S. Department of Education said last week the action should discourage future "predatory raids" on the Department of Agriculture.

U.S. Senator Herman E. Talmadge, chairman of the Senate Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition, and Forestry, said the action of the Senate leaves the school lunch and other child feeding programs in "strong, competent, sympathetic hands."

"I hope the decisive action of the Senate in refusing to disrupt the school lunch program will send a message to others who would like to dismember and dismantle the Department of Agriculture," Talmadge said. "I hope there will be no further predatory raids on the Department under the misguided name of government reorganization."

The Senate last week, by voice vote, deleted the proposed school lunch transfer from a bill to create a new Cabinet-level Department of Education. A similar Department of Education bill is pending in the House, but the proposed school lunch transfer was deleted in Committee.

For months, Talmadge has led the effort in the Senate to retain the school lunch and other nutrition programs in the Department of Agriculture. Under his leadership all 18 members of the Senate Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition, and Forestry were among 59 Senators who co-sponsored the amendment to strip the school lunch program from the Department of Education bill.

The Carter Administration had proposed and strongly backed the transfer.

During Senate discussion of the issue, Talmadge argued that the school lunch program, as a part of USDA, serves a dual function — it supports the agricultural economy through distribution of surplus farm commodities and provides nutritious meals to the nation's school children.

"Even during periods of agricultural surpluses, USDA supplements the surpluses with purchases of other, non-surplus commodities that schools need," Talmadge said.

"Such a balanced approach would be difficult to work out with a split jurisdiction in which USDA procures and ships commodities, but a Department of Education administers the program where commodities are used," he said.

Talmadge said transfer of the lunch programs would accomplish nothing in administrative efficiency but could "seriously jeopardize the strength and well-being of the child nutrition programs."

"Moving these programs to a Department of Education would place them in an organization which is not concerned with the formulation or execution of nutrition policy," Talmadge added. "Furthermore, it would whittle away at the functions of USDA, using federal reorganization and efficiency as an excuse."

If the school lunch transfer should succeed, Talmadge warned, it would encourage other Federal agencies to take over other USDA activities such as the Forest Service and rural Service, Soil Conservation and development.

Brockett wins ag engineer award

UNIVERSITY PARK — Betty L. Brockett, a third year student in agricultural engineering at Penn State, has received the 1978 John G. Sutton Memorial Award, from the American Society of Agricultural Engineers.

The award, given to Miss Brockett as the "Student Agricultural Engineer of the Year," is presented annually to the outstanding third year student in agricultural engineering in the United States. Miss Brockett received the award recently in ceremonies at Penn State. The award consists of a plaque, cash and a travel allowance for the student to attend an ASAE national meeting. Another plaque is given to the agricultural engineering department which helped guide and develop the winning student.

Miss Brockett, the second woman to receive the award in its ten-year history, was selected for her excellence in scholarship, her participation in student and professional development organizations, and her outstanding character.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Brockett, Lewistown R4.

Grange supports bill to protect farm land

HARRISBURG - In an interview in Lancaster last week, J. Luther Snyder, Master of the Pennsylvania State Grange, repeated his organization's support for the Agricultural Districts Bill presently being considered by the State Senate.

One of the main intents of this bill, is to keep agricultural land in farming.

If passed, this bill will protect farmers from ordinances that might interfere with farming practices.

The bill also makes it more difficult for the farmer to lose his land under eminent domain.

"This bill," said Snyder, "will make government agencies think twice before they try to use prime farmland for any use other than farming."

In order to qualify for an agricultural district, a landowner or group of landowners must submit a proposal to their local governing body.

The minimum amount of land eligible under this bill is five hundred acres.

The proposed district may consist of two or more unconnected properties that do not border one another.

"The best thing about this bill," said Snyder, "is that it is voluntary. The farmer does not have to enroll in this program if he doesn't want to."

Solar heating systems widely vary in cost. According to the National Association of Realtors, the cost depends on the individual system being installed, climate conditions and the design of the house.

'Apple Day' slated

PRINCETON, N.J. -- Terhune Orchards announces Apple Day, a harvest festival to be held on the farm Saturday, Oct. 7 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Terhune Orchards is a working farm in Mercer County, located between Princeton and Lawrenceville just off 206 on Cold Soil Rd.

There will be a variety of special events, including free hayrides continuously throughout the day. For those wishing to know more about fruit growing, owners Pam and Gary Mount will lead tours at 10:30 and 2:30.

A highlight of this second annual Apple Day will be square dancing. Caller, John Kaiser and the Rocky Hill Bluegrass Band will keep feet hopping from 12:30 to 4:30. The Mercer and Hunterdon County Weavers Guilds will be participating in a "Sheep to Shawl" contest. They will begin the day with raw wool and end with two unique shawls which will be raffled off. They and other artisans will be exhibiting their hand crafted items.

Fun and games for all ages as well as food and snacks will be on hand all day. At 4 p.m. a giant air balloon will take a few of the more adventuresome on tethered rides and at 5 p.m. signal the end of Apple Day by drifting off into the sunset. Raindate is Sunday, Oct. 8.

One-fourth of farm accidents take place during harvests

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — Over one-fourth of all farm accidents occur during September and October. So now is the time to think about these safety measures and to do something in the name of accident prevention. If you wait until next month, it probably won't get done, say safety programmers at the University of Maryland.

Take time to zero-in on machine hazards and effective countermeasures. Consider the following facts:

...One-half of the reported combine-related injuries occur in the field, and fingers are lost in 38 per cent of these injuries.

...Tractor operators under 15 and over 64 have seven to 10 times more accidents per hour of machine use than operators in the 25 to 44 age group.

...Fifty per cent of the victims of wagon accidents are injured in falls.

...Farm elevators have one of the highest accident rates. Almost half of the accidents involve getting caught in moving parts, and nearly three out of four of these injuries involve fingers and hands.

You can have an accident-free harvest season this year if you make safety important. Consider the following recommendations for a safe and trouble-free harvest season:

...Study the Operator's Manual prepared by the manufacturer of a machine and follow its recommendations on adjustment, operations, lubrication and safety. ...Harvest corn as soon as it is ready.

...Maintain ground speed according to crop and field conditions, and keep the header centered on the row.

...Be safety-conscious at all times by keeping all shields in place; stopping machine before leaving operator's seat to clean, adjust, or lubricate; keeping hands, feet, and clothing away from moving parts; observing rest stops, particularly during mid-morning and mid-afternoon and having a fire extinguisher readily available.

Workshop set

WEST CHESTER — The Chester County Extension Service of Penn State will offer a workshop on learning how to relax and relieve stress featuring exercises and activities to fit one's lifestyle. This free workshop will be held at two locations, Thursday, October 12, 1978 at the Extension Office, 235 W. Market St., West Chester and Friday, October 13, 1978 at New Garden Township Bldg., Rt. 41 just two miles south of Avondale, from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. One must register by October 10, 1978.

Chester Co. farm sells for $1,193,000

PHILADELPHIA — "Lake Valley Farm," historic 261-acre tract in the Chester Springs area of Chester County, was sold at public auction on September 16 for a total of $1,193,000.

Louis Trauman Auction Company conducted the sale on the premises on Horseshoe Trail, Chester Springs Road and Dewees Lane in West Vincent and West Pikeland Townships. The property was sold at absolute auction to the highest bidders by order of the owner, Margaret E. Meloney, represented by William P. O'Neill, Esquire.

Named for a picturesque six-acre lake in a valley opposite the main residence, "Lake Valley Farm" was for nearly two centuries the home of the Ralston family. John F. Ralston served as a cavalry captain and later colonel in the Continental Army and his home was burned by the English in retribution.

"Lake Valley Farm" was offered in 15 parcels. The main residence on 10 acres with three tenant houses and two other tracts totaling 47 acres were sold for $360,000.

Four adjoining tracts totaling 53 acres were sold for $265,000.

An 11-acre tract was sold for $50,625; two tracts totaling 22 acres were sold for $114,375; a three-acre tract with fieldstone residence was sold for $42,000; two tracts totaling 76 acres were sold for $232,000, and four tracts totaling 83 acres were sold for $232,000.

Auto Service Tips

A test light can help determine source of electrical problems. If a light is out, but the fuse and bulb are good, remove bulb and use fine sandpaper to remove corrosion around socket.

If light still does not go on, remove bulb and, with circuit still on, fasten alligator ground-clip lead of test light to clean metal part of the socket. Insert pointed probe of test light into socket. If test light does not glow, look for loose connection or broken wire.
